GREATER THAN THE PRESIDENT

Secretary Shaw Says the Chief Executive Cannot Force Legislation.

PARTY IS SUPERIOR

Discordant Elements of Democracy Give No Assurance of Union on Any Question.

CLEVELAND HAD TROUBLES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—Tomlinson hall was crowded tonight to hear the Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, and George A. Knight of California, address the delegates attending the National Republican league convention. J. Hampton Moore, president of the league, in introducing Mr. Shaw, said:

"One thousand visitors from many states and territories are here tonight. If they come with any doubt as to what Indiana will do on November 8 it has been removed by this magnificent demonstration."

Mr. Shaw was greeted with an outburst of applause which lasted several minutes. He said in part:

"The distinguished congressman who presided over the permanent deliberations of the Democratic national convention, in referring to the president, employed this language:

"'It avails nothing to claim, as some do, that Col. Roosevelt is better than his party. It is to be hoped that he is, but truth to tell, a president cannot be better than his party. Even if he tries to be, he is ruined politically.'

People Will Share Grief.

"If Mr. Clark wished to be understood as saying that every president must of necessity be controlled by his party, he is correct. No president can force legislation against the wishes of his party. He may recommend ever so wisely, but if his party be unwise or unstable or discordant, the president will of necessity have a sorry time, and the people will be sharers of his grief. Applying Mr. Clark's test, it must follow that the nominee of a party composed of discordant elements, with no convictions on any question and no settled policy on any subject, will of necessity make a weak and vacillating president.

"If Judge Parker should be elected upon the platform which declares protection 'robbery of the many to enrich the few,' ordinary consistency will require him to recommend the repeal of every existing protective tariff schedule. But even the leaders of his party are not united on that question. They are not only divided as respects schedules, but they also hold antagonistic views upon the free trade and protection issue. If the Democratic party were in power again it would undoubtedly enact another nondescript tariff law like the Wilson-Gorman bill, with high protection here, low protection there, and free trade elsewhere.

Elements Were Discordant.

"It will be remembered that Mr. Cleveland, who is an unimpeachable free trader, refused to sign the Wilson-Gorman bill, and denounced it as full of 'perfidy and dishonor.' Had the Democratic party been united upon the principles set forth in their platform of 1892, Mr. Cleveland could have conducted his administration along some consistent line and carried out some consistent policy. But this was denied him. He recommended a free trade tariff law, but while the bill passed placed wool and kindred articles on the free list, to the ruin of many industries, and therefore of all (for all industries thrive or languish together), it contained the same iron and steel protective schedules that are now incorporated in the Dingley bill. Mr. Cleveland recommended the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, under which 4,500,000 ounces of silver were purchased every month, but his party was divided, and an amendment changing it to a free coinage of silver act received a majority vote of his party, and the repeal measure would have failed in final passage, but for Republicans who came to the patriotic aid of President Cleveland by more than a three-fourths vote of the party. Mr. Cleveland, being unable to control the discordant elements of his party, had to rely upon the patriotism and statesmanship of Republicans for the few wise acts of his administration."

SUING PITTSBURGH COMPANY.

Indiana Concern Wants the Macbeth Evans People to Pay for Carload of Glass Chimneys.

EVANSVILLE, IND., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Judge Albert B. Anderson of the federal court is hearing the case of the Sargent Glass Company of Evansville against the Macbeth-Evans Glass Company of Pittsburgh. It is a suit over a contract and much expert testimony as to the quality of glassware was introduced at the trial this afternoon.

The local company alleges it had a contract with the Pittsburgh firm by which the latter was to take the entire output of lamp chimneys of the Sargent factory for the first year. A carload of chimneys, it is alleged, was shipped to Pittsburgh and the Macbeth-Evans company refused them on the ground that the chimneys were defective and the contract was cancelled.

QUAY'S HOUSE LEASED TO SECRETARY MORTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—The Misses Quay, daughters of the late Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, are now at their K street house, putting it in shape for the occupancy of the family of Secretary of the Navy Paul Morton, to whom they have leased it for the coming season.

FEARED DEATH ON BATTLESHIP

Admiral Thought Champagne Bottle Contained Infernal Machine.

SPONSOR WAS CALM

Miss Welles' Arm Arrested to Prevent Possible Disaster on Connecticut.

NAVAL OFFICER WAS ALARMED

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The latest story in connection with the failure to properly christen the battleship Connecticut when she was launched became public today.

It is to the effect that, believing an infernal machine was concealed in the bottle of champagne which Miss Alice Welles, sponsor of the battleship Connecticut, failed to break over the vessel's prow, Rear Admiral Rodgers, then commandant of the navy yard, twice arrested the young girl's arm and thus made the hitch in the christening ceremony.

It was stated positively the admiral, instead of trying to add force to Miss Welles' blows when he grasped her arm, really seized it to prevent her shattering the glass.

"When Miss Welles failed to break the bottle the first time she tried," the admiral is quoted as having said, "I realized in that instant that something might be wrong with it. It came like a flash into my mind that those who had been trying to wreck the ship might have tampered with the bottle and fixed up some explosive that would damage the ship, perhaps blow the launching party into bits and accomplish their ends.

"I tried to prevent her breaking the bottle, not help her to do so. When she failed it was with great relief to me. When the mechanic grasped the bottle and broke it my fears came to the fore again, and I cannot tell you how much I was relieved that they were unground-ed."

The bottle was of American champagne, unlabeled to prevent advertising, and is said to have come from the regular stock in the Officers' club in the navy yard.

Edgar T. Welles, vice president of the Wabash railroad, father of Miss Welles, when seen today at his home, refused to talk about the report that Rear Admiral Rodgers had feared the explosion of an infernal machine. Mr. Welles did deny, however, that his daughter lost her nerve at the critical moment of the launching.

"My daughter was never more calm in her life than at the launching," said Mr. Welles.

IN JULY HE WAS NOT EVEN A NEWSPAPER ITEM

Now Tom Watson Wishes the "Esopus Pretense" Would Get Out of His War Path.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Thomas E. Watson, nominee of the Peoples party for the presidency, was dined by his friends tonight at a "dollar dinner" in the Palm garden on Lexington avenue. He began his addrss by saying:

"Oh, if that pretense up at Esopus would only get out of my way and give me the Democratic papers, give me the Jeffersonian speakers, and give me that noble army that followed Bryan in '96 I would show the Republican party and Theodore Roosevelt a great militant Democratic party from sea to sea. I might not whip him, but he would know he had had a fight.

"I am a fighter. On July 4 I wasn't even a newspaper item, but now they are fighting me with newspaper cartoons and editorials. If only Judge Parker would get out of my way and let me command the army that he may command, I would give Theodore Roosevelt a battle royal."

COUPLE FROM PITTSBURGH IN THE BEAVER JAIL

BEAVER, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—W. J. Briceland of Pittsburgh is in jail here, charged by J. Hays Scott with kidnaping his child, and Mrs. Briceland, who secured a divorce from Scott, is also in jail, charged with pointing a revolver at Scott's mother when the child was taken. The father secured the child at the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie depot after he fought Briceland, who was badly used by a crowd which gathered.

BRYAN'S AUTO BROKE; HE WAS FORCED TO WALK

RANDOLPH, NEB., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—While 5,000 people were waiting here today to hear William J. Bryan speak he was trudging along a country road, the automobile in which he was traveling having broken down. After walking about five miles Mr. Bryan succeeded in securing a farm wagon to bring him the remaining five miles into Randolph and then he made his address.

Public Reception to Parker.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The first public reception to Alton B. Parker since his nomination for the presidency was tendered him tonight by the Manhattan club. Judge Parker entered the club accompanied by William F. Sheehan. Judge Parker and Judge D. Cady Herrick, Democratic nominee for governor of New York, stood side by side on a slightly elevated platform and shook hands with many persons.

Robert A. Ammon in Court.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Thin, pale and careworn, Robert A. Ammon sat in the United States circuit court today and listened to his counsel argue the writ of habeas corpus which he hoped might restore him his freedom. Mr. Morrison, his counsel, asked time to submit briefs, and Judge Lacombe gave him until Monday to do so, meantime remanding Ammon back to Sing Sing.

GRAVE IN LIFE FOR CHRISTIAN

Negro Murderer Ordered Into Solitary Confinement for the Rest of His Days.

NEW RULES IN PENITENTIARY

"George Christian, the negro murderer who nearly killed Charles Jones in the Western penitentiary last Saturday night, will be kept in solitary confinement for the rest of his life. He is a dangerous man and it would not be safe to permit him again to mingle with the other prisoners."

This statement was made yesterday by Capt. James R. Reed, one of the penitentiary board. This will be the first time since the penitentiary was built that a prisoner was put into solitary confinement for the remainder of his life. This means he will never again be allowed to see or converse with any living person except the penitentiary officials.

Christian is not likely to suffer long, as he is the victim of a deadly disease. With the best of care it is said he might live for several years, but in solitary confinement death is only a matter of a short time. The nature of Christian's disease was explained to a prominent physician of Allegheny last night. In his opinion the negro murderer cannot live more than a year if denied the exercise usually accorded to convicts.

Weakened from loss of blood and his terrible injuries, Jones, the victim of Christian's knife, lay on a cot in the prison hospital yesterday and asked that no punishment be inflicted upon his assailant. When asked why he did not want to have Christian suffer some penalty, Jones only shook his head and moaned.

Capt. Reed, accompanied by William J. Deibl and D. L. Gillespie, members of the board of inspectors, visited the prison yesterday morning and were in conference with Warden Johnston for more than two hours. It was at this conference that it was decided necessary to inflict upon Christian this severe punishment. He is at present in one of the "basket cells," but as very little light can peneterate through the heavily-screened doors of this niche in the wall, it is not likely the man will be kept there.

At least one, and perhaps three, of the keepers who walked the range while Freeman was on the roof last Thursday are to be discharged.

An improvement on the present system of checking prisoners will be put into force immediately. At 9 o'clock each night, when the cell lights are turned out and the doors locked, each prisoner will be compelled to walk to the door of the cell and raise his hands with palms outward. This will insure the presence of all the prisoners in their cells and will render impossible the substitution of dummies.

TO CHOOSE M'KINLEY'S DESIGN

Committee and Trustees Will Soon Meet to Select Model for Memorial.

CANTON, O., Oct. 5.—All of the 10 designs for the McKinley memorial are in the hands of the jury, composed of Walter Cook and Daniel French of New York and R. S. Peabody of Boston. E. W. Bloomingdale of the committee on design writes that all the members of the committee had been heard from excepting Cornelius N. Bliss, and as soon as word is received from him a meeting of the trustees will be called.

According to Secretary Hartzell, the meeting will probably be called in a few days. At this session it is officially stated, the design will undoubtedly be chosen and the architect empoyed. The meeting will probably take place in New York.

Governor Herrick at the Fair.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio arrived today to be present at the Ohio state day exercises at the world's fair tomorrow.

RABBI LEVY MADE A SPEECH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Resolutions intended to bring about, if possible, an end to the Russo-Japanese war were adopted today at the meeting of the international peace conference. By the terms of these resolutions the congress will address an appeal to the emperors of Russia and Japan to terminate the struggle, and each of the powers signatory to The Hague convention will be formally requested to press upon Russia and Japan the importance of putting an end to the war. It was also voted that the resolutions be presented to President Roosevelt.

Delegate William R. Cremer of England took occasion, while favoring the declarations, to characterize the treaty between England and Japan was a blunder, and to charge that this treaty doubtless had much to do in bringing on the Russo-Japanese war.

A leading Hindoo, Baba Bharati, spoke as the representative of his country. Dressed in the costume of his people, he delivered a passionate speech denouncing, on the one hand, the attempt of Christianity to thrust Christianity upon India as its religion, and the policy of the English people of India in invading Thibet

It was voted to refer the subject of a reconciliation of France and Germany on the Alsace-Lorraine question to the Berne bureau for study by a special committee. Rabbi Levy of Pittsburgh also addressed the congress.

Part of the phraseology of a cablegram prepared to be sent to Andrew Carnegie was objected to by a delegate from New York, and it was finally rewritten so that Mr. Carnegie was hailed as an earnest worker for the world's better political order instead for a worker for the world's "just and rational organization."

BRYAN GIVES UP NEBRASKA.

Democratic Leader Declares President Roosevelt Will Carry His State the Coming Election.

NORFOLK, NEB., Oct. 5.—William J. Bryan addressed a large audience in Norfolk tonight. During the course of his speech Mr. Bryan said President Roosevelt would carry Nebraska because the Democrats and Populists had named separate electoral tickets, but believed the fusionists would elect most of the other officers. He again spoke of his reasons for supporting the national Democratic ticket, and said:

"The only trouble we have to find with Judge Parker is that he is too much like Roosevelt."

SALESMAN FOR PITTSBURGH CONCERN SHOOTS HIMSELF

OIL CITY, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Thomas C. Crane, a prominent citizen of Utica, this county, shot himself through the breast today, the bullet lodging in the vicinity of his heart. The family are reticent about the affair and it is not known whether the shooting was accidental or intentional. Crane was employed as a traveling salesman for a Pittsburgh hardware firm.

FOREIGN STEEL MAKERS SEEK SELLING AGREEMENT

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—The German steel syndicate is holding conferences at Cologne with the British, French and Belgian producers. So far as learned the American steel makers are not represented. The object of the conferences, as reported, is to reach an international selling agreement, but the proceedings themselves are kept strictly secret.

NOTHING OUT OF HARRIMAN

He Refused to Answer Questions on Witness Stand.

HE DIDN'T WANT TO

This He Deemed Sufficient Reason When Pressed By the Referee.

NORTHERN PACIFIC INVOLVED

MR. HARRIMAN'S SCORE

Questions asked, 47.
Questions answered, 16.
Questions withdrawn, 1.
Answers refused, 30.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—E. H. Harriman, railroad magnate and farmer, by his own designation, was a witness today before Referee Philip J. Reville in the hearing in the suit of John J. O'Leary of Chicago to recover $55,000 which O'Leary alleges was lost through the carelessness of his brokers in the Northern Pacific panic of May 9, 1901.

Called by the complainant in the case to establish the location of Northern Pacific common stock at the time the price went a-kiting, Mr. Harriman absolutely refused to answer every vital question put to him, "because he didn't want to."

He was threatened with contempt proceedings if he persisted in his refusals, and complacently told Henry Wilcox, a Chicago lawyer, to go ahead, but was finally excused, because, as Mr. Wilcox privately explained, "Mr. Harriman's refusal to answer the questions asked were as effective as any replies he might have made."

Mr. Harriman, attired almost shabbily in comparison with the fashionable garments of Jacob H. Schiff, hurried into the hearing room just as Mr. Schiff was released from the toils of the cross-examiner. The two captains of industry had a brief conference in whispers, and then Mr. Harriman took the stand.

He was asked how much Northern Pacific common he held on May 8 and 9, 1901, and replied that he did not know. Asked if he could tell within $1,000,000, he first said he could not, and then, correcting himself, replied that he did not have nearly so much as a $1,000,000.

Mr. Harriman refused absolutely to reply to questions whether he was concerned in trying to gain control of the Northern Pacific road. He refused to say whether he was connected with any other interests to gain control of the road.

Of the 47 questions asked by the attorney those answered by Mr. Harriman gave but meager insight to the methods of the deal. In spite of the most adroit phasing Mr. Harriman only answered 16 questions. One question was withdrawn after it had been asked and the remaining 30 he flatly refused to consider.

"Why don't you answer these questions?" asked Mr. Wilcox.

"I don't want to," replied Mr. Harriman.

Mr. Harriman also refused to answer questions whether he sold Northern Pacific stock to the Northern Securities Company. He declared he never was a member of any conspiracy to corner Northern Pacific stock.

Mr. Schiff said prior to May 9 the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had purchased Northern Pacific stock on the New York stock exchange, but declined to say how much Northern Pacific stock his firm bought.

TWO HUNDRED OFFICIALS TO GO OUT WITH LOREE

C. S. McKim, Formerly With the Pennsylvania, Has Resigned from the Rock Island.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—It is admitted by the new management of the Rock Island that 200 or more officials brought from the east by ex-President Loree and put in the service of the Rock Island and 'Frisco systems will lose their jobs.

C. S. McKim, formerly superintendent of telegraph of the Pennsylvania, and who was made general superintendent of transportation of the Rock Island by Mr. Loree, is the first one to go. He presented his resignation today and it was promptly accepted. He will be succeeded by W. H. Hobbs, assistant general superintendent of transportation.

THOUSANDS ARE ON VERGE OF STARVATION

LONDON, Oct. 5.—At a meeting of the Manchester city council today it was announced that owing to the hard times and depression in the cotton industries between 40,000 and 50,000 people in the poorer parts of the city were practically on the verge of starvation. Similar conditions prevail in London and other large cities of the United Kingdom.

ESTATE OF PATTISON IS WORTH $9,000

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—An auction sale of the household and office furniture and personal effects of the late ex-Gov. Pattison will occur Monday to provide for his widow and children. His estate is worth $9,000.

Parker to Succeed Lawrence.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—At a conference of Washington county Republicans here today it was decided to recommend for presidential elector from the Twenty-fourth district in place of the late Hon. G. V. Lawrence, William S. Parker of Washington. Beaver and Lawrence counties acquiesced in the selection of Parker. Chairman Penrose was notified.

A. HART M'KEE GOES ABROAD

Mrs. Tevis Sails, Too, and Kisses Elder McKee Goodby.

MRS. PHIPPS IS HERE

Was Going Across, but Changed Mind—Detectives Force Hart to Pay Bill.

HIS FATHER IS INTERVIEWED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.

Added force was given today to the denial of Mrs. Genevieve C. Phipps, former wife of Lawrence C. Phipps, a Pittsburgh millionaire, that she was about to marry A. Hart McKee, when Mr. McKee sailed on the Baltic for Liverpool. Mrs. Hugh Tevis of Denver and her small son sailed on the same ship. Mrs. Phipps returned to Pittsburgh Tuesday night, and the friends of both gave full credence tonight to the already well authenticated rumor that if there were any ties between Mrs. Phipps and Mr. McKee they had been broken.

As Mr. McKee was about to leave his home at 30 East Fiftieth street to drive with his father to the White Star line pier he was detained by two detectives, who threatened to serve a restraining order to prevent him from taking his trunks on board the steamer unless he paid their bill for services rendered in the divorce proceedings brought by Lawrence C. Phipps against his wife. That the detectives' bill was paid and that the young man got a receipt in full was confirmed by his father, H. Sellers McKee.

Watched for Mr. M'Kee.

An hour before the Baltic's lines were cast off a carriage drove up to the pier and from it stepped Mrs. Tevis, followed by a maid, Master Hugh Tevis and his nursery governess. The beautiful young widow gathered her little party about her, stationed herself at the foot of the gangplank and at intervals gazed expectantly toward the entrance to the pier. Before five minutes had elapsed a cab drew up and there alighted Mr. McKee, closely followed by his father. The young man, seeing her, exclaimed:

"There she is, father; there's Cornelia."

A hurried greeting followed and the party ascended the gangplank. Mr. McKee went at once to his stateroom, No. 88, and Mrs. Tevis to her room, No. 89. Master Tevis, the maid and the nursery governess were placed in No. 91. Mr. McKee ordered steamer chairs for Mrs. Tevis and flowers, which came aboard, sent to her stateroom. When the elder Mr. McKee bid them adieu, when they had again met on the grand staircase, Mrs. Tevis put her hands on his shoulders and gave him an audible kiss on the lips, and then, taking his hands, she said:

Kissed Elder M'Kee.

"Goodby, papa. Don't worry about Hart. I'll take good care of him."

"Mrs. Tevis, is it true, as reported, that you have engaged yourself to Mr. McKee, and that you are to be married abroad?" a reporter asked.

She replied: "How absurd. Please do not press me to talk about this. I have been engaged to a half-dozen men during the last three years, if one may believe all the rumors that have been going the rounds about me. Now, don't you think it absurd yourself?"

Mr. McKee declined to be interviewed.

H. Sellers McKee was driven to his home at Madison avenue and Fiftieth street. It was there, an hour after the Baltic sailed, the father admitted the story of the "holding up" of his son by the two detectives and gave the details of the incident.

"To begin with," said Mr. McKee, "Hart never hired these men. They were engaged by a lawyer during the divorce proceedings instituted by Mr. Phipps against his wife. The men were at the steamship pier early this morning watching for Hart and later came here to find him. He denied in my presence he had agreed to pay them anything for getting evidence to offset that obtained by Mr. Phipps. The men were firm in their demands, and as they seemed to have the advantage of the situation I advised Hart to pay them. It wouldn't have done to allow them to detain his baggage, you know."

Denies the Engagement.

Mr. McKee was asked whether he knew of any engagement between his son and Mrs. Tevis.

"Bosh. I don't believe anything of the kind. The boy has had enough of married life. He couldn't marry Mrs. Tevis anyway, because he has been separated from his wife only 18 months, and under the Pennsylvania law he cannot marry for two years.

"Why, would you believe it, they had him engaged to Genevieve Chandler—Mrs. Phipps, you know. That was all nonsense, too. He never had the least intention of marrying her. As for Mrs. Tevis she is going to London, I am told, and Hart is trying to get away from all this notoriety occasioned by his marital troubles and his connection with the Phipps divorce case."

"Then Mrs. Tevis' affectionate manner of taking leave of you was not significant?" Mr. McKee was asked.

"Not a bit, not a bit. Why, I know her very well. She only happened to sail on the same ship with my son. He's going [illegible] Italy, you know."

It had been known to the friends [illegible] Mrs. Phipps and the friends of Mr. [illegible] Kee that she had intended to sail [illegible] for Europe. Her sudden change [illegible] and departure for her Pittsburg[illegible] came as a surprise to those who [illegible] erally acquainted with her mov[illegible]

Mrs. Tevis w[illegible] Cornelia Ba[illegible] ter of George [illegible] Baxter, a [illegible] tle owner of [illegible] appointed go[illegible] ducated [illegible] daughter was [illegible] she was [illegible] Paris. In 1[illegible] by [illegible] Parisian s[illegible] friends from the top of a coach at the Grand Prix of Chantilly. She returned to her Denver home, and soon it was announced that she had engaged herself to Gerald Hughes, a young lawyer, and son of a wealthy resident of Denver. The wedding was set for April 25, 1901, but Miss Baxter changed her mind, and in the course of the same month she was to have married him, she became the wife of Hugh Tevis, son of Lloyd Tevis, a young man worth $5,000,000 in his own right.

They started on a tour of the world, but Mr. Tevis died in Yokohama, Japan, two months after their marriage. Mrs. Tevis returned to America and a son was born later, whom she named Hugh.

The widow was last heard of in the newspapers on August 14, 1904, when upon her return from a European trip, on the Cedric of the White Star line, it was said by the passengers that she had engaged herself to the earl of Rosslyn. This she denied.

FELLOW WORKMEN RESCUE SEVEN OVERCOME BY GAS

Odor Emenating from an Unknown Source Created Havoc in Black Diamond Steel Mill.

Seven men employed at the Black Diamond Steel works, Thirtieth street and Allegheny Valley railroad, were overcome by gaseous fumes while at work in the blacksmith shop yesterday afternoon, and were resuced with difficulty. Those overcome were:

JOHN JENKINS, aged 19, blacksmith apprentice, Brereton avenue.

WILLIAM PAGE, colored, laborer, Jones alley.

PAUL LAVENDEESKI, laborer, Twenty-eighth street and Mulberry alley.

TONY RABOSKY, laborer, Dickson street.

WILLIAM CARTER, colored, laborer, Dennys row.

STANY RABINOWITCH, laborer, Mulberry alley.

MIKE ROSINO, laborer, Mulberry alley.

Shortly after noon the 200 men employed in the department scented a strong odor of gas and began leaving the shop. John Jenkins, the blacksmith, missed his son, who is his apprentice, and started in search of him only to find the prostrate forms of seven men. He shouted for assistance and the men were carried out and taken to the office of the mill, where Dr. A. C. Clark of 3420 Butler street succeeded in resuscitating them. Though extremely weak, the men were assisted into carriages and taken to their homes. It is believed all will recover.

The theory advanced that a natural gas pipe had broken is denied by the company, which cannot account for the cause. Shortly after the men were rescued the odor disappeared and work was resumed.

ROBBINS TALKS TO EMPLOYES

Officers and Men of Pittsburgh Coal Company Learn of Plans from President.

GOOD THAT HAS BEEN DONE

At a dinner at the Hotel Henry last evening a closer co-operation was cemented among the more important holders coming under the profit-sharing plan of the Pittsburgh Coal Company through its Employes' association. Fifty-seven of the officers, superintendents and others met at dinner, and the addresses which followed brought an impetus for a closer and broader community of interests of this concern, which is now producing at the rate of 25,000,000 tons of coal annually and is the greatest single concern employing labor with whose representatives its officers meet annually and fix a wage scale.

Francis L. Robbins, the president and chairman of the board of directors of the company, made the principal address and acted as toastmaster. Mr. Robbins, in his address, more implied than outlined plans for the future which means a broader profit-sharing plan among all the men of the company. The last report of the Employes' association showed that over 1,000 of the company's employes were securing nearly 8,500 shares of the company's stock under the easy terms of payment provided. In his talk to the employes Mr. Robbins said:

President Robbins' Address.

To be an employe of the Pittsburgh Coal Company is an honor; to be a member of the Pittsburgh Coal Company Employes association is a greater honor, because the member is not only an employe, but an owner as well. The province of the association is an honorable work because the Pittsburgh Coal Company was the first to recognize industrial conditions that have changed so much in the past few years and met the conditions by proposing to make its employes partners, by helping them to become partners, by forming the association and by giving each employe in its service an opportunity to purchase its stock at one dollar a share a month, and to be carried by the company.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company has recognized that in the formation of the great companies, the great corporations, it became necessary for the employer and employe to come in close harmonious relations with each other. It recognized that conditions had so changed and would so change that the great corporations must set the pace for weal or for woe in the future relations between capital and labor, either by fight and by contest, or by becoming closely united and by recognizing each other's rights and privileges. The Pittsburgh Coal Company realized that its future in large measure depended upon the relations that were established between the employer and the employe, and has done its full and fair share in promoting the interests of all in that direction.

In the judgment of the officials and directors of the Pittsburgh Coal Company it became their privilege and their duty to do everything in their power to further the cause of industrial peace and to join trade agreements of arbitration and conciliation.

Success of Wage Settlement.

The bituminous wage settlement stands before this country and before the world as being the most equitable, the most noted and the most successful of all settlements between capital and labor. The Pittsburgh Coal Company by reason of its large interests, and because without it no agreement could be made, stood, therefore, in Indianapolis as the leader of the joint trade agreement and its president as the spokesman of the operators by their selection. It has stood in that conference for fairness. It has stood for changed conditions in favor of the miner and of the employe. It has stood for increased wages until the time when a depression comes and then it was the first to insist that labor should take its share in the reductions that all trade and industries had participated in.

It therefore stands before the public in my judgment and in the judgment of those who are not associated with it, and in the judgment of its employes, with all of its great army of workers, not only in the mines, but in the docks, everywhere, as a concern in which there is not one single disagreement.

There are today representatives of other governments here in the cause of industrial peace. I had the pleasure of lunching with them in New York last week. The most conspicuous example, and the one that has attracted the most attention in the Civic Federation, and by the statements of Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Keefe, with whom we deal on labor agreements, is that of the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

You men here, who might be styled captains of industry because you all are masters over hundreds and in some cases over thousands of men, have a responsibility and duty for which the Pittsburgh Coal Company will hold you fully and fairly responsible. I say to you now that we wish the most hearty and thorough support on your part to further the efforts of this company toward harmonious relationship. We wish that policy to be carried out to the letter. We believe that we have offered to our men in the Pittsburgh Coal Company's Employe's association the best means of helping them to save some money. We believe that through that association you will make better citizens, you will make them better satisfied with their conditions and will help them in the future whenever storms may come to stand for the company that has given them loyal support, fair working conditions and good wages.

Good the Company Has Done.

I do not claim for the Pittsburgh Coal Company that this is simply a humane proposition. I claim for it that it is not only in the cause of humanity, but in the protection of the interests of all concerned. It is true that because of our death and accident association to which we contribute, because of the pension fund which we are building up and to which we contribute, and because of the joint bituminous trade agreement that we have had, more than we might have paid had we assumed a different attitude. We believe that the direct advantage to the company, as well as the benefit to humanity, are such that we are justified in taking our position.

Mr. Robbins here directed some remarks to the superintendents intended to bring about a more thorough co-operation with their men and a more successful operation of the mines. He added:

It is impossible now to do what we would like to do, which is to set aside premiums to be given to superintendents for showing the best results based upon the cost per ton of producing coal. I say it is impossible, because the conditions at all mines are different, and that while one man may show a lower cost one month he may do it at the expense of protection to his company. But we propose in the future, more than we have in the past, to canvass the situation carefully. Such of the superintendents as show themselves the most careful will get the best positions and the best wages. We will take into consideration the screenings at the mines, the quality, the cost, and everything else that will enhance our market.

Now I want to say that I am proud of you. I want you to feel that you are partners in the company, and all are or ought to be working among the other employes to become members of the association. I tell you that there is more in the future of this company and through it in the future of this country than you realize.

Those Who Made Addresses.

Among other speakers were: George W. Schluederberg, general manager of mines of the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company; General Superintendent of Mines W. W. Keefer; General Sales Agent James Walsh; Vice President W. R. Woodford; President J. B. L. Hornberger, of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, Employes' association and comptroller of the Pittsburgh Coal Company; J. E. McDonald, secretary and treasurer of the association; A. R. Hamilton, publisher of the Coal Trade Bulletin; H. W. Minker, traveling auditor; G. C. Whitesall of the Hocking Valley interests of the Pittsburgh Coal Company; President W. J. Phillips of the Federal Supply Company; Superintendents Jacob Knoedler, W. R. Calverley, J. J. Boyle, W. C. Murray, W. A. Lockhart, Edward Soppitt, and P. J. Keeling.

Yarmouths Are Now Upon the Deep

EARL OF YARMOUTH.
Snapshot Taken of Him in Broadway on October 1.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Not long did the earl of Yarmouth tarry in America on his last visit, for though he arrived only last Thursday on the Baltic of the White Star line, he sailed again on that vessel. The earl and the countess boarded the Baltic today some time before the vessel sailed and kept to their suite until the boat left the dock.

Sir William Ramsey, K. C. B., F. R. S., president of the International Society of Chemical Industries, who was entertained under the auspices of the Brooklyn institute last evening, also sailed on the Baltic.

BIG NAVAL FIGHT AGAIN REPORTED

Russian Fleet Said to Have Made Sortie From Port Arthur.

FORTRESS REPULSES ATTACK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A dispatch, dated Tokyo, October 5, says: "It is reported that the Russian squadron made a sortie from Port Arthur today, and that a great naval battle occurred."

HARBIN, Oct. 2.—(Delayed in transmission.)—It is reported that the Japanese advance posts have been driven back all along the line between the Hun river and Benshihu.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 6.—The delay in the announcement of a commander-in-chief of the Manchurian armies, which has been daily expected, is said to be due to Emperor Nicholas' intention to wait until Viceroy Alexieff shall have started for St. Petersburg. The viceroy's return in a very short time is everywhere taken for granted.

In the best informed quarters the belief is expressed that Alexieff's return does not mean his effacement, but that on the contrary, the emperor will take occasion to bestow upon him unmistakable marks of his royal favor.

Count Lamsdorff's administration of Russian foreign affairs was the subject of persistent criticism by a certain party, called the war party, before the war, and his recent successful efforts to secure concessions in the matter of the recognition of the rights of neutral commerce were obtained against hostile and powerful influences. The return to St. Petersburg of M. Bezobrazoff, secretary of the far eastern committee before the war, simultaneously with Alexieff's return, may foreshadow the complete return to imperial favor of the influences in control before the war.

Orloff Not Dismissed.

Grand Duke Boris leaves St. Petersburg in 10 days to rejoin the army.

Maj.-Gen. Orloff has been assigned to duty on the general staff, thus ending the reports that he would be tried by court-martial and dismissed from the army.

Lieut.-Gen. Grippenburg, who is to command the second Manchurian army, was received in audience by the emperor today. The general will leave for the front during the present month. Emperor Nicholas has received Gen. Stoessel's official report of the desperate four days' assault of the besiegers upon Port Arthur, from September 19 to September 23. The Japanese displayed frenzied bravery. They lost 10,000 men, and their only success was the capture of two redoubts guarding the water works.

The Japanese efforts were directed chiefly against the commanding position on High mountain. The carnage there was terrible. It culminated September 22, when the Japanese succeeded in occupying the Russian armored shelter trenches, whence they expected about the next day to storm the summit.

During the night, Lieut. Poggorsky of the navy, at the head of a detachment of volunteers, descended upon the trenches and blew them up with pyroxylin bombs. The besiegers fled, leaving the mountainside strewn with dead.

The loss of the water works is not considered vital, as there is a fresh water lake and numerous wells as well as a condensing apparatus within the defenses.

SEARCH FAILS TO CLEAR MYSTERY

Friends of William L. M'Cracken Fear He Has Met With Foul Play.

HUNT WILL BE CONTINUED

In spite of the most diligent search for William L. McCracken, who disappeared suddenly last Friday morning from his home, his whereabouts remain unknown, and fears are now entertained that he has met with foul play. Mr. McCracken's family and his friends have exhausted their resources to locate him, but without success. Thomas A. McQuaide, superintendent of the Pittsburgh bureau of detectives, has had officers working on the case for some days, but like the other searchers, they have learned little.

This morning circulars, giving a description of McCracken, will be sent to all the cities and towns in the states bordering on Pennsylvania, in which McCracken has been a frequent visitor during the last 10 years, when he traveled for his company. It is thought that if he has reached any of the places with which he has been familiar and has made many friends and business acquaintances, they will learn of his absence through the circulars and communicate with his family.

Hospitals in Pittsburgh and Allegheny have been searched for an unknown man, it being thought that he had, perhaps, met with an accident on the way to the railroad station and was taken in an unconscious condition to a hospital. None of the hospitals have a patient answering McCracken's description and the morgue officials have not had a body since last Friday night, which might have been McCracken's. Mrs. McCracken last night stated that she could not say whether her husband had anything about his person by which his identity could be established.

McCracken for the last year has been manager of the Johnston Harvester Company, with offices in the Way building, Liberty avenue and Fifth street. Previous to coming here with his family from Greenville, Pa., he had been a traveling agent for the company. At the local office of the company it has been learned that all his business with the company is in the best of shape. Charles Coy, Jr., the colored elevator operator in the Way building, last night said that Mr. McCracken entered the building and left again between 8 and 9:30 o'clock last Friday morning. On leaving the building he took a yellow suit case with him.

McCracken has always used mileage on his trips on the railroads, but inquiry at the railroad stations resulted in the finding that no person answering McCracken's description had purchased mileage and no mileage bearing his name has been turned in. His family knews that when he left home his mileage book was exhausted.

On leaving his home, 1225 Greenfield avenue, McCracken placed his pocketbook on a table, where it was later found by by his wife. It contained $80. This same amount was taken from the safe in his office between last Thursday night and Friday morning, and it is not known whether he took the money when he was there on Friday, or whether he took it Thursday night before going home.

Inquiry of the gateman at Union station, from which he said he would leave over the Pennsylvania railroad for New Castle, Pa., also resulted in failure. McCracken is about five feet nine inches tall, and weighs about 235 pounds. His wife stated that on last Monday he went to New Castle to settle with the company's agent there, but as the agent was not ready to close up the business, he had to go back again on Friday. McCracken never traveled by river and it is now thought that he has not left Pittsburgh.

PORTUGESE SLAUGHTERED BY AFRICAN NATIVES

Troops Surprised and 254 Killed and 50 Wounded—Germany to Send Big Force.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LISBON, Oct. 5.—The minister of marine announced in the chamber today that a detachment of Portuguese troops, belonging to a column operating in Portuguese West Africa against the Cuanhamas, was surprised by the tribesmen while crossing the Cunene river. The detachment, which numbered 499 officers and men, lost 254 killed, including 16 officers, and 50 wounded.

It is officially announced that Germany will put 8,000 European troops in the field against the Hereros, in German Southwest Africa, who are neighbors of the Cuanhamas. Both tribes are established in the Cunene district. The Cunene river forms the boundary between German and Portuguese Southwest Africa.

WIDOWS OF SOLDIERS CAN MAKE UNIFORMS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt has cancelled the order of the war department providing that contractors were to have the manufacture of uniforms at the Schuylkill arsenal, Philadelphia, which have formerly been made by seamstresses, chiefly the widows and daughters of ex-soldiers. A delegation representing 3,000 women who would have lost their livelihood had the order gone into effect called at the White House today and laid the case before the president.

DIAMONDS IN ROUGH ADVANCED IN PRICE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Cutters and importers in this city received notice today of an increase of 5 per cent on diamonds in the rough. The increase will extend to cut stones soon. The advance was made by the DeBeers syndicate of London. Prices are now 40 per cent higher than in the beginning of 1903.

After Orders for Ammunition.

Improvements amounting to about $100,000 were started yesterday at the plant of the Firth Sterling Steel Company, McKeesport, and in a short time the plate mill will be equipped with electric machinery. The Firth Sterling is desirous of capturing the bulk of the business in steel projectiles which have already made the McKeesport plant famous. It is said that some immense orders for ammunition are in view from foreign countries.

WANTS CLARK TO TAKE HOSPITAL

Larkin Thinks Pest House Would Be Better Managed in Charities Department.

PAYS VISIT TO MARSHALSEA

"I am convinced, after my visit today to Marshalsea, that the department of charities is the proper branch of the municipal government to have supervision over the Municipal hospital, and that Director James W. Clark is the proper official to conduct it," said Controller Larkin last evening, after his return from the inspection of the city poor farm and insane asylum.

It was the controller's first visit to Marshalsea and he was astonished by what he saw. He lauded the institution, Director Clark and Supt. Williams in the strongest terms.

"I was surprised at what I saw," said the controller, "and I enjoyed my visit very much. It was the first time I had ever been at Marshalsea and I had no idea that the institution was on so large a scale and such a success. The discipline is remarkable and better than any place of the kind I ever saw. I was astonished at the economy with which the place is conducted.

"There are between 800 and 1,000 inmates there all the time and the expenses are only about $140,000 a year, while it costs this much to run the bureau of health. Of course, the inmates, who are able, work on the farm, and a great deal of eatables are raised for consumption at the home. If the municipal hospital were in the department of charities, as I believe it should be, all the produce and vegetables and other eatables raised at Marshalsea could be used to feed the patients at the hospital.

"In many other ways the expenses at the hospital could be largely reduced. Another thing, inmates at Marshalsea could be transferred to the Municipal hospital, when necessary for proper treatment, and patients at the Municipal hospital, who properly belong to Marshalsea, could be sent there.

"Director Clark wants $50,000 for a hospital at Marshalsea and I believe he ought to have it, so as to separate the inmates afflicted with consumption from the other inmates who are extremely susceptible, because of their age and infirmities. The director wants $50,000 for the hospitals in the appropriations next year, and I believe he will get it."

Director Clark is the only department officer in the present city administration whom Controller Larkin compliments. He says that Clark's success is due to running his department on purely business and scientific principles and divorcing it from politics as much as possible. It is a fact, also, that the department of charities has been the only department with which Controller Larkin has been satisfied, he having bestowed equal praise upon Director Clark's predecessors, George W. Wilson and W. W. Nisbet.

POISONED BY TOADSTOOLS.

Two Families Partake Freely of Them Mistaking Them for Mushrooms.

Toadstools mistaken for mushrooms are responsible for the serious illness of Simon Statz, his wife and daughter, Mrs. Julia Hostetter, of Washington avenue, Braddock. The efforts of two physicians are being exerted to save their lives, and last night hope was entertained that all would recover.

The toadstools were a gift from Isaac Hoffman of Bessemer terrace, a friend of Mr. Statz, and while the latter's family was in the throes a couple of physicians were also at the Hoffman home, administering relief to his family, who had all been taken ill after disposing of a hearty supper in which the supposed mushrooms played a prominent part.

SHOWMAN SELLS DEAD.

Well-Known Circus Proprietor Expires from an Attack of Apoplexy.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 5.—Peter Sells, the well-known showman, died tonight at his home here of apoplexy, aged 55.

He, with his brothers Ephraim, Allen and Lewis, established the Sells Brothers Shows in 1872, the aggregation traveling across the country in wagons. He had been in the show business continuously since up to the time of his death, retaining his interest when the Sells Brothers show was consolidated with the Forepaugh shows in 1896. Only one of the four brothers, Lewis Sells, survives.

URGED BROADENING OF THE CHURCH'S SPHERE

Bishop Doane Preaches Sermon at Opening of Episcopal General Convention.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—The archbishop of Canterbury and bishops from many parts of the world attended the opening session of the general triennial convention of the Episcopal church here today. The English primate was last in a long procession of dignitaries which passed up the broad aisle of the Trinity church, where opening service was held in the presence of an immense congregation. He recited one of the prayers in the office of holy communion, and read the gospel. The celebrant was the Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle of Missouri, presiding bishop, the gospeller was the Rt. Rev. James Carmichael, bishop coadjutor of Montreal, and the preacher, Bishop William Doane of Albany, N. Y.

Bishop Doane welcomed the archbishop of Canterbury and then devoted a large part of his sermon to the divisions in Christendom. He discussed the barriers which separate the Anglican church from other denominations, and how they might to some extent be broken down. While the recognition of papal supremacy was impossible, the bishop thought that the church might readily recognize the primacy of the bishop of Rome by the antiquity of the Roman see. He urged a broadening of the church's sphere.

At the opening session of the house of deputies, Dr. R. H. McKim of Washington, D. C., was selected chairman over the Rev. Charles H. Hutchins of Concord, the candidate of most of the high churchmen present. Bishop William Lawrence of Massachusetts was chosen chairman of the house of bishops by unanimous vote.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but 25 cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

$10 DOWN SENDS ONE TO YOUR HOME — OPEN EVENINGS — 632 SMITHFIELD ST.

This extraordinary opportunity to supply home and family with a thoroughly good instrument at a big saving is being taken advantage of by a great many people.
A new, standard make, upright piano for $165, fully guaranteed.
Just think of it!
The same piano sells elsewhere and at other times for $300.
But that is only one of our bargains. All the pianos in the house are marked to sell at factory prices and less.
We must clear our floors of at least a hundred instruments before the extensive alterations are begun. We must do this or sustain a loss in damage to the pianos in moving them about, from dust, rubbish, etc., incident to the work.
You can take the pianos without profit to us now.
We prefer to give our patrons the profit rather than take a loss in damaged pianos, retarded work, etc.
What makes?
Why, we offer you the world's best piano product at this sale. Your favorite piano is here, for the stock comprises practically all the good, reliable, standard makes, as follows: Kimball, the World's Fair premium piano; Chickering Bros., famous from every point of view; Hallet & Davis, Boston's most favorite piano, not only one of the oldest makes in America, but one of the very best. Then here are Sterling pianos, Capen pianos, Steinway pianos, Whitney pianos and numerous other makes.
We offer $250 pianos for $117.
We offer $250 pianos for $143.
We offer $275 pianos for $178.
We offer $300 pianos for $187.
We offer $325 pianos for $198.
We offer $250 pianos for $227.
We offer $375 pianos for $249.
We offer $400 pianos for $267.
We offer $500 pianos for $315.
We offer $600 pianos for $387.
Terms?
We make terms to suit you. The sale prices are based on cash, but we offer all our easy payment plan, $10 to $25 or more down, $6 to $10 or more monthly.
Used uprights? Yes, we have quite a number left to close out at half their real worth. Room we must have for these extensive alterations, and the only way we know of moving these pianos out quickly is to offer them at prices that will make them go.
For instance:
A $250 Arion upright, $75. Cash or $5 monthly.
A $300 Hale upright, $85. Cash or $5 monthly.
A $350 Vose & Sons' upright, $95. Cash or $5 monthly.
A $400 Chickering & Sons, $110. Cash or $5 monthly.
A $450 Kranich & Bach, $150.
A $350 Emerson upright, $125.
A $400 Kimball upright, $175.
A $500 Steinway upright, $240.
A $450 Kimball upright, $250.
Good square pianos for $18, $25, $35, $47 to $63.
Terms $6 to $10 cash, $3 to $5 monthly.
Organs, Organs, Organs! Used organs for nothing. We'll not charge you a cent for the organs, just for the work in repairing them, that's all. They go at $8, $12, $18, $27 to $36, and new organs go at $33, $48, $59 to $68. They are worth twice the money. Come and get one on terms of $5 to $7 cash, $3 to $5 monthly.

JOLLY CROWD AT PUMPKIN DANCE

Old-Fashioned Hoe Down Kept Young People Merry at Novelty Club's Function.

PRIZES FOR HATS AND APRONS

It was a "reg'lar old pun'kin crowd" that gathered in the Washington street lyceum last night to partake of the Novelty club's hospitality, in its jolly corn shucking party. Pretty girls with big yellow aprons escorted by chivalrous young men in immense straw hats, made a merry assemblage and the competition for the most grotesque make-up stimulated good-natured rivalry among the 500 guests.

With pumpkins to the right of them, pumpkins to the left of them, pumpkins above them and all around them, the dancers hopped across the gymnasium floor in good old country style. There was a fiddle that squeaked and a figure caller who shouted like a Washington county auctioneer.

"Circ-u-late!"

Bashful girls blushed, prim girls glided with stiff elbows, and jolly girls plunged around the circle, as if making a goal in an exciting basketball game.

"Face your pardner!" There was a tone of exultant vengeance in the voice of the figure caller. "Balance all!" "Swing your pardner!" "All hands around!"

The grandfathers and grandmothers of last night's dancers might have been a little more adept at the old hoedown at the beginning, but when the figure caller got his "second wind" and the dancers became thoroughly warmed up to their sport, there was no foot still and no eye that did not glisten with laughter.

Putting more rosin on the bow, the fiddler took a fresh pitch. He thrust a red bandanna handkerchief down deep under his collar and stood up, while he sawed out the "Fisher's Hornpipe." It was an inspiring scene. The windows rattled with the happy vibration of tripping feet, and the great long strings of yellow corn and the pumpkins, danced from their perches among the rafters, keeping time to the rhythm of the melody. "Fisher's Hornpipe" twice over, and the dancers nudged the figure caller and the figure caller nudged the fiddler.

More rosin on the bow and the fiddler sawed away at the "Cincinnati Hornpipe." The dancers were as fresh as daisies and the corn and pumpkins almost jumped for joy. More rosin on the bow, and the fiddler sawed out "The Arkansaw Traveler." Then all joined in. The figure caller danced a clog, the fiddler pounded the floor and kept time with his waving bow, which pitched up and down like the walking beam of a Fall River boat.

"Zip!" Away went the "E" string!

Some looked horrified, but the fiddler kept on.

"Biff!"

A 10-pound pumpkin tumbled from the ceiling where it was tied, and bounced among the dancers.

"Tuz-z-z-z-t!"

It was only the "A" string breaking, but the fiddler continued resolutely on and the figure caller shouted his most perplexing movements.

"Bing!"

It was the "D" string and the dance was over—as jolly a gathering as ever met in candlelight. Laughing and panting, the dancers fled to the reception rooms. Their refreshments were ready and they enjoyed a repast of the same sort that is served on the barn floor in the country.

Of course, it was comparatively few who enjoyed the old-fashioned dance. There were 30 euchre tables spread on the top floor of the lyceum and here the more staid of the guests played quiet games. A prize of a fine pumpkin was given to the young women wearing the prettiest apron and the youth with the largest straw hat was rewarded with a huge ear of corn. It was long after midnight when the "old pun'kin crowd" left the scene of merriment. The next unique function on the Novelty club's calendar will be held on Hallowe'en night.

DELIVERS FAREWELL ADDRESS.

Miss Charlotte Hawes Leaves Tonight to Resume Missionary Work in China.

The October meeting of the Young People's branch of the Missionary Societies of Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries was held yesterday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church, Arch street, Allegheny, and the event of most importance was the farewell address of Miss Charlotte Hawes, who leaves tonight to resume her field work in China. Miss Hawes gave an interesting talk on her work in the field, and told of the happiness of the pupils in her mission school when they received their presents sent by the Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries last Christmas.

The East Liberty Presbyterian church was selected as the meeting place for the Children's rally the last Saturday in October. Mrs. Larimer of the Foreign Missionary branch, reported contributions during the year of $806 95, and it was reported that $297 50 had been given for home missions. Miss Hawes was tendered an affectionate farewell at the close of the meeting.

HUMANE DELEGATES.

Representatives to St. Louis Selected. Protest Against Live Pigeon Shooting.

Delegates to the American Humane society convention which convenes in St. Louis on November 2, were named yesterday by the local society. Those named are President J. G. Walter, Secretary Miss F. R. Henry, Superintendent James I. Bell, James L. Marshall, and Mrs. S. S. Carrier. Letters requesting Mayors Hays and Wyman to name delegates to represent the two cities were sent out by the American society, but it is not known if the delegates will attend.

The question of securing legislation to prohibit the shooting of live pigeons from traps was discussed, and a resolution passed indorsing the action taken by the Philadelphia society against the practice so prevalent in the eastern part of the state. Petitions will be circulated about the city and forwarded to Philadelphia to be sent to the next session of the legislature with a prohibitive bill.

BRIDGE OPEN ON THANKSGIVING

City Officials Promise to Complete Point Structure by Last of Next Month.

SIX MONTHS TO MAKE REPAIRS

"The repairs to the Point bridge will be completed and the bridge will be open to traffic on Thanksgiving, and possibly before," said Andrew Burke, superintendent of the bureau of construction yesterday.

The repairs on the bridge have been in progress since June 1, and since that time the structure has been entirely closed to traffic.

The city officials made no provision to transport across the river at the Point the residents of the West End, McKees Rocks, Crafton, Carnegie and other towns down the Ohio. As a consequence these people have been forced to make a tour around by way of the Smithfield street bridge. This has been a great inconvenience to the West Enders and has caused a loss in trade to business men along Penn and Liberty avenues.

These merchants have made repeated complaints to Director Bigelow, who has supervision of the repairs of the bridge. For over four months merchants of the Point district had witnessed trade leaving them because of the fact that their former customers find it out of the way to patronize their stores.

The firm having the contract for repairing the bridge offered to keep a pathway open across the bridge during the entire time of making repairs, providing the city paid $5,000 extra for this privilege. Director Bigelow rejected this proposition, claiming it was excessive. Councils had appropriated $150,000 for the bridge, and the contract had been let for $92,000, leaving a balance of $58,000 in the treasury, out of which $5,000 could have been spared.

The department of public works failing to keep part of the bridge open for foot passengers, an ordinance was introduced in councils to take $3,000 of the bridge fund and hire a ferryboat to transport the residents of the West End across the river at the Point, thus saving them the long trip around by the Smithfield street bridge. This bill was approved by the finance committee, passed common council and was messaged to select council, where the administration permitted it to be held up.

At the time the ferry measure was sent to select council the filtration bond ordinance was under consideration and the administration devoted its time and efforts exclusively to passing it, leaving the ferry ordinance and all other measures to their fate, despite the appeals of the merchants in the First ward. The result is that the bill is still on the desk in select council and the people of the Point district are still clamoring in vain for relief.

The only relief in sight is the promise of the city officials that the bridge will be open to traffic about Thanksgiving. They state that the flooring is being made and that it was impossible to have made faster progress for fear of the bridge collapsing.

BOTTLERS AND BREWERS EFFECT A SETTLEMENT

Both Sides Make Concessions and a New Agreement Will Be Effective Until April 1, 1907.

The conference between the brewers and the bottlers yesterday afternoon resulted in a settlement of the dispute which led to a strike. The trouble was fought out on the floor until after 5 o'clock, when both sides agreed to make concessions. The new agreement will continue effective until April 1, 1907.

Neither side claims a victory, as both met the issue fairly and yielded points for the sake of harmony. Secretary Charles Andrews of the Western Pennsylvania Brewers' association stated after the conference that the utmost harmony prevailed at the meeting and that the new scale is highly satisfactory to both parties.

The workmen will receive $2 for nine hours' work. They originally asked for $2 25. Some changes were made in the wages for apprentices. The date of expiration of the scale, the feature most important to the workmen, was settled by the brewers yielding to the wishes of the employes.

The men on strike will return to work this morning and the brewers agreed to take them all back without any discrimination.

Burns Expects a Favorable Decision.

Simon Burns, general master workman of the K. of L., and John Fernau, district master workman, returned yesterday from Washington, where they appeared in the proceedings instituted in the supreme court of the District of Columbia against John W. Hayes and others, who are charged with violating the injunction restraining them from doing business connected with the order. Both the officials expect a decision in their favor.

Conferring on New Wage Scale.

The wage committee of the Window Glass Workers and the American Window Glass Company met yesterday to consider the scale for next year. Local Assembly 300 met last week and prepared a scale which they will ask to be signed. Another meeting will be held today.

Dr. Ritter Must Explain.

Miss Belle Duncan of McDonald has commenced a $10,000 action for breach of promise against Dr. Hope Ritter of Allentown, Pa. Attorneys Robb & Miller drew the papers for the plaintiff and they were filed in Allentown. Miss Duncan alleges Dr. Ritter became engaged to her in this city in 1901, while a medical student, and later married another woman against her protest. Both parties to the suit are wealthy, and the plaintiff is well known in society circles in McDonald.

Opening of Theological Seminary.

The doors of the Allegheny Theological seminary of the Presbyterian church were thrown open yesterday for the fall term. The entire day was spent in enrolling the new students and assigning them to their rooms. The formal opening will take place this morning, when exercises will be held in the chapel.

Thursday, October 6, 1904.

There will be thousands of excursionists in town today, as this is one of the regular days for excursions to the Exposition. We expect to entertain a good many of the visitors—we always have that pleasure when large crowds come to town. Our store is easily reached by street cars. It has every accommodation the visitor could wish for, notably a very large Restaurant, the big Public Parlors, and especially the counter at which packages and luggage can be checked. Everybody welcome. By the way, you can take "Seeing Greater Pittsburg Cars" right from our doors.

Women's Walking Skirts for $5.00—$7.00 Values.

This is a very special offer—embracing samples from several of our best makers of women's skirts. The value of the skirts is put at $7.00, but that is only general. As a matter of fact, the least value in the lot is $7.00, while there are others worth much more.

Just a little matter of courtesy on part of the manufacturers that enables us to say choice at $5.00.

The materials are cheviots, worsteds, shaggy mixtures, plain smooth cloths, and effects in men's wear mixtures. Every style so far shown this season is represented.

Women's New Waists—Silk and Lace Over Silk.

The woman who wants exclusiveness and individuality in waists may see here the most charming effects produced by Pardoux, Poret, Templier and other noted Paris designers, as well as the best that our own American makers afford. Such handsome creations will cost anywhere from $12.00 to $75.00.

On the other hand, the woman who considers that $5.00 is sufficient to pay for a silk waist—and there are many women who look at the matter in this light—will be astonished at the vastness and beauty of our collection of practical pretty waists at the even price of $5.00.

Any of the following numbers are especially good value and up to our well-known standard of excellence in every particular.

Waists of all lace. Made over silk. Of close woven net liberally covered with dots in cluster effects—drop shoulders formed by insertings of Valenciennes lace—another inserting outlines the yoke—collar and cuffs are of net with lace inserting—buttons in the back. In every way a good $10.00 value, and it is through extraordinary circumstances that we are able to say $7.00.

Waists of chiffon taffeta—black, navy and golden brown—front pleat of white taffeta enhanced with French knots and small buttons—stitched with white. $4.25.

Waists of taffeta silk. Black, brown and navy—trimmed with flat pleats, further ornamented with French knots—trimmed sleeves and back. Pretty stock. $5.00.

Waists of peau de soie and taffeta. Small tucks extend from yoke to waist, tucked back, plain sleeves, fancy stock. $5.00.

Waists of crepe de chine. Yoke formed of fagotting and French knots—tucked back and front—shirred sleeve. $6.00.

Waists of black taffeta. Shirred on the shoulders, making it very full—three large tucks on each side of front pleat—shirred sleeve—stock in the shape of a four-in-hand tie. A very handsome waist that will appeal to the woman who admires black.

Waists of peau de soie. Shown in black and pretty colors. Broad pleat down front, with small tucks on either side. Pleat running from neck to elbow, which gives the waist a very broad effect. Large, full sleeve. $7.50.

Waists of peau de soie. Shown in black, white and pale blue. Center pleat, tiny tucks on both sides—tucked back. Collar and cuffs formed of wide Venise lace insertion.

Among the Newest Books.

We are confident there is not a book of modern fiction known to a book-loving public which is not to be had in our Book Nook. Every day brings new ones to the department. So if you have heard of any new book be assured it is here, even if we haven't mentioned it specially.

If there is some certain book of science or on technical matters which we have not in stock, we will gladly get it for you in the shortest time.

The following are late books of fiction and are all to be had at $1.08.

"The Farm of the Dagger," by Eden Phillpotts.
"Hearts in Exile," by John Oxenham.
"Letter D," by Grace Denio Litchfield.
"Beverly of Graustark," by George Barr McCutcheon.
"House of Fulfillment," George Madden Martin.
"The Mastery," by Mark Lee Luther.
"Yours With All My Heart," by Esther M. Baxendale.
"God's Good Man," by Marie Corelli.
"Old Gorgon Graham," being more letters from a self-made merchant to his son.
"Ladder of Swords," by Gilbert Parker.
"The Betrayal," by E. Phillips Oppenheim.
"The Loves of Miss Anne," by S. R. Crockett.
"Blazed Trail Stories," by Stewart Edward White.
"Last Hope," by Henry Seton Merriman.
"Tommy & Co.," by Jerome K. Jerome.

Have you read that charming new book by the author of "Rebecca"—"The Affair at the Inn?" 90c.

Men's Overcoats in All Weights.

The weather is sufficiently cool in the mornings and evenings to warrant allusion to overcoats of all weights. Of course the lightweight topcoat is an essential part of the Autumn belongings of men, and so is the raincoat. The heavyweights, however, have to bide their time.

While there is no telling at this season how soon one may need a heavyweight overcoat this notice takes in our entire line of outer garments for men. We want to say there is no style of topcoat but what is represented in our splendid assortment; there is no overcoating but what is represented; there is no late idea in tailoring but what is found here—and in saying this you have the substance on which we base our claim for your distinguished consideration.

Lightweight Overcoats, $15.00 and easily along to $32.00. Styles are short covert tan coats, 32 to 34 inches, and the black oxford coat, 38 inches.

Heavyweight Overcoats, $10.00 to $50.00. Styles are the box overcoat of 44 inches, the long swagger coat of 50 and 52 inches, Paletots, Surtouts and Paddocks, in black oxford and fancy mixtures.

Raincoats, possessing unexceptional tailoring, and the very best of cravenetted cloth, $18.00 and up to $30.00.

Every style of automobile wear, every style of livery.

A First Showing of the Latest Dress Trimmings.

Yesterday we opened a beautiful line of new dress trimmings—today they are on display for the first time. There are Appliques in black and white and colors, there are silk and chiffon designs in colors and in contrasting shades. There are beautiful patterns shown in charming "Watteau" designs on silk—the delicate and harmonizing colors a revelation of beauty and originality.

"Watteau" designs—the smaller motifs, $1.50; the larger ones, $3.00. Seen nowhere else but here.

Splendid Appliques in brown, blue, reseda and gray from 50c to $3.00 a yard.

Handsome black and white Appliques, 40c to $4.00 a yard.

Beautiful Braid effects, two new designs are shown in all the Fall shades—75c and $1.75 a yard.

Large showing of Soutache Cords and fancy Silk Braids—different colors—for any or all trimming purposes.

Special Notice to Women.

Fine Tailor-Made Covert Cloth Suits for $25.

We can always show the women of Pittsburg something pretty nice in the way of a suit for $25.00. That being a very popular price we make a special effort and consequently have more variety at $25.00 than at any other price.

These Covert Cloth Suits, however, are much in advance of our regular $25.00 suits. In fact they are a simon pure bargain. Since woman first appropriated covert to her own use it has held a place in her favor that is not equaled by any other material used for tailored suits.

These in question are of fine twill all-wool covert, made after a most handsome model—full box back with stitched belt—deep slot seams—lined throughout with a fine grade of taffeta. Skirt is gored with graduated double box pleat at each gore. Put it side by side with a $50.00 production made to order and it will be found inferior to it in no respect.

English Casement—Window Curtain Stuffs.

Something in the way of window draperies, and artistic and pretty as well. It is a woven cotton in ecru shade, 50 inches wide, the pattern woven in the transparency of the goods. Washes and irons like muslin, which makes it a desirable material with which to drape the windows of Pittsburg homes.

Shown in fourth floor Curtain and Drapery Department. 75c a yard.

Handsome Tailored Street Hats, $2.90.

They're for women, and they're worth all of $4.00 and $4.50.

In the collection are Round Has, Toques and Turbans. They come from the best makers and are hand-made and beautifully finished. Trimmed with pompons, wings or quills, as best suits the design. Not an ordinary looking hat in the lot.

Our $5.00 Hats—

Our leaders in trimmed hats are the $5.00 lines. They have the style and finish seen in hats selling for $8.00 and upward. They are designed in our own workrooms by expert milliners and are after models that come to us from Paris and Vienna. Only the highest class of materials are used. It is an exceptional assortment, both as to variety and from the standpoint of stylishness.

Walking Hats, Turbans, Toques and large Hats are included—in black, brown, navy, gray, castor, mousse, green, etc. The trimmings express the newest ideas and you will agree with us that for individuality and exclusiveness of designs they are superior to anything ever offered for $5.00.

Candidate Watson's arrival in New York City was signalized by a very cordial reception from the Hearst papers, which print fully his attacks on the other candidates. Mr. Watson predicts that he will receive 50,000 votes in New York state and that if there were a fair count in Georgia he is sure he would have a majority there. The Populist candidate seems to appear in a much more favorable light since the magazine articles have dwelt on his good points. Such a conversion to Populism as that of Mr. Stokes, who is a zealous worker in behalf of the poor, would be significant if Mr. Stokes had not recently been a Hearst supporter.

In its new rooms the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce has been receiving its members and friends and their congratulations. The chamber of this city is one of the oldest and most influential of the institutions of the kind in the country. In its career it has had to do with matters of the utmost importance to the city, state and union. It has done its work well in most instances, too, and it was never in better position to serve the vast interests it represents than at present. The Pittsburgh chamber has a field all its own. Though a trade organization in the largest sense of the word, it is not confined to the small details of promoting the business of its individual members, but is concerned with the large affairs of the Greater Pittsburgh region. The Pittsburgh chamber is known throughout the world and is respected for its capable advocacy of the best interests of the country and of the larger aspects of commerce.

The aggressiveness of the young Merchants and Manufacturers' association in undertaking an European campaign challenges admiration. Of course, Pittsburgh is known the world over and it is generally understood that it is a center for the production of steel rails, channel beams and armor plate. Incidentally, some orders come this way from the ends of the earth for steel bridges and some other goods. The "M. & M.," however, proposes to convert the general knowledge of the world into an intimate acquaintance with Pittsburgh, its individual products and its business firms. It is not enough for its purposes that Europe should know that Pittsburgh is on the map and that its tonnage is the largest in the world, but the European merchant and engineer must be told that in Pittsburgh they can obtain the particular article needed in their business at a reasonable price, and they must know who they can get it from and how it can be sent from Pittsburgh for the required use.

Some disposition has been shown by the press of Germany to accuse President Roosevelt of stealing German thunder in the matter of calling a peace conference at The Hague. It is pointed out that Chancellor von Buelow indicated such an intention on the part of the German emperor in a public speech some time ago. The German papers overlook an important feature of the subject, namely, that President Roosevelt has merely acceded to a request made by the interparliamentary congress. He has not acted upon his own initiative. If anyone has interfered with German plans it has been the delegates of the interparliamentary union. We are sure that President Roosevelt will gladly yield the first place in this movement to William, if that monarch so desires, and will heartily cooperate to make it a success. There is no more real reason in the German objections than in those of the Russian papers, which see in the proposed conference a possible interference with the war in the far east.

A new turn has been given to the old Smoky island case, which has been before the courts in one form or another for about 60 years. The ground in dispute is the gift the river to the shore line of the First rd of Allegheny and has long been occu by the Pittsburgh & Western railroad r title of an old patent, but the owner hus acquired was clouded by questions rian rights growing out of the history ract. The company sought to confirm sion by obtaining from the city a deed, and the city's right to make ance was affirmed by the United for this district. That decision reversed by the decision of the circuit court of appeals. The is not likely to end litigation cated questions of property by the case, but meanwhile it restores to the city a tract of land which has grown very valuable, and the railroad company in possession appears to be left without legal right of occupancy. The inalienable quality which the court attaches to old rights of access and riparian easements suggests the possibility that other municipal grants to the occupancy of the river shores may be legally defective.

The Wisconsin Decision.

The decision of the supreme court in Wisconsin, declaring that the ticket named by the LaFollette convention is entitled to the designation of "regular Republican," will bring relief to all the contesting parties, although it may not entirely heal the wounds that have been caused by the division in the Republican ranks. Although the court's opinion is a reversal of the stand taken at the Chicago convention by the Republican national committee, that the delegates elected by the bolting Spooner wing were entitled to seats in that body, there will be a disposition to accept it and to work together for the success of the Roosevelt electors which were named by both factions.

The influence of Senator Spooner, the late Postmaster General Payne and Congressman Babcock was with the bolting wing, which went out from the state convention when it seated the LaFollette delegates. They held another convention, which named Samuel A. Cook for governor, but indorsed the electoral ticket chosen by the LaFollette followers. Now that the court has decided that Gov. LaFollette is the regular Republican nominee, Mr. Cook announces that he will withdraw, so that there may be no division of the party vote. The Democratic hope, therefore, that there might be two Republican tickets in the field has been dissipated, and the only possible falling off will be due to the failure of the disappointed ones to indorse the LaFollette ticket.

Since the division made itself apparent in the state conventions last May the president has carefully avoided taking sides in the contention and has refused to be drawn into it, even in the capacity of peacemaker. The only excuse, therefore, for calling the "stalwarts" the administration faction is the fact that they received the indorsement of the Republican national committee and federal officeholders. It was necessary that one side should be defeated, and if it happens to be the side that is close to the administration there is all the more reason for the LaFollette faction to demonstrate the popularity of the state issues for which it has been fighting by rolling up a large majority for the national ticket in November.

Trade Campaign in Europe.

In connection with the banquet of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association it is announced that the organization is about to enter upon a thorough advertising campaign throughout the continent of Europe. During the past few months, since the tour of West Virginia was undertaken, the association has spent $10,000 in making Pittsburgh and its products known to the people of this country, Canada, Japan, the Philippines and Australia. Now, as it is preparing for its tour of Southern Ohio, it is also arranging its advertising campaign in Europe.

The aggressiveness of the young organization challenges admiration. Of course, Pittsburgh is known the world over and it is generally understood that it is a center for the production of steel rails, channel beams and armor plate. Incidentally, some orders come this way from the ends of the earth for steel bridges and some other goods. The "M. & M.," however, proposes to convert the general knowledge of the world into an intimate acquaintance with Pittsburgh, its individual products and its business firms. It is not enough that all Europe should know that Pittsburgh is on the map and that its tonnage is the largest in the world, but the European merchant and engineer must know that in Pittsburgh they can obtain the particular article needed in their business, at a reasonable price, and they must know just how they can get it sent from Pittsburgh for the required use.

A few of the large manufacturing concerns of this city have foreign agents who keep them in touch with foreign business. That is good as far as it goes. But it will add immensely to their opportunities and to the opportunities of others to have Pittsburgh and its products thoroughly advertised to the foreign public. An agent can go after business when he knows where to go, but the man who has business to give is the one to give the agent the tip that business is brewing. He is the man who should be informed as to where he can get what he wants.

Fresh Demands for Fire Protection.

The Baltimore fire appears to have gotten upon the nerves of the underwriters, for reports upon fire risks are following faster than their recommendations can be digested. Some time ago the committee of 20 of the national board of fire underwriters made a report upon the Pittsburgh situation which recommended enlargement of the mains of the general system and provision against the ice and sand which caused so much trouble last winter at Brilliant pumping station. Well, we shall obviate the latter trouble by the construction of the filtration plant and we have been at work for several years putting in larger mains. Property owners have been expecting that their troubles with "the pink slip" and extra premium rates were about over. But it appears that another committee has been recently going over the ground again, and fresh demands of fire protection are coupled with alarmist statements. It is declared that the city must have separate mains for fire service and two fire boats to boot. "Unless Pittsburgh makes rapid improvement in its facilities for fighting fire," said Mr. Phelps of that committee, "the insurance rates will be increased 30 per cent the first of next year and risks will be refused on several downtown buildings."

A system of independent high pressure mains, not connected with the general water supply, implies a downtown pumping station. But the large mains which have been laid in the downtown section have a greater pressure than the underwriters demand for the independent mains, and even if independent mains would be desirable we cannot see why the committee should recommend both a downtown pumping station and two fire boats. The station would supply all that boats could give. Neither would help out the situation in other parts of the city where dependence must be put upon the general water system. As for the necessity of bringing the South Side under city control, intelligent public sentiment must agree with the reports of both committees.

Without taking any of these reports as the final word on the subject they are worthy of attention as indicating that Pittsburgh ought to give attention to its water supply as a whole and formulate a comprehensive plan for its improvement on lines that will secure the safety of property and satisfy reasonable requirements of the insurance men. The companies are disposed to base their rates upon possibilities instead of probabilities, which is not just. But the city should govern itself by both. The loss by a great fire would be incomparably greater than the system of protection suggested by the underwriters. The cost of insurance at the threatened rates would be greater than interest on the investment in such a plant as the underwriters demand. But before the city begins to invest it ought to have some reasonable assurance that when the system is complete the insurance companies will not demand something else. The thing to do is to consider every probability and to provide a service that will meet every reasonable requirement of security.

Panama's Peril.

It is known that the reference made to the Panama canal in Judge Parker's speech of acceptance was not satisfactory to the Democratic party of the south, and there was an outspoken demand that in his letter of acceptance he should distinctly pledge himself to the construction of the Panama canal. With this demand Judge Parker complied, saying: "Under the laws of the United States the duty is imposed on the executive to proceed with due diligence in the work of constructing the canal. That duty will be promptly performed."

One might conclude from this that there is really no practical issue over the Panama situation since the Democratic party accepts the result, although disapproving of the method by which it was obtained. But this does not necessarily follow and indeed is not consistent with the efforts which the Democratic party managers are making to give special prominence to the Panama question. On Tuesday night at Albany, David B. Hill, Judge Parker's political patron and close friend, delivered a speech on "the lawlessness of President Roosevelt displayed in the Panama affair," and it is to be circulated by the Democratic national committee as a cam as a campaign document. It is not to be presumed that all this sound and fury signifies nothing.

When the Democratic party position is examined it will be seen that the right is reserved of undoing the acts of the administration so far as that may be possible without abandoning the canal enterprise. In this respect the language of Judge Parker deserves careful consideration. He said:

> The method by which the executive acquired the Panama route and rights are a source of regret to many. To them the statement that thereby a great public work was assured to the profit of our people is not a sufficient answer to the charge of violation of national good faith. They appreciate that the principles and healthy convictions which in their working out have made us free and great, stand firmly against the argument or suggestion that we shall be blind to the nature of the means employed to promote our welfare. They hold that adherence to principle, whether it works for our good or ill, will have a more beneficent influence on our future destiny than all our material upbuilding, and that we should ever remember that the idea of doing a wrong to a smaller, weaker nation that we, or even all mankind, may have a resultant good, is repugnant to the principles upon which our government was founded.

This plainly holds that our recognition of the independence of Panama is a continuing wrong to Colombia and the admission implies that it is our duty to redress that wrong so far as is now possible, provided arrangements can be made under which we can proceed with the construction of the canal. There will be no trouble in making such an arrangement, since Colombia has declared herself willing and anxious to let us have the canal if we will facilitate the restoration of her sovereignty over Panama.

Not only is it a logical conclusion from Democratic professions that the attempt will be made but there is Democratic precedent for such a proceeding. President Harrison was denounced for the Hawaiian revolution just as President Roosevelt is now denounced for the Panama revolution. When President Cleveland was elected to succeed President Harrison, he proceeded to give effect to Democratic campaign declarations of principle by endeavoring to restore the monarchical government which had been overthrown in Hawaii. Paramount Commissioner Blount was sent out to arrange the matter, but found the undertaking impracticable, as the deposed queen would not agree to refrain from cutting off the heads of her enemies if seated upon the throne again.

The Colombia politicians will not be so unreasonable and will be likely to promise anything to get hold of Panama again. If the Democratic party is sincere in its present declarations it is bound to do what it can to put things back as they were in Panama. If they are not sincere they are deceiving the people.

Gen. Stoessel reports the Japanese losses in the latest fighting about Port Arthur at 10,000 men. According to Stoessel's estimates, Japan has sacrificed about 250,000 men at Port Arthur since June. These estimates are the only thing that detracts from Gen. Stoessel's heroic defense of his fortress.

Recent robberies committed by tramps riding on freight trains have stirred the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie to employ a force of officers to put an end to the business on its lines. The "Little Giant" sets a good example.

Insurance companies which desire to adjust rates on the assumption that every city may burn as Baltimore did, within the next three years, should guess again. It's a long time between big fires.

The peace congress at Boston has resolved to ask Russia and Japan to quit fighting. Well, it can do no harm to ask them—they can't be more than angry about it.

The fire marshal indignantly repels the intimation that Pittsburgh must pay higher insurance rates. There is good cause for his indignation.

Japan will have twenty warships built in the United States. Must be counting on losing all it now has, if necessary, to defeat the Russians.

When Czar Nicholas receives the resolution from the peace congress he may reflect upon "the saddest words of tongue or pen."

The Japanese about Mukden invariably lose in the skirmishes, just as they did about Liao-Yang prior to the big battle.

Whatever differences Wisconsin Republicans have among themselves, they are all for the national ticket.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—If Charles F. Murphy thought he had found a truculent tool of Tammany when he chose George B. McClellan for mayor, his language when he heard of the events of today must have been startling and sulphurous. For be it said Mayor McClellan this day did throw a bomb into the Tammany camp such as no Tammany official has ever thrown before. When Mayor McClellan today removed the city civil service commission and park commissioner the reasons he gave were the very reasons why faithful Tammanyites would consider these officials valuable. Park Commissioner Schmitt was convicted of holding on the payroll without pay a number of laborers, in order he might find room for an equal number not at the head of the eligible list. Needless to say, Tammany men alone profited by this expert juggling. The charge against the civil service commission is that it approved of the acts of Schmitt, else he could not have delivered the goods. This was a petty form of Tammany graft, but rumors are flying about that there are other and more important forms known unto the mayor, and therefore the Tammanyites are trembling, not knowing where the official vengeance is going to strike next. The mayor is paying attention whenever the Civil Service Reform association cares to be heard, and the association is keeping a hawk-like eye on the doings of the city officials. The mayor does not accept as true everything the association officials tell him, but he is willing to investigate, and that is all that can be asked. When he finds he has been told the truth he is quick to act. Bird S. Coler is the new head of the civil service commission, and he is another man Tammany cannot boss, so many feel convinced the change is much for the better. Mayor McClellan has given Tammany many surprises during his incumbency, and he has also surprised people in general. No one suspected the young man had so much executive ability or the backbone to ride over his political backers roughshod. But he has proved he has a way of his own, and that he wears the collar of no man or organization. New York is becoming proud of its mayor.

Where It Hurts Tammany.

The events today are likely to have a very serious effect on the Democratic vote of Greater New York in November. The Tammany organization is strictly material and pays in favors for votes delivered. If Tammany cannot keep its promises it cannot get the votes. Mayor McClellan has shown no promises that mean an overriding of the law can be kept. Consequently Tammany is likely to have trouble in keeping the workers in line when the votes are to be delivered. The bosses care little for the feelings of the laborers who lost their jobs through the action of Mayor McClellan today, but Tammany does care for the votes these same laborers cast. Not only will their votes be affected, but all the captains and their aids in the precincts will be apathetic if they cannot make good the promises with which they hold their men in line. These things, as well as the fear of what more is to come, are what are causing a feeling of dread in the Fourteenth street wigwam today.

Miss Loftus to Visit Pittsburgh.

Daniel Frohman has extended his contract with Cecelia Loftus to three years. "The Serio-Comic Governess," Mr. Zangwill's play, in which she is now appearing at the New York Lyceum theater, has met with a splendid reception during her first month's run at the Lyceum. She will continue two weeks longer and begin her traveling tour on October 24 in Pittsburgh. She will be accompanied by the same company which has been so successful at the Lyceum.

Hit in the Hypnotic Eye.

How, scientifically, to counteract the effect of a woman's hypnotic eye, Mrs. Rose Hegger of Hoboken does not know. Lacking this knowledge, she bought a stout rawhide whip and as a result she was before Recorder Stanton today on complaint of Margaret Reimer, a waitress. The latter's pretty face was a network of painful red scars where the lash had bitten. Mrs. Hegger told the magistrate she had lately noticed her husband's love was waning. He confessed and, like all men since Adam's time, blamed it all on the woman. She therefore tried to effect a cure. The magistrate paroled Mrs. Hegger on her own recognizance until Friday, when he will hear more evidence.

Pays to Escape an Honor.

Howard Gould has declined to become president of the Roosevelt and Fairbanks club, just organized at Port Washington, L. I., but he has promised to do all in his power to further the interests of the club. S. H. P. Pell, a New York business man, chairman of the organization, offered the presidency of the club to Mr. Gould, but the latter said he was too busily engaged to accept the honor. He contributed a check for $100, however, and said he would gladly give any further assistance that might be required.

Nips of New York News.

New York will not be quite happy until the American league season is finished. The race is too close for comfort.

Vecsey, the boy violinist, is to be with us a week earlier than expected. His New York season will open at Carnegie hall January 10.

Grand opera habitues are going to hear Mme. Schumann-Heink in light opera, which is something of a triumph even for a woman of her voice and reputation. Music lovers are queer people.

A woman who refused to give her name attempted to leap from a ferryboat today, but was held back and delivered to the police. She took off her hat in preparation for death. It would have been too bad to get the hat wet.

Police Commissioner McAdoo will try to secure an increase of the penalty for carrying pistols to a minimum fine of $50. That might help some, but pistol wearers are usually discovered after they have hurt someone.

Answer to Correspondent.

Subscriber—Under a late ruling of the register, it is not necessary for the lady to accompany the gentleman to the marriage license office, but she must make separate affidavit to the questions asked in the petition for a license. This she can do before an alderman or justice of the peace, after the necessary papers have been secured at the marriage license office. In many instances the newspapers are kind enough to refrain from publishing a marriage license notice, but that is a matter of courtesy for each individual newspaper. The names are always furnished by those who are employed to secure them, and requests should always be addressed to the city editor.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Johnstown is all right, all right.

The boys have had a great time during the two days past, and as they separate to go to their homes they all agree that it was good to be here.

That the southern visitors will carry with them good impressions of Johnstown and the Yankees whom they have met there can be no doubt, for they have not only been made welcome, but were shown about all that is to be seen here, which is a great deal. In fact, there are few towns in the north that have more to show, and the business men have made it a point to give the whole show.

It was something of a surprise to all visitors to learn that the Cambria Steel Company has no less than 10 miles of continuous railroad within the grounds occupied by its works. The trip over this line gave all a chance to see how immense is the business conducted here.

Great piles of ore—mountains of it, as some of the southerners expressed it—and other mountains of coal, stacks upon stacks of metal, and other stacks of billets, and finally piles of finished products, is the way it strikes the visitor. To attempt to express it in tons or any other unit of measure would be futile.

And then the trains of coal and coke and fire brick, to say nothing of the output of various manufactories, go to impress the visitor with the greatness of Johnstown. Greatness is the word, for there is no other that comes nearer expressing the truth as one sees it on a tour of the town.

+ + + +

Notwithstanding the people are so wrapped up in business, they found plenty of time to entertain the visiting members of the Fifty-fourth and One Hundred and Thirty-third regiments, together with a number of Confederate veterans. Besides these there were members of the famous Ringgold cavalry, a regiment that had more offhand arguments with the Johnnies than any other operating with the army of the Potomac.

To hear these Ringgolders talk one would think they must have slept and ate in their saddles. And so they did, and enjoyed it, too, more or less.

The idea of sleeping in the saddle while the column moved rapidly along sounds rather far-fetched to those who were not in the mounted service, or who were never kept in the saddle day and night during a long march or raid.

Every experienced trooper will tell you, and truly, that he has enjoyed many a good nap while going at a swinging trot, or lope, as it was called. And he will also tell you that his horse would sleep at the same time.

It was no unusual thing to see both men and horses jogging along with the procession while asleep. And they would get on all right until the column halted. Then there would be a lot of collisions, and maybe a few tumbles, but it was seldom that anyone was hurt.

While such sleep was not as sound and refreshing as that enjoyed in bed, it was a whole lot better than none. But there are those who contend that it was as good as any, and that they felt as well after such a nap as if they had been rolled up in blankets with saddles for pillows.

But, whether it was good, refreshing sleep or not, it answered the purpose all right, and was most thankfully received.

Infantrymen could sleep while marching along if some one would guide their steps, but if left alone they almost invariably kept veering to the left until they bumped into the fence or landed among the bushes or briers on the roadside. Horses also veered to the left, so that the left file leader must needs keep awake or all would go into the ditch.

+ + + +

There was a good deal of curiosity to hear what the Johnnies would have to say for themselves, and, now that they have had their say, all seem to be satisfied, also gratified at their expressions of loyalty, and that without cant or hypocrisy.

All who spoke had been genuine rebels and don't deny it, for they were sincere and honest in what they did.

As related in this column on Tuesday last, these men had been taught, as had their fathers and their grandfathers before them, that slavery was a divine institution and state rights a fundamental principle of our national government. It was concerning these that the south differed with the north, and it was to settle this difference that an appeal to arms was made. Both of these being knocked out, there remained no difference to quarrel about.

Naturally there would be a good deal of ill feeling, but this has well nigh passed away, and in its place has arisen a fraternal feeling that bodes as well for the future of the country as the war feeling boded ill.

The Union veterans were glad to hear their friends, once their enemies, speak out in no uncertain tones, the same as on the battlefield, for if there is one thing that a soldier despises more than another it is hypocritical cant.

The representatives here from the Confederate camps were brave soldiers, and are no less brave as private citizens. That for which they fought is dead beyond all hope of recovery, which leaves them nothing else to do but to be loyal and true citizens.

+ + + +

It would hardly have been a first-class affair if Pat Bane of Washington county had not been there. To heighten the effect this seven-foot soldier had for a buddy Davy Bryan of Johnstown, who is only about a yard high. They were a spectacle as they paraded together, and no mistake.

Among the Confederate veterans in attendance on the Fifty-fourth reunion are J. M. Sencindiver of Summit Point, W. Va., a member of Col. Turner Ashby camp, C. V., and M. L. Payne of Bunker Hill, W. Va. Mr. Payne was a member of Company B, First Virginia cavalry, in the late unpleasantness.

The One Hundred and Thirty-third regiment, a part of which was raised in this section, held its reunion and elected Dr. Thomas D. Davis of Pittsburgh president and M. D. Barndollar of Bedford secretary. Mr. Dwight Roberts of Johnstown was elected an honorary member on account of the excellent sketch he had made of Adjt. Noon, who was killed at Fredericksburg.

Among the other members of this regiment present was C. E. Reese, employed in the Pittsburgh federal building. He had with him a number of very interesting relics, including a diary of each day during his term of service. The veterans who had the privilege of looking through it found many entries which recalled old scenes and incidents. Mr. Reese also has a photograph of the battle flag of his regiment and one of Col. McCartney, who commanded it at Chancellorsville under Fighting Joe Hooker.

The following veterans of the regiment were in attendance: James M. Duncan of Munhall, John Pile, Jacob Zearfoss, Amos Knepper and H. F. Knepper of Somerset, Amos Berkey of Markleton, C. E. Reese and Dr. T. D. Davis of Pittsburgh, Henry Atchison of Milford, Morris J. Lewis of Blairsville, Leander Boyer, Frederick Keis and John W. Price.

Mr. Roosevelt's Life

Rev. Dr. J. Henry Smythe, Philadelphia.

Destiny and death, in William McKinley's untimely taking off, threw down the iron gauntlet of fate at Roosevelt's feet. He answered the awful and unexpected challenge in no uncertain tones. The tragedy at Buffalo seized for him the mountain summit for a place whereon to pitch his tent. If we believe in God then this man was destined for the mountain summit, and, except he contravene his own high destiny there he will abide under the shadow of the Almighty. He was meant for that majestic phase of existence God names "life," and this heaven-born heritage he will continue to possess unless he be his own disinheritor.

+ + + +

Life's fire is of God's kindling, and at it we are in high honor bound to warm hands and heart and brain. At this moment Theodore Roosevelt is the storm center of all the continents. His vision was clear when he looked along the sunset consummation lights of death. It will be undimmed as he rises into realms of soul sunrise. By a power invisible yet potent as Deity he has kept his life's large window pure from wrong. He is at once a revelation and a revolution. Brief years include his life, but his eventful days lack neither breadth nor height. He comes by virtue of his intense vitality to take his appointed place among the rulers of the earth. In him a generous manhood lives and moves and has its being. His words are singularly sagacious. The hero never covers up the man. Though many are hostile he feels neither doubt nor trepidation. He runs unwearied and he fights secure. By his side we take our stand. We can do no other, nor would we if we could.

+ + + +

This is not to be a campign of vituperation and abuse. Silence and solitude are suggestive. Some people clatter like empty wagons. Noise explains nothing. We are as children who play with pebbles. Tiny things engross our attention. Small matters crowd to the front. We need to be unborne, to be lifted out of our pigmy selves. To look facts in the face. To cease to be children and learn to be men. Roosevelt is God's knight-errant in the land today—sane and steady, wise and brave, and broad between the eyes, and sworn to fealty for the betterment of man. His is a clarion voice. We cannot misconceive him. Sincerity is his charm. He believes in cosmos not chaos, and he will push the battle to the gates. We love the individual flavor of his trenchant talks. He speaks the universal language which all men understand. Many of his words are bugle notes of victory, while others are sweeter than the breath of roses in radiant June. We listen to him, follow him, dream his dearms, stand to his mount of vision, imbibe his catholicity, become enlarged by contact with his bright ideas, grow gladsome in his presence, as we find in him the secret and the source of American nobility and we say, "God has grown a man—his name is Roosevelt."

+ + + +

When I look at the present executive of the White House I seem to see a picture like some "stout Cortez when with eagle eyes he stared at the Pacific—and all his men looked at each other with a wild surmise—silent, upon a peak of Darien." Only I see, not old Spain, but young America, Cuba, the far-away Philippines, and a canal in Panama, united the commerce of separate and distinct peoples.

+ + + +

In the realm of the blind the one-eyed man is king. Possibly Theodore Roosevelt is an iconoclast in the region of chronic cranks. He turns things upside down. His personality seems destined to disarm and demoralize his bitterest opponents and dominate all parties. His character is laudable and desirable. All should covet and many possess it. His swift movements are rational and progressive. In his continuous and manly antagonism against existing wrong, no fat blood slips along his veins. He is an intellectual force wrestling with ideas and using conscience as he rises to a sense of right. He is God's licensed champion of the laboring classes. In his vision of duty he is never near-sighted. He does not prate or pose or play the mugwump, but is virile, creative, stalwart, walking his way with alert mind, open to the best methods, expansive in thought and action, able and willing to help, not hinder, his face set like a flint against injustice, straightforward and manly, and enthroned of Deity in the ceaseless codes and changing conduct of the nation and the world. His father bequeathed to him a good name. He inherits greatness.

Heroism needs no ancestry. The deeds men nobly do enroll them in the aristocracy of God. On a day before the University of Edinburgh, David Livingston appeared to receive his degree. The student custom was, on such occasions, to make the recipient pay tribute in that he must stand their "guying" for a time. And this man came, bronzed and bent, one arm hanging lifeless at his side, paralyzed by a lion's teeth—this man who had endured for Christ stood up, and their jeers froze on their lips. They felt heroism stood before their eyes that day, and as he spoke, saying: "I must go back to Africa to open up new regions for commerce, and putting down the slave-trade, and for preaching Christ," their silence broke into applause instead, and wild as the huzzas of a charging brigade. This man belonged to God's aristocracy. He sleeps in Westminster abbey now among the poets, premiers, princes, kings—and he is not out of place. He belongs there. For in heaven he lives in the good fellowship of the sons of God.

+ + + +

There are those who build their homes on peaks that smite the zenith, and write their names among the stars. I know such an one today, who with high endeavor and stainless honor, warmed both hands before the fire of life. To do what he did needed the very essence of soldiership. He did not court disaster, or meet defeat, or die, but on the battle-riven heights of San Juan Hill he played the man, won his spurs, served his generation and his deed was his reward.

+ + + +

I knew him on the toilsome march, sunny-souled, frugal, heroic, tireless, obedient, sleeping under the open sky, tentless, with saddle for pillow, waiting the ruddy dawn which might never know for him a sunset. In his Rough Rider's garb he is a soldier. When he gets his street clothes on he is a citizen. When he asks for my service as a comrade and friend he is a man! And shall such a rare picture, a perpetual uplift and vision to American youthhood, be painted to be turned to the wall and all its radiant beauty be lost in dust and darkness? God forbid!

Near Allentown a few days ago a party of auto cranks encountered a big mule quietly grazing by the roadside, and the chauffeur decided he'd see how close he could steer to that mule without hitting him. The animal paid absolutely no attention to the machine until it was within three feet of him, and then let go his hind legs. One tire and the engine hood were kicked clear off the machine and the steering gear was put out of business. The mule kept on grazing, while the autoists spent several hours putting on a new tire and making other repairs.—Turtle Creek Valley Times.

The superior intelligence of a cocker spaniel dog owned on Grove avenue has been the cause of considerable embarrassment to his owner. When a puppy the animal was taught to retrieve and every morning when released from the house would go to the frontyard and bring the Derrick into the kitchen. He was made much of for his steady attention to this duty and the petting he received induced him to further efforts. Lately the owner has found as many as a half dozen Derricks in the part of the house where the spaniel was in the habit of depositing the owner's and there was just the same number of neighbors who were minus their papers. The dog's owner for the past week or two has been put to the trouble of visiting neighbors with an armful of papers and asking them if they had received their Derrick that morning. As a labor-saving contrivance the spaniel is not a complete success.—Oil City Derrick.

The committee on meetings and speakers of the Republican county committee will meet at Republican headquarters at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and a meeting of the Republican county campaign committee will be held at the same place at 3 o'clock this afternoon to arrange for details of the campaign.

Charles A. O'Brien, the well-known Democratic attorney, will, at the Republican meeting in the Belmar School hall in the Twenty-first ward, tonight, tell the residents of Homewood why the interests of the country demand the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks. Josiah Cohen and Charles H. Kline will also speak at this meeting, which is the first large ward gathering of the campaign and inaugurates the campaign for the Republican ticket in the East End wards.

New Orchestra Plans.

To accommodate those who cannot attend the ticket auction of October 20 when the first choice of the $20 and $15 evening seats for the coming Pittsburgh orchestra season will be offered, the orchestra management will provide a representative. If all who cannot personally attend the auction will notify Mr. Wilson at Hamilton Hall, Wood street, that they desire some one to represent them he will send a responsible party with whom the subscriber can make his own arrangements. This plan can also be followed at the ticket sale at Hamilton's store the day after the auction, when the balance of the $20 and $15 evening seats and the $10 evening seats will be sold to those first in line. The subscription coupon, which must be procured before anyone can bid at the auction on the 20th, or buy on the 21st, is open to all and can be had at Mr. Wilson's office or at Hamilton's store any time before the evening of October 19.

COURT SUSTAINS GOV. LAFOLLETTE

Decision Is Rendered on the Wisconsin State Republican Ticket.

STATE IS FOR ROOSEVELT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MADISON, WIS., Oct. 5.—The supreme court today decided the LaFollette state Republican ticket regular. Three judges, Marshall, Dodge and Winslow, are for the LaFollete faction. Chief Justice Cassoday dissented.

The struggle between the followers of Gov. Robert M. LaFollette, who are known as the "Halfbreeds," and the "Stalwarts," who are headed by Senators Spooner and Quarles, originated some time prior to the holding of the state convention on May 18, 1904, when the open rupture between the two factions occurred. The state central committee, which issued the call for the convention, was composed of a chairman and 22 members, 16 of whom were adherents of Gov. LaFollette.

The state central committee, in its call for the convention, announced that it would act as a committee on credentials and determine what delegates were entitled to seats in the convention hall. The stalwarts asserted that the state central committee, as a committee on credentials, excluded from the convention many properly accredited delegates who were antagonistic to LaFollette, and substituted men favorable to him. The LaFollette followers and the majority of the state central commmittee declared this assertion of the stalwarts to be untrue and say that no properly accredited delegate was denied a seat, and that the delegates who were finally admitted to participate in the convention were the only men from the contested districts entitled to the privilege.

When the state convention met the stalwarts withdrew in a body and held a convention of their own, nominating Samuel A. Cook. Both conventions named the same presidential electors. At the national convention in Chicago the stalwart delegates were seated. Then the stalwarts asked the supreme court to enjoin Secretary of State Houser from certifying the candidates named by the convention and placing their names on the Republican ticket. On this issue the decision was rendered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Acting Secretary Taylor of the treasury department, a Wisconsin citizen and an opponent of LaFollette, said:

"In my judgment, the decision will result in the election of Peck as governor. The Cook ticket will be withdrawn entirely. This will leave but one set of Republican electors on the ballot, and it will insure the full Republican vote being cast for the Roosevelt electors. Had there been two lists of Republican electors much confusion would have resulted, and there would have been many spoiled ballots.

"There has never been any doubt Mr. Roosevelt would carry the state. The effect of the decision, however, will be to strengthen his vote. I regard 50,000 as the minimum of his majority in the state. Undoubtedly there will be much cutting of the state ticket on the governorship.

"'Stalwart' voters will feel themselves at liberty to vote for Mr. Peck on the ground that they regard Mr. LaFollette as an unfit man for governor."

MARITAL INFELICITY.

Attorney Knocks Down His Wife and Takes Her Purse from Her.

A prominent attorney was arrested at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street yesterday afternoon for taking his wife's pocketbook and then administering to her a severe beating. The couple was taken to the Central station and Assistant Superintendent Kennelly heard their story and discharged them. The attorney has entered suit against his wife for a divorce. They met on the street corner yesterday and the woman, the police say, was intoxicated.

The attorney did not like to think that he was paying his wife's expenses during the course of the divorce proceedings and he took her purse from her. The woman struck at him with her umbrella and was knocked down. The affair attracted considerable attention in the crowded streets and the police had considerable trouble to get the prisoners through the crowd to the patrol wagon.

President Issues a Proclamation to People of the United States.

WYNNE TO FILL THE OFFICE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The president today issued the following proclamation:

To the People of the United States:

Henry Clay Payne, postmaster general of the United States, died in this city at 10 minutes past 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Rising to eminence by his own efforts, successful in his enterprises, attaining to positions of high trust in private business, energetic and conscientious in his relations with his fellowmen, of singularly gentle, loyal and lovable nature, inspired by a large sense of the duties of a true citizen, and winning the respect and esteem of all with whom he associated, he was called, in the fullness of his powers to discharge the duties of a peculiarly onerous and responsible office in the high councils of the nation. His career is an example for good citizens to follow, and his untimely death is mourned by all.

The president directs that the several executive departments and their dependencies shall show fitting regard for the memory of this distinguished public man; that the departments in the city of Washington shall be closed between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 1 o'clock p. m. on the day of the funeral, Friday, the 7th inst., and that the national flag shall be displayed at half-mast upon all public buildings throughout the United States from now until the funeral shall have taken place.

By direction of the president.

JOHN HAY.

Department of State, Washington, Oct. 5, 1904.

President Roosevelt today formally designated First Assistant Postmaster General Robert J. Wynne as acting postmaster general.

President Roosevelt called today at the apartments of the late postmaster general to extend his personal condolences. A vast number of telegrams were received today from all over the country, a large portion of them coming from Wisconsin. A request has been made by friends in Milwaukee of the family that consent be given for a public service in that city.

It was decided today that Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger should represent the postoffice department at the funeral of Mr. Payne at Milwaukee.

Among those sending messages of condolence were Mrs. Quay and Mrs. Hanna, who said: "I know how to mourn with you, and I do from the bottom of my heart."

TO ELECT OFFICERS.

Fourteenth Regiment Commander Calls Company D to Vote for Captain and Lieutenants.

Orders have been issued by Col. W. E. Thompson of the Fourteenth regiment for the election in Company D, to fill the positions of captain and lieutenant. The vacancy was created by the election of Franklin Blackstone as senior major of the regiment. David C. Farrar, one of the charter members of the company, who was recently appointed to the staff position of regimental adjutant, with the rank of captain, is a candidate for the captaincy of the company. Maurice E. Barr, now second lieutenant, is a candidate for the position of first lieutenant. No one is known as yet to be an active candidate for second lieutenant.

The election will be held on the evening of Monday, October 17, at the company's armory, 111 Federal street, Allegheny.

Want Better Sanitary Conditions.

The Homestead board of health is to commence a vigorous campaign for better sanitary conditions in the meat markets of Homestead, especially among the foreigners in the Second ward. Drs. H. H. Huff and William Frye yesterday made an inspection of several of the foreign markets, and they claim that owing to their condition, they will enter suit against the proprietors today.

Dear Sir:—After a sickness of more than five years, I was tempted to try your Kidney and Backache Cure. In the mean time I had tried or been under about 20 doctors care at the beginning of my trouble. It was thought to be only a local one, but as time wore on I became worse, so that at last I could not stand on my feet. Then my arms and hands became useless.

But at last after a very long time the use of both came back to me so that I could walk a little with the aid of crutches. The Doctors helped me to this point and no further, and for 2½ years I kept in the same condition.

Through the use of your Kidney and Backache Cure I am now in good health.

Will say, the doctors told me—all of them—that there was no cure for me, because I was then suffering from Lo-Co-Moter Ataxia.

I Remain yours Respectfully,
W. B. DREW,

SOCIETY

MRS. WYNN R. SEWELL and her sister, Mrs. Julia Watson Horne, will leave Pittsburgh October 25, sailing from Vancouver, British Columbia, six days later on the Empress of Japan. They expect to travel through Japan and later in the year go to India, returning home next spring through Europe.

Miss Elizabeth Howe, who was to have accompanied Mrs. Sewell and Mrs. Horne, has changed her plans and will remain at home this winter. Miss Howe is now in New York. Accompanied by Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., Miss Willa Forsythe and Count Cini, Miss Howe went to New York on Sunday evening. Count Cini, whose engagement to Miss Howe is one of the recent announcements, sails this week for his home in Rome, Italy. Mrs. Jones, Miss Howe and Miss Forsythe are expected home during the latter part of the week. Last Sunday Mrs. Sewell, with whom Miss Howe spent the summer at Bar Harbor, Me., entertained at luncheon for Miss Howe and Count Cini at the Allegheny Country club.

Scott-Gibbs.

An unusually pretty wedding yesterday afternoon was that of Miss Adah Graham Scott, daughter of the late John Scott of this city, and Charles Gibbs, which took place at the home of the bride in Stanton avenue, East End. The Rev. Robert M. Russell, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, of which both the bride and bridegroom are members, performed the ceremony at 5:30 o'clock. Miss Lillie Scott, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Mary Griffiths of Washington, Pa., was bridesmaid. William Wilson was best man and Edward Dunlap of New York the only usher. Only the immediate relatives and most intimate friends witnessed the marriage, which was followed by a large reception. Miss Mary Scott, an elder sister of the bride, received with Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs.

The wedding was marked by artistic decorations. The drawing room was done entirely in green and white. Tall palms stood at each side of the white mantel, which was almost hidden beneath white asters and long-fronded Cibodian ferns. A pretty note of contrast was given by masses of pink roses adorning the chandelier. The red walls of the hall were veiled with smilax. In the library the lights glimmered softly through shades of yellow flowers. Pink roses were used on the bridal table in the dining room. The bride's gown was of soft white satin and duchesse lace. Her veil was fastened with orange blossoms and her flowers were roses showered with lilies of the valley. Miss Griffiths and the maid of honor wore similar gowns of white chiffon cloth and duchesse lace and carried clusters of pink roses. Late last evening Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs left for their wedding journey, at the conclusion of which they will be at home in North St. Clair street. Thursdays in November after November 15 have been announced as at-home days. Mr. Gibbs is connected with the firm of Reymer Bros. of this city.

Golden Wedding in Braddock.

The Rev. Isaac Cramer and his wife of Shady park, North Braddock, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. I. Phillips, North Braddock, yesterday. Almost 400 persons called at the house during the afternoon and evening. There are 39 grandchildren, almost all of whom were present. At 6 o'clock there was a family dinner, at which 50 members were present. From 7 to 10 o'clock a reception was held. An interesting feature was the reading of a history of the Cramer family from the time of its settlement in New Jersey the latter part of the seventeenth century, which had been compiled by Joseph Cramer of Indiana, the oldest brother of the Rev. Mr. Cramer.

On October 5, 1854, Isaac Cramer married Susan Boyer of Somerset, Pa. Mrs. Mary Black of Pittsburgh was bridesmaid and Robert Barclay of Johnstown was groomsman. Late yesterday afternoon they arrived for the family dinner and were present as attendants when the Rev. W. J. Lowstuter of the Methodist Episcopal church, Braddock, performed the golden wedding service last evening in the presence of more than 200 guests. The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Cramer have lived in Braddock for 27 years. The Rev. Mr. Cramer has been active in the local ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church in the Braddock district for the past quarter of a century. A delegation of 35 former friends of the family from Johnstown arrived at noon yesterday and many came from other places. All the children were present. They are William F. Cramer, John Cramer, Mrs. Samuel S. Thomas, Mrs. W. I. Phillips and Mrs. Roxanna Pierce, all of Braddock; T. J. Cramer of Wilkinsburg, Catherine Smitley of Swissvale and Mrs. Grace McFarland of North Braddock.

Fifty Years Married.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Law of Swissvale, members of pioneer families of the Braddock district, was a notable event of yesterday. It was celebrated at their handsome new home at 7421 Washington street. For the first time in many years all the children of Mr. and Mrs. Law were together. One of the sons, Edward Law, superintendent of the United States Smelting Company's furnaces at Salt Lake City, Utah, with his wife, came east for the celebration. About 200 friends called at the home of the aged couple yesterday afternoon and last evening to extend their congratulations. The receptions were informal.

The family reunion dinner was served from 6 to 7:30 o'clock, and about 45 persons sat down to it. At the reunion were the five sons of the couple with their wives and seven grandchildren. There was one great grandchild, Harold Francis Law, son of Earl Law of North Braddock, the latter being a son of Solomon Law. The sons are: Solomon of North Braddock, Edward of Salt Lake City, Alexander of Shady Park, Daniel Oskin Law of Homestead and Willis Burton Law of North Braddock, all prominent in the various plants of the Carnegie Steel Company in the Monongahela valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Law came from old families of the Monongahela valley. The parents of both were living near each other at the close of the Revolutionary war as children in old Mifflin township. Both the celebrants of yesterday were born in the settlement of Green Springs in Mifflin township, opposite Eighth street, Braddock. Mr. Law was born about 71 years ago and married Catharine C. Linhart, a daughter of Solomon Linhart, October 5, 1854. Twenty-two years ago they moved to Braddock from Hannatown.

Gleffer-Kelley.

The Grace Reformed church in Dithridge street was the scene of an interesting little wedding last evening when Miss Anna Converse Gleffer, the daughter of Mrs. Anna Gleffer, and Samuel Beech Kelley were married at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. John M. Prugh, pastor of the church and an intimate friend of the bride's family, officiated. Miss Pauline Gleffer was her sister's only attendant. Charles Kelley of New York was the best man and the ushers included Jarvis E. Williams, Oscar Lepper, Dr. Caspar Long and Harry Lee Blackmore. Harry W. Gleffer, an uncle of the bride, gave her away.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white crepe meteor, made in princesse effect and exquisitely trimmed, a great deal of hand work making it especially dainty. The veil was fastened with a Prince of Wales plume and white roses and lilies of the valley were combined in the bouquet. The bride's only ornament was a pearl pin, the gift of the bridegroom. A gown of white crepe de chine with high girdle of pale green chiffon was worn by the maid of honor, who carried an immense bouquet of smilax and asparagus fern tied with green maline and soft white satin ribbon.

The church and house were decorated in green and white, large white chrysanthemums and palms being used at the church. The mantels throughout the house were banked with ferns and smilax clambered over the doors and windows. Feathery chrysanthemums were also used in all the rooms and on the supper tables. After an eastern trip Mr. Kelley and his bride will be at home in Euclid and Margaretta streets, receiving their friends after November 1. Mr. Kelley is a son of Albert Kelley of Sewickley and is connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Snyder-Peters.

The wedding last night of Miss Mary Lanmore Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder of Beaver to Dr. Charles Edward Peters of Pittsburgh, which occurred at the bride's home was the most brilliant social event of the early fall. Although the guest list was very large on account of the many relatives present only the more intimate friends were invited. The Rev. Dr. Appleton Bash, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her twin sister, Mrs. B. E. Thompson, while Mr. Thompson was best man. The bride's brothers, W. H. and W. J. Snyder stretched the cords to form the bridal path and Wesley Snyder, a little nephew, was ring bearer. Pink and white predominated in the decorations. The bride wore a white gown of white crepe meteor elaborately trimmed with hand made lace orange blossoms. The bridesmaid wore her wedding gown, a robe of exquisite pattern and carried an armful of la France roses. After an eastern honeymoon tour Dr. and Mrs. Peters will be at home at 5117 Centre avenue, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Burchfield's Luncheon.

Miss Eleanor Turnbull Gibson, an October bride-elect, was the guest of honor at a daintily appointed luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. A. P. Burchfield of South Negley avenue. Bride's roses were used to decorate the table and for favors there were autograph pho graphs of the bride-elect tied with silver wed bells and gauze ribbon, the guest of ho ceiving one of her fiance, William Mc binson. The photographs were snap n by Miss Mary Burchfield. The erday included Miss Gibson, Miss hambers, Mrs. Alfred Hine, Mrs. re, Miss Edith Speer, Mrs. How ns, Mrs. Ralph Richards, Miss Miss Helen Lewis, Miss Mary Mrs. Raymond Evans. Miss invitations out for a luncheon y.

r Philadelphia Girl.

ueis of South Negley avenue, East End, was hostess at a charming little luncheon of 12 covers yesterday in honor of Miss Florence Shapley of Philadelphia, the house guest of Mrs. William M. Furey of Aiken avenue. Yellow was the prevailing color, the centerpiece being of yellow dahlias, the favors yellow baskets of candy and the place cards water-colored sketches done in yellow.

The guests included Miss Shapley, Mrs. Furey, Mrs. Frederick R. Babcock, Mrs. James McCutcheon, Miss Bessie Dickie, Mrs. William Herron, Mrs. Scott A. White, Mrs. E. L. Mattern, Miss Elizabeth Herron, Mrs. Andrew Herron and Mrs. Joseph Jones. Mrs. Furey will entertain today in honor of Miss Shapley, who will leave for her home on Friday.

Gladden-Ridall.

Miss Iva C. Gladden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gladden of McDonald, was married at the home of her parents last night to Samuel Ridall of Pittsburgh in the presence of a large number of guests. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Irons of the McDonald Presbyterian church. Mrs. William Flood Rafferty, a recent bride, was matron of honor at the wedding, the bridegroom being her brother. Miss Anne Gladden was maid of honor, Walter C. Phelan of Canada best man and the ushers were Frank R. Gladden and Verner E. Campbell. After the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after 7:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Ridall left McDonald last night for a wedding trip. Many Pittsburgh guests were present at the wedding and reception.

Ewalt-Simpson.

One of the daintiest of the early fall weddings was that of Miss Adda Lorinda Ewalt, daughter of Mrs. Mary and the late George W. Ewalt, and Walter Le Roy Simpson, which was a home event of Wednesday evening. Music was furnished by Miss Lucille Ewalt, the bride's sister, and the Rev. P. E. Simpson, pastor of the Allison Park United Presbyterian church, father of the groom, officiated. Mrs. Simpson is a graduate of Slippery Rock class of 1902. Mr. Simpson is a young business man of Pittsburgh. After the wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Simpson left for the east, and will be at home after October 10 at the home of the bride's mother in Allison Park, Pa.

Harrison-Hopkins.

The marriage of Miss Anna Mary Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Harrison, to George Adams Hopkins of Wilkinsburg, took place last night at the home of the bride, South avenue, Wilkinsburg. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Thomas Parry of the First Presbyterian church. The wedding was a quiet one. The couple left for the east and will make an extended European tour, returning December 1 when they will be at home in South avenue, Wilkinsburg.

Home from Summer Trips.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Lewis and the members of their family are home from Craigie Lea, Lake Joseph, Canada, where they spent the summer.

Mrs. James Collord of Fifth avenue and her daughter, Miss Vernie Collord, came home yesterday from Atlantic City, where they have been since August.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mahood returned yesterday to their home in Princeton place, East End, closing their summer home, "Maple Shade," near Verona.

Philopatrians' First Reception.

The new Catholic Philopatrian club held its first fall reception last night in Thuma's academy in Fifth avenue. The club is composed of young people of the various parishes in the Pittsburgh diocese, together with many non-Catholics who have been associated in a social way with the Philapatrians. Some beautiful prizes were given in the euchre. The hall and the reception rooms were decorated in the American and papal colors entwined. The distribution of the beautiful Philopatrian badges took place during the evening. The emblems are of unique design and the badge committee received much praise for its work.

Larimer-Inskeep.

IRWIN, Oct. 5.—Miss Jean Larimer of Circleville and Caleb H. Inskeep of McKeesport were united in marriage this evening at the country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Larimer. More than 100 guests were present. The Rev. J. C. Oliver of the Long Run Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony, Miss Carrie Larimer, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and A. L. McFarlane of Circleville was best man. After a wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Inskeep left on an eastern wedding trip, and on their return will reside in McKeesport.

Mrs. Garner With Mrs. Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Jarvis Adams of Fifth avenue, near Emerson, are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. John L. Garner of Denver, Col. Mrs. Garner has been in the city for a week and expects to remain until the latter part of this month. Miss Janet Browne, Mrs. Adams' niece, who is still visiting her father in Hopwoods, Va., will also come back to town before Mrs. Garner leaves.

Pittsburgh Girl a Bridesmaid.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—Miss Rachel Phillips Pearce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pearce of Rosemont, today became the bride of Reginald Hewson Schenck of New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur B. Conger, in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rosemont, at 4 o'clock. Among the attendants was Miss Mary L. Price of Pittsburgh.

Hope-Young.

Miss Marie M. Hope and Charles A. Young were married yesterday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hope of Allegheny. After the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Young left for the St. Louis exposition. The bridegroom is identified with the Pennsylvania Clay Company.

Miss Rodgers Will Wed Today.

The rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Alice Ophelia Rodgers and Herbert Hamilton will take place early this afternoon at "Windsor," the home of Miss Rodgers' parents, Capt. and Mrs. William Berlean Rodgers, in Bellevue. The wedding will take place this evening at "Windsor."

Oliver-Young.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Kountze Oliver and John Paul Young took place yesterday at the summer residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Oliver, in Cobourg, Canada.

Notes of Society.

Miss Grace Dickenson entertained informally yesterday in honor of Miss Lottie Lillian Jahn.

An entertainment will be given this evening in the Buena Vista Street Methodist Episcopal church under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

The Hay Ride club of the South Side will hold its first ride of the saeson on Saturday. The following members will take part: H. M. Dodge, Gomer Jenkins, Gomer Evans, Owen G. Owens, Harry Demmer, Harry Stieb, Rolo Long, Claud Wallace and Joseph Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hess and her daughter of St. Louis, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Maddy of Baltimore, Md., who have been visiting Mrs. A. P. Moore of South Negley avenue, have returned home.

PERSONALS

Maj. Gen. Joseph Wheeler, retired, accompanied by Dr. S. M. McClean of Cleveland, inventor of the McClean non-rebounding gun device, passed through the city last night over the Pennsylvania railroad on their way to Washington. The object of their eastern trip is to appear before the board of ordnance of the coast fortifications of the United States government with a view of demonstrating the effectiveness of the new war machinery. Dr. McClean, in describing the gun, said that its quality in reducing the force of firing results is a saving of least 10 per cent. He says that for every pound of energy required to discharge a projectile 1 per cent of the force is wasted in the reaction of the gun. By his device all the gas thrown out of the present guns is conserved for operating the machinery. The devic also saves the gun from wearing out so rapidly. With reducing the force of power needed to fire the projectile and the saving in the life of the gun the invention will give the same amount of service for at least 25 per cent less cost. The device can be used on any gun, from 1 inch to 13 inch.

Charles L. Taylor, manager of the Carnegie sick benefit relief fund and a member of the Carnegie hero fund, left last night for Atlantic City on a pleasure trip.

A number of Pittsburgh bankers left last evening over the Pennsylvania railroad for Atlantic City, where they will attend the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Bankers' association. The party occupied two special coaches.

At a meeting of the Pittsburgh assembly, Brotherhood of St. Andrew, to be held in St. Peter's Episcopal parish house, Fifth and Craft avenues, Saturday evening of this week, the guest of honor will be George A. King of London, first vice president of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in England. Mr. King is touring the United States and has been in attendance upon the national convention of the brotherhood in Philadelphia. The meeting on Saturday evening will be open to all men who may desire to listen to Mr. King.

Bartley Catley, captain of engine company No. 1, will leave today for Colorado Springs to attend the national convention of the Y. M. I., which opens on the 10th inst. He is the grand president of the Pennsylvania jurisdiction, which embraces this state, New York, New Jersey and the New England states. Other delegates from this state are P. H. McGuire and Thomas Manning of this city and M. L. McCarty of Germyn.

The Pittsburgh Laundrymen's association, after its regular semi-monthly meeting at the Hotel Henry last evening, was tendered a banquet by William B. Given, president of the Wilson Laundry Machine Company of Columbia. About 50 were present. One of the subjects considered was the alleged exorbitant water rent charged by the city on washers used by laundries. A test case is being made and one member of the association is refusing to pay rent except on one washer until the matter is finally settled in the courts.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Southern Women Form New Club.

A number of the southern women in Pittsburgh met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John M. L'Amour and organized a new club, whose membership will be limited to 20. Many of the members of the new club were among the founders of the Southern Women's society formed only a year ago and the desire for a smaller organization which the members will be capable of entertaining in their own homes and thus preserving to the greatest degree the social features of a club prompted the new organization, which will met on the first and third Wednesday of each month.

The club met yesterday afternoon and elected officers: Mrs. John M. L'Amour, president; Mrs. G. F. Ransome, first vice president; Mrs. J. O. Ewing, second vice president, Mrs. James M. Drill, recording secretary; Mrs. W. A. Kulp, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. P. Glenn, treasurer; Mrs. J. Claire Walker, musical director, and Mrs. W. C. Weckerly, critic. After the business of organization was concluded the women discussed informally the proposed celebration of the settlement of Jamestown. The club indorsed heartily the movement in behalf of the teachers. Glimpses of the St. Louis exposition were given by Mrs. James M. Drill, supplemented by others who have visited it. The musical program was presented by Mrs. F. B. Ransome. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. W. P. Glenn.

Consumers League Planning Work.

Miss Eliza D. Armstrong, president of the state board of the Consumers' league, will issue a call for a meeting of the board to be held in Lancaster during the meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women. Mrs. Florence Kelley and Capt. J. C. Delaney, the state factory inspector, will be in attendance at the federation to speak at the special session, devoted to child labor and its legislative needs and the opportunity of a conference with them will be seized by the members of the state board of the Consumers' league.

The board of directors of the Western Pennsylvania branch of the Consumers' league met yesterday morning in the Twentieth Century club house. The president, Miss Armstrong, was present and plans of work for the winter were discussed. The day of meeting was changed from the first Wednesday in each month to the first Thursday. The nominating committee, consisting of Miss Beulah Kennard, Miss M. E. Stevenson, Miss Elizabeth Mitchell, Mrs. J. J. Covert and Miss Anna O'Neill, will prepare a ticket for election at the annual meeting of the branch, which will be held in November. A special speaker will be secured for the general public meeting which will follow the election.

An Elaborate President's Day.

The entertainment committee of the Wimodausis club met yesterday to complete arrangements for President's day, which will be observed next Tuesday afternoon in Syria temple. In addition to the social features there will be the presentation of the reports of the club's four delegates to the biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in St. Louis last May. The reports will be short, Mrs. William J. Askin telling of the business accomplished by the federation; Mrs. Charles R. Dallas reporting the resolutions and the unexpected features of the meeting; Mrs. Sophie Miller describing the social affairs arranged for the delegates with the exception of those which occurred within the exposition grounds. They fail to the lot of Miss Cara Reese, who will describe the reception in the German pavilion, another in the Woman's building and the luncheon at which Miss Helen Gould presided. The afternoon has been arranged as a social day for the club members and their friends, honoring their president and auspiciously opening the club year.

Women's Work for Missions.

The second day's sessions of the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Pittsburgh synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church closed last evening with an enthusiastic gathering in Trinity Lutheran church, Allegheny. For the morning the treasurer reported $4,364 given to missions during the year which was supplemented by a large silver offering at the convention.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Mary Barr of Guntur, India, was given the chautauqua salute. Mrs. Marion Honkey of New Kensington, Pa., secretary of the home department made her report which showed that the department has six homes. The report of Mrs. J. C. Lynch of Wheeling W. Va., secretary of the Young People's societies, showed that there are now seven societies in the Pittsburgh synod, three of which have been organized this year. Mrs. John H. Boilen of Bellevue, secretary of the Children's branch and Cradle Roll, showed that there are five children's bands and 4 cradle rolls. The Troy Hill (Allegheny) Cradle Roll showed a membership of 201, the largest in the synod.

Will Open Night School.

The board of managers of the Protestant Home for Boys at the regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon decided to open evening school for the boys, the school to be conducted in the home. Heretofore the boys have been attending the night ward school, but the results were not always satisfactory. Eventually the managers hope to add manual training to the regular work in the night school. The managers also decided to enlarge the library and will give a book reception late in the month. From the funds which will be solicited at that time new books will be purchased for the library. At present there are 15 boys in the home, all of whom are employed. Yesterday the managers discussed methods of advertising the home by means of cards placed in prominent places and in stores, directing boys to the home. Fourteen of the managers were present.

Musicians With the Tourists.

The Tourists' club will meet on Monday afternoon in the Business Women's club rooms in Allegheny to inaugurate its year with the observance of President's day. Mrs John Cowley will make the president's address and Miss Julia M. Harding, president of the Twentieth Century club, will be one of the guests of honor and speak. The music on Monday afternoon will be a special feature of the occasion. The Tourist quartette, consisting of Miss Emma Boltz, Miss Evelyn Day, Miss Ella Day and Miss Alice Stevens, will sing, and the soloists will be Mrs. Arthur Tracher, Miss Marion Gaston, Mrs. Anson J. Dill and Miss Julia E. Doran. At 5 o'clock tea will be served.

Cot Club Elected Officers.

At the first meeting of the season of the West Penn Hospital Cot club, yesterday, the following officers were elected President, Mrs. William H. Normecutt; vice president, Miss Florence Davis; secretary, Miss Lottie Jeffries; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Johnston. The members will decide at their next meeting what work they will undertake for the winter, and it is probable that they will furnish the maternity ward in the hospital. The club entered on its eleventh year yesterday. Resolutions were adopted on the death of Miss Annie Dickson Karns, who was one of the oldest and most active workers in the club. The next meeting will be held on the first Wednesday in November at the home of Miss Edith Holt, in Rippey street.

Mourn Death of Senator Hoar.

The Wilkinsburg Woman's Suffrage club met at the home of Mrs. R. B. Clark, Franklin street, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Charles Gray presided. Resolutions of regret for the death of Senator Hoar, who had always been a firm advocate of equal rights, were passed. Mrs. Margaret Negley of Allegheny was elected a delegate to the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women which convenes in Lancaster this month with Miss Lydie Koethen of Stanton avenue, East End, alternate.

Will Have Benefit Entertainment.

A benefit entertainment will be held early next year by the members of the board of directors of the Homeopathic hospital, who met yesterday morning. The directors wish to make a plea for second-hand clothing which they may give to the patients leaving the hospital scantily clad. Little else was done at the meeting outside discussion concerning the proposed benefit, for which no definite plans have as yet been formed.

Nurses Elect a Delegate.

At the regular meeting of the West Penn Graduate Nurses association yesterday the members elected Miss Leigh Thompson as delegate to the State Nurses association, which convenes in Philadelphia, October 26, 27, and 28. After the business meeting luncheon was served by the authorities of the West Penn hospital, the meeting being held in the parlors of the institution.

Educational Committee Met.

The educational committee of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association met yesterday morning in the college building in Fifth avenue, Oakland. A letter was sent to Miss Susan Blow asking her approval for certain dates for the lectures which she will deliver before the association early in November.

Scattering the Sunshine.

The Pittsburgh branch of the International Sunshine society met yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. F. O. Van Gorder, in Negley avenue. The usual reports were read by the visiting committees. Last month a very successful entertainment was held at the Home for Incurables, those in charge being Mrs. J. C. Wilson, Mrs. John Simpson and Mrs. Woods.

OFFICERS CHANGE PLACES.

Company I Election Results in Shift of Two Highest in Command.

Company I, Eighteenth regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, elected officers last evening and the election resulted in a shift of the officers occupying the positions of captain and first lieutenant.

Two weeks ago Capt. E. E. Sleppy of Company I resigned and an election was ordered to choose his successor. The election was held last evening under the charge of Capt. Albert Succop of Company B. It resulted in the election of First Lieutenant Robert J. Woodside as captain and the late captain was chosen to fill the vacancy made by the advancement of the first lieutenant. Capt. Sleppy resigned because of the pressure of other business, which prevented him from filling the office of captain.

Have Your Suit Cleaned and Pressed

A New Process Will Make It Look Like a New Suit of Clothes.

The new process of the Linnekin company for cleaning clothing will make your suit look brand new. It is impossible to get through a season in Pittsburgh without having some cleaning done. Better have it done now. It means practically a new suit for you the remainder of the year.

The new process of the Linnekin company cleans clothing perfectly and does not leave a trace of the cleaning method, as all other processes do. Linnekin's prices are about 20 per cent lower than those of other establishments.

SMOKY ISLAND BELONGS TO CITY

United States Circuit Court of Appeals Decides Title Claim in Favor of Allegheny.

B. & O. YARDS NOW ON LAND

By the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia yesterday, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company's yards on Smoky island, Allegheny, are declared void, and an order requiring the railroad to remove the yards will be issued, it is said. The decision reverses the United States circuit court here.

The title goes back to the city of Allegheny, and the case is a victory scored by Dr. R. H. Gilliford and Marcus A. Woodward, Esq., for the property owners along South avenue.

Smoky island, as it is generally called, is now a part of the First ward of Allegheny. It was created by the wash of the Allegheny, and this action continued until the back channel between the island and Allegheny was entirely filled and the island became attached to the mainland above the water. It adjoins the Exposition park.

Given to Patentees.

The value of the property affected is not definitely known. It amounts to 80 acres, and was obtained by the railroad from the city in consideration of $35,000 and the paving of two short streets. The full extent of the "island" is 96 acres, 16 acres of this having been obtained after some litigation 20 or 30 years ago by Robert W. Mackey, Gen. James K. Moorhead and Former Chief Justice Paxson of the Pennsylvania supreme court under a patent from the state. The ordinance of Allegheny councils conveying the property to the Pittsburgh & Western, now the Baltimore & Ohio, was passed in 1898.

In order to reclaim the land from the railroad company Messrs. Gilliford and Woodward took the matter into the United States circuit court here, Victoria Murray, a citizen of Maryland, who owned some adjacent property, being the plaintiff. On the trial the city of Allegheny denied having any title in the land, and the court refused to grant the injunction asked. This was in 1900. Mr. Woodward took an appeal. The case was argued before the superior court with the outcome as announced yesterday. Part of the opinion follows:

The Court's Opinion.

Victoria Murray, a citizen of Maryland and the owner of a lot in Allegheny City, abutting in River avenue, brought this equity bill to restrain the alienation of said city of certain land pursuant to an ordinance then pending in city councils and about to be passed. The article contained a proposed article of agreement, which the mayor by its terms was authorized to execute in behalf of the city, with the Pittsburgh & Western railway, a corporation, and its receiver, Thomas King, whereby in consideration of the payment by the railroad of certain specified terms toward the cost of the improvement of South avenue and River avenue, on which property of the railway company abuts, the city of Allegheny agreed to execute and deliver to the parties of the first part all its right, title and interest of, in and to all that land commonly known as the old river channel, between the south line of bank late in South avenue and to the north side of Smoky or Kilbuck island; and that it will not at any time hereafter, in any way or by any means, question or dispute the title of the parties of the first part therein.

By the proposed agreement the city was also to grant to the said railway company the right to lay an additional track upon the Allegheny wharf from Darrah street to Herrs island bridge. The Pennsylvania assembly of September 11, 1787, authorized the president or vice president in council to lease, to be laid and surveyed a town, in lots and outlots, upon a tract of 3,000 acres reserved to the use of the state in and by the act of March 12, 1783, and described in those acts as "an oblong of not less than one mile in depth from the Allegheny and Ohio rivers and extending up and down said rivers from opposite Fort Pitt so far as may be necessary to include the same," and the act of September 11, 1787, disclosed that the streets, lanes and alleys of the said town and outlots shall be common highways forever."

Accordingly a plan of a town of lots and outlots was laid out upon said reservation along and upon the Allegheny and Ohio rivers and was named "Allegheny," and the plan was duly placed upon record in the surveyor general's office of the commonwealth. Subsequently the commonwealth sold these lots and outlots in accordance with this plan. The master's report in the present case contains the following finding of faces, which the evidence fully sustains.

Bank Route Established.

"That along the banks of the Ohio and Allegheny rivers a highway was laid out, as shown upon said plan for the lots named and the said council as river lots, and for the lots in said plan and for public use, and for public access to the said rivers, and this highway extended in width from the abutting named by said council 'Bank lane,' and the lots to the river at low water mark and was establishment of the said 'Bank lane' was to give and did give the right of access and river privilege and wharfage to the said river lots and to the said town and to the public."

No definite width was given to Bank lane by said plan. As shown by the plan the south line of the river lots is the north line of Bank lane, and the other widens and extends laterally to the rivers.

By the act of April 14, 1828, Allegheny town was erected into a borough, and the boundaries, including those to the middle of the rivers, were again disclosed and confirmed by the act of April 14, 1838. It appears from the evidence that when Allegheny was laid out, and thereafter until about 1840, there was an island known as Kilbuck or Smoky island in the Ohio with its upper end extending to or into the mouth of the Allegheny. Shown by the original plan of the town, this island was surrounded by the waters of the Allegheny and Ohio and was separated from Bank lane by a channel in which part of the river ran, although the main channel was on the other or south side of said island. The site of this island is within the statutory boundaries of the borough of Allegheny and of the city of Allegheny.

The legislature of 1873 passed an act perfecting the title of Kilbuck island and authorized the surveyor general to issue a patent therefor. Accordingly a patent was issued to the persons named in the act. These patentees and others claiming under them, brought an action of ejectment against the city of Allegheny for the island embraced in this act and patent issued under it. There was a verdict for the plaintiffs and judgment in their favor, but the recovery was limited to the low-water line on its north side, as the island was in 1806. It appears from the master's report and otherwise that at the particular locality with which we are here concerned the city of Allegheny by municipal action gave to Bank lane the new name of South avenue, and laid out and opened it at the width of 60 feet, measuring from the south line of the river lots.

Would Destroy Easements.

As we have seen the city proposes to quit claim all the land commonly known as the old river channel between the south line of Bank lane and the north side of Kilbuck island. This description, it seems to us, was intended to embrace and does embrace all the land between the south line of South avenue, as located and fixed by the city, and the north side of Kilbuck island. The words "commonly known as the old river channel" do not limit the scope of the grant.

In our judgment the proposed quit claim would be clearly hostile to and derogatory of the rights of access to the rivers from Bank lane and to the riparian easements recited by the master in his third finding, which were secured to the lot owners and to the public by the establishment of Bank lane in and by the original plan of the town of Allegheny. The obvious purpose of the threatened quit claim is to extinguish these rights and easements.

In regard to the case, Dr. R. H. Gilliford said last evening: "This case has been up three times. I instituted these proceedings in the United States district court in 1900, engaging J. M. Stoner and Marcus A. Woodward as attorneys. Mrs. Murray is a sister of Mr. Stoner and the suit was brought in her name.

Dr. Gilliford Tells History of Fight.

"Mr. Blair was appointed a master in the case and reported against me. In the trial before Judge Buffington, the decision was also against me. On my appeal it was heard before United States circuit court of appeals at Philadelphia. The ragument was heard last January by Judges Acheson, Butler and Parker. The decision is unanimously in my favor.

"I have furnished all the money needed, and Mr. Woodward and Mr. Stoner appeared as my counsel. There seems to be a disposition on the part of somebody to give the credit of winning the case to the legal department of the Wyman administration in Allegheny. Mr. Porter, the Allegheny city solicitor, had no part in instituting this suit, in preparing the case for trial or in trying the case, so far as the side of the plaintiff is concerned. His appearance in the case was at least technically on the other side for the defendant city."

WOMEN MUST TELL OR BE PUNISHED

Allegheny Police No Longer Able to Protect Keepers of Disorderly Houses.

SUITS READY TO BE STARTED

While informations had been prepared in the district attorney's office by Attorneys John C. Haymaker and John Marron, against at least three proprietresses of disorderly houses in Allegheny, none of them were entered yesterday, but they will probably be this morning, after a further conference between the attorneys. The informations will be made before Alderman S. J. Toole, and will charge the women with keeping disorderly houses and selling liquor without a license. Specific cases have been secured against all three and the entire power of the district attorney's office will be used to convict them and send them to the penitentiary, principally as a warning to other proprietresses that they cannot secure protection from the Allegheny officials and that a higher power than the police of that city can be utilized to make them tell just what they know of the grafting.

Constable Joyce of Toole's office took one of the obstreperous women to the district attorney's office yesterday. She was accompanied by a male friend. This woman was closeted with Attorneys Haymaker, Marron and Robb for over three hours. The services of a stenographer were utilized a part of that time. She is one of the women against whom informations were to be made.

It is proposed to make these women tell just what they know about Allegheny affairs, and those who do not tell what they know will be wiser later on. They are only asked to tell the truth, and if their stories do not agree when they are placed on the stand, informations for perjury will be made against them, after the trial of those who are to be arrested on the charge of grafting.

All day yesterday women who operate or are inmates of disorderly houses in lower Allegheny city, visited the district attorney's office, where each was given an audience. As fast as their stories were told they were transcribed by a stenographer, and are being carefully examined by the attorneys, who wish to be sure of their ground before they make charges against any official in Allegheny. Attorney Haymaker said after today's investigation:

"I do not care to make any glowing statements of what has been accomplished, but you may say for me that when we do make informations they will certainly hold against the person so charged. We intend to carefully analyze every piece of testimony that we can depend upon, and when we are certain of our ground, informations will be made and the cases carried to a finish. We are necessarily careful and in no hurry to make informations against any officer or private individual, but when our preliminary work is completed, we intend to rush matters and will not rest until we have done away with graft of any kind on the north side of the river. I am making no accusation against any person, nor do I intend to, actions only will speak in this office as long as the district attorney is satisfied with our work. I cannot state when informations will be made, but I think something will fall shortly."

A hearing will be held in the cases against Alderman Walter Wadsworth before Alderman Toole on Tuesday next. Charles A. Locke, attorney for Wadsworth, stated yesterday that it is his intention to demand the hearing.

JUDGE HARRY WHITE LAST UNDER THE WIRE

His Nomination Papers Closed the List Filed With the State Department.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—The last nomination papers to be filed at the state department last night were those of Judge Harry White of Indiana, which were filed by E. Burwood Daly of Philadelphia, representative of the Independence party.

Judge White is a candidate for judge on the Independence ballot and also on that of the Roosevelt-Fairbanks-Protectionist ticket. His papers were gone over today and found to be all right. Judge White was defeated by S. J. Telford for the nomination for judge at the regular Republican primaries.

Unless there are objections filed to some of the groups of electors already filed, the ballot to be voted next November, will be nine columns wide, with the following groups: Republican, Democratic, Prohibitionist, Socialist, Socialist-Labor, Independence, Citizens, Roosevelt-Fairbanks-Protectionist and one blank column.

Up to the present time there has been notice filed of but one contest—that for congress in the Twenty-sixth district—where there are two Democratic candidates. The matter will be threshed out in the Dauphin county court.

TWO STRIKES ARE ENDED.

Rubber Workers and Garment Workers Give Up Their Long Struggles in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Fourteen hundred members of the Amalgamated Rubber Workers' union, after a five weeks' strike against the leading rubber manufacturing companies, voted to surrender unconditionally.

Members of the United Garment Workers' union, who eight weeks ago went on strike because of an announced "open shop" policy on the part of Chicago clothing makers, have given up the struggle, and the strike was called off today.

Natalie Coal Concern Sold.

The Natalie Coal Company of Natalie, Northumberland county, was sold yesterday by the receiver to E. L. Mattern for $450,000. Local trust companies were interested in the concern, but its operation has been conducted under lease by one of the larger anthracite concerns. The sale is said to have been at a figure satisfactory to all interested.

Tuberculosis Congress Ends.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—The concluding session of the International congress on tuberculosis was held today. The discussions embraced the medical and surgical aspects of tuberculosis, beneficial climatic conditions and the effects of light and electricity on patients in the course of treatment.

Bartholdi's Memory Honored.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—By order of the war department, flags on the statue of Liberty and the buildings on Bedloe's island and on the statue of liberty steamboat, Falcon, were half-masted today, out of respect for Bartholdi, the French sculptor who designed the statue, and who died in Paris yesterday.

Carpenters Will Meet at Niagara Falls.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 5.—The United Carpenters and Joiners today selected Niagara Falls, N. Y., as the place for the next convintion.

OPENS BRITISH FISCAL CAMPAIGN

Joseph Chamberlain Declares it Is No Party Question But Vital Issue.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Joseph Chamberlain opened his fiscal campaign at Luton, Bedfordshire, tonight. The duke of Bedford presided, and the duchess of Bedford and Mrs. Chamberlain were among those on the platform.

Mr. Chamberlain began his speech with an eloquent tribute to the late Sir William Vernon Harcourt. On the fiscal proposition he said it was not a party question, but affected every vital interest of the country.

He dwelt at considerable length on the agricultural situation, and painted a gloomy picture of present conditions, predicting that there is worse to come. He said agriculture had been crippled, and land values shrunk by hundreds of millions. The capital of farmers, he said, had fallen $1,000,000,000. There are [illegible],000,000 fewer laborers in the country now than there were in 1851, and 13,000,000 people are under-fed, while the people of America, Germany and other foreign countries are prosperous and surpassing Great Britain in every line of trade and business. He said that to deny existing conditions was impossible and to ignore them would be criminal.

Alluding to Mr. Balfour's Edinburgh speech, Mr. Chamberlain said he did not want the protection of 50 years ago, but he did want to make foreigners pay toll on shipments to the British market where they competed with British workmen, and unless Great Britain and her colonies worked together there was nothing in sight but disintegration of the empire. Mr. Chamberlain said that Mr. Balfour's statement concerning a conference with the colonies marked a distinct advance, but Mr. Balfour should not delay; he should call the conference at once, and see what terms could be made with the colonies.

AT THE THEATERS.

A Great Shakespearean Revival Will Be the Principal Event in Local Theaterdom.

"Romeo and Juliet" will be the opening play presented by Charles Frohman, with E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe in the titular roles. The engagement here of this combination will be considered in years hence theater history of influence, and valuable for comparison and reference. "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Hamlet" will also be played during the engagement. Seats went on sale this morning.

That famous play, "Lord and Lady Algy," from the Empire theater, New York, familiar to Pittsburgh play-goers through its presentation here by William Faversham and Jessie Millward, will be on view at the Avenue theater next week, when William Courtney and Jane Kennark will interpret the name parts. Every member of Manager Davis' competent company will be seen to unusual advantage.

A genuine dramatic treat is promised the patrons of the Empire next week when Arthur C. Aiston's company will present "At the Old Cross Roads." This play, it is said, has been one of the most remarkable successes of the past two seasons, having been toured from coast to coast. The play is conceded to be one of the best stories of southern life given to the stage in recent years.

For genuine snap, vigor and vim, "The Errand Boy," which is at the Duquesne next week, is said to exceed in speed limit any musical comedy of recent years. Billy B. Van is the shining star of this luminous farce.

Emmett Corrigan, the well known legitimate actor who played the part of "Simonedes" in Klaw & Erlanger's original production of "Ben Hur," will be the headliner at the Grand next week, presenting his famous racing sketch, "Jockey Jones," said to be one of the strongest dramatic offerings in vaudeville. There are 15 acts in the big bill.

That perennial favorite, Selma Herman, in a new play entitled, "Wedded, But no Wife," will hold the boards at the Bijou next week. Miss Herman makes it a point to appear in a new play each season and she is authority for the statement that "her latest is her best."

The Fay Foster Company is announced as the attraction at the Academy next week, and this means one of the best, largest, and strongest organizations extant. The company numbers 35 people and the performance is far ahead of the average.

CONVENTION OPENED.

Free Methodists of Pittsburgh District Meet in Annual Session on Mt. Washington.

With 200 delegates attending the twenty-second annual session, the Pittsburgh conference of the Free Methodist church convened yesterday afternoon in the Mt. Washington church.

The afternoon session was devoted to organization with General Superintendent Bishop E. P. Hart of Alameda, Cal., presiding. In the evening an old-time camp meeting service was held.

Two large tents with a seating capacity of 500 have been pitched in the rear of the church, but owing to the inclement weather the service was held in the church last night. The principal business of last night's session was the naming of lay delegates on the stationing committee, which places ministers for the coming year. The appointments were as follows:

Pittsburgh district, B. G. Henderson; Allegheny district, J. W. Kepple; Rochester district, W. I. Scott; Greensburg district, I. L. Smith; West Virginia district, J. N. Van Gilder.

Prominent among those in attendance from outside the district are Bishop E. P. Hart and wife, who jointly conducted the service last evening; Prof. A. L. Whitcomb, president of the Greenville (Ill.) college, and W. B. Olmstead, representative of the Free Methodist publishing house, Chicago. The conference will be in session until Sunday night, the mornings being devoted to business and the afternoons and evenings to religious meetings.

Old Soldier Run Down on Baltimore & Ohio Railroad—Identity Revealed by Pension Voucher.

James R. Purine, a veteran of the civil war, was struck by a train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks, near Brady street, about 10 o'clock last night and instantly killed. His body was found by a track walker and was taken to the morgue. A pension voucher for $108, which gave Purine's address as 119 Grant street and also as Second avenue, Hazelwood, was on the remains. Purine was credited with having served in Company H, Twenty-ninth regiment of Ohio volunteers. Marks of three old bullet wounds were found on the body. At 119 Grant street last night the man was not known.

Agnes Saylor, aged 39, wife of Frank Saylor of 30 Walnut street, Allegheny, committed suicide yesterday by hanging herself to a banister in the hallway. The woman was despondent because of ill-health.

David Meier, aged 41, died at the South Side hospital yesterday from injuries received August 13 by falling out of his carriage and fracturing his skull. He was driving in Brownsville road and the carriage was overturned.

News of the Nearby Towns and Country

STRIKERS ARE ENJOINED.

Macbeth-Evans Glass Company Granted a Temporary Injunction by Judge McIlvaine.

WASINGTON, PA., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Judge J. A. McIlvaine today granted the Macbeth-Evans Glass Company of Charleroi a preliminary injunction against 17 employes of the concern, restaining them from interfering in any manner with the operation of the plant. A hearing for a permanent injunction will occur Monday.

The injunction was asked and granted as a result of the strike at the Macbeth-Evans plant. When the plant resumed operations on August 29, some of the old employes refused to return to work and since that time, it is charged, have been intimidating men who have taken their places and, it is said, have threatened the destruction of the plant. The company complains that as a result of the alleged intimidation they have been compelled to house and board a large number of the employes at considerable expense on the factory premises.

PITTSBURGHERS PAY CLAIMS.

Brokerage Firm of A. B. Bakter & Co. Settles With Greensburg Creditors.

GREENSBURG, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Greensburg creditors of A. B. Baxter & Co., the Pittsburgh brokers who made an assignment as the result of Sully's cotton corner last April, were today paid their claims, the company distributing among local traders approximately $22,000.

The stock sheets of A. C. Cunningham, the local representative of Baxter, represented an investment of over $50,000 by Greensburgers at the time of the failure. Thirty traders received checks varying from $20 to $15,000. It is stated Baxter & Co. will reopen an office in Greensburg.

PITTSBURGH WOMAN WILL PAY FUNERAL EXPENSES

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—A woman in Pittsburgh has sent Undertaker J. Harry Johnston money for the burial expenses of Mrs. Emma Frayer, whose remains arrived here last night from Pittsburgh. The body has been placed in a handsome plush casket and the funeral will take place Thursday morning from the home of an uncle of the deceased, with services by the Rev. Alexander Dittmore.

SPECULATION REGARDING BEAVER VALLEY RAILROAD

Intended Building of Station Incites People to Wonder as to Owners and Plans.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BEAVER, Oct. 5.—The announcement today that the Beaver Valley railroad, a three-mile line connecting the Cleveland and Pittsburgh branch of the Pennsylvania railroad at Vanport, and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie at Bridgewater, is to at once begin the erection of a good passenger and freight station in Beaver, added another mystery to the little road. Since the commencement of the road three years ago no statement has ever been made as to who are its real owners, but for a long time it was thought to be a part of a scheme of the Wabash to get into the Beaver valley and possibly to Ambridge and to Allegheny.

Since the announcement that the station is to be built, a well-defined rumor has developed that the road is owned by the Pennsylvania. It is said the company intends to bridge the Beaver river and connect the Bridgewater end of the road with the Fort Wayne just west of Rochester. It is said the Cleveland & Pittsburgh trains will be run over this track and in this manner it is said the Pennsylvania will try to wrest some of the great volume of passenger trade from the Lake Erie.

LIGHTNING CAUSES FIRE.

Oil Tanks Ablaze at Findlay, O.—Schools Dismissed for Fear of an Explosion.

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 5.—Lightning struck a 1,200-barrel oil tank at the National oil refinery today. The tank exploded and fire spread to three other tanks, which also exploded. The flames will be allowed to burn out. The pecuniary loss will reach $150,000.

The public schools were dismissed and all brick buildings ordered vacated, on account of a possibility that a great quantity of gasoline might explode at any moment.

Pittsburgh Minister Delivered Sermon.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—The Rev. Stuart Nye Hutchinson was installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church last night. The Rev. Dr. Edward P. Cowan of Pittsburgh delivered the sermon, the Rev. Dr. A. M. Reid conducted the installation service, the Rev. H. N. Campbell of New Philadelphia charged the pastor and Dr. Reid the people. Special singing was given by W. M. Dorrington of Pittsburgh.

FIVE PERSONS BADLY BURNED

One Expected to Die as the Result of an Explosion in a Scottdale Plant.

SCOTTDALE, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—A terrific explosion took place at the Scottdale plant of the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company this afternoon. Five persons were badly burned, one of whom is likely to die. The injured are: Mike Shulic, a Polish laborer, aged 25; badly bruned about the head and body, expected to die. William Butler, foreman, aged 50; entire upper portion of his body burned. August Peterson, cupola man, aged 60; severely burned about the head and face. William Whiteside, laborer, aged 30; face and hands badly burned. Nicholas Andrew, laborer; hair burned from head, face cut and otherwise injured.

The explosion was caused by water being in the bed under the cupola when the bottom was dropped after a cast. The coremakers' shed was blown to pieces.

Forgery of Will Charged.

GREENSBURG, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Over 50 witnesses have been subpoenaed to give testimony in the appeal from the probate of the will of the late John L. Weaver of Hempfield township. Mr. Weaver left an estate estimated at from $50,000 to $75,000 to his widow. An effort is being made by his children to have the will set aside, claiming it is a forgery. Handwriting experts are here from Pittsburgh to testify.

Accused Men Bring Damage Suits.

LISBON, O., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Charles Thornton and Fred De Moore filed suits for $50,000 damages each against William Aughinbaugh of Wellsville, in court here today. Aughinbaugh is alleged to have libelously named them as co-respondents in a petition for divorce from Mrs. Aughinbaugh.

CONNELLSVILLE.—The region drained by the Youghiogheny river is experiencing the worst drouth for years.

NEW CASTLE.—Mrs. Margaret Black has presented a house to the Croton union of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

BEAVER.—George Toth, the self-confessed murderer of Charles Wolf, who had alienated the affections of Toth's wife, was sentenced to three years to the penitentiary by Judge J. Sharp Wilson yesterday.

NEW BRIGHTON.—William Murray, aged 40, a clay temperer at the works of the Pittsburgh Clay Manufacturing Company, was killed yesterday by falling head first between two heavy rollers used in crushing clay. Murray came from Toronto, O., and the body will be taken there for burial.

PIG IRON PRODUCTION INCREASED IN GERMANY

Exports to United States Practically Abandoned Because of Home Consumption.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—In the seven months of the calendar year ending with July the pig iron production of Germany was 5,846,740 tons as against 9,058,922 tons produced in the United States within the same period, a difference of 3,212,182 tons.

For the first seven months of 1903, Germany produced 5,799,875 tons, while the United States produced 10,995,330 tons, or 5,195,445 tons more than Germany.

In the first seven months of this year Germany made 46,865 tons more of pig iron than in the corresponding period last year, while the United States made 1,936,408 tons less from January to August this year than last.

As the imports of German pig iron to the United States this year have been practically nil; whereas, for the first half of 1904 they were heavy, the inference is that German domestic consumption of pig iron has increased or she has found export customers to replace the loss of iron exports to the United States.

JAPANESE WERE AFRAID TO BEGIN THEIR ATTACK

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—A dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger from Mukden says: "Gen. Kuropatkin has expressed a firm determination to avail himself of this favorable season of the year for military action. Everything points to a coming revenge for Liao-Yang. The Japanese undoubtedly intended September 27 to attack in three columns from the collieries at Yen-Tai, along the imperial road, but desisted when they discovered that the Russains fronting them numbered 600,000 men."

THE DEATH ROLL

William J. White.

William J. White, aged 72, a pioneer fireman and former chief of the Pittsburgh bureau of fire, died yesterday morning at his home, 7006 Hermitage street, Homewood, of injuries received nearly two months ago by being struck by a locomotive in Liberty avenue, near Fifth. He had been confined to his bed since. He was physically one of the biggest men in this section and during his fire-fighting days was known on the department as "Big Bill." Mr. White for a quarter of a century had served in various capacities in city and county offices and was one of the best known public employes in Allegheny county. He became a member of the Eagle volunteer fire company at the close of the Civil war, and when the paid department was established in 1870 was made first assistant chief engineer. Two years later he was made chief engineer, which position he held till 1875, when he retired. The following year he was recalled to the head of the fire department and continued as chief till 1878. Mr. White later served as warden of the county jail and made a record there equal to the one he gained in the fire bureau. The improvements made in the city fire department and those recommended for the future were all recommended by Mr. White in his first annual report as chief of the department. Mr. White also served as a deputy sheriff and held that position at the time he was hurt. He was the father-in-law of Former Sheriff Harvey A. Lowry. He is survived by four children: James White, Mrs. W. P. Saaf, Mrs. Charles Law and Mrs. Lowry. He was also a member of a number of political and fraternal organizations. Funeral services will be held over his remains at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow and interment will be made in Uniondale cemetery, Allegheny. Eight nephews will act as pallbearers.

William Dean.

William Dean, aged 21, brother of Tunis F. Dean, manager and press agent of the Avenue theater in this city, was killed in an automobile accident at Dobbs Ferry, near New York, on Tuesday. Word of the accident was received by Mr. Dean yesterday morning. Mr. Dean's home was in Baltimore, where his remains will be taken for interment. He was one of three brothers and for several years assisted his brother as treasurer of the Academy of Music in Baltimore, in which Mr. Dean was interested before coming to Pittsburgh. The other brother, Walter Dean, was treasurer of the old Harris theater in this city for several years. Mr. Dean went to Baltimore last night.

James Emery.

James Emery, aged 60, father of Edward Emery, a ticket seller at the Baltimore & Ohio station in Pittsburgh, and the best known Baltimore & Ohio railroad engineer between Pittsburgh and Cumberland, died at his home in Connellsville yesterday. During his long railroad career he was never in an accident. He is survived by his widow and four children, Harry, Robert, Edward and May.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews, aged 65, wife of A. C. Andrews, a well-known resident of Sharpsville, died yesterday.

James M. Anderson, aged 70, is dead at his residence in Jackson Center from heart failure. He had been a resident of Mercer county all his life.

Mrs. Emily S. Mann Chisholm, widow of Judge W. W. Chisholm of Mississippi, who was killed during the reconstruction period in the south in 1877, died at Huntingdon yesterday at the home of her son, ex-Senator H. C. Chisholm, whom she was visiting. She was 71 years old.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS.

LOCAL SHOOTERS WERE WINNERS OF THE TOURNEY

Kelsey Was High Gun, and the Local Team Ran Away from Oak Station Experts.

The closing day of the Western Pennsylvania trap tourney was better than the first, 33 shooters facing the traps. High average for the day was made by Kelsey, who broke 167 out of 175 blue rocks, Ed Hickey was second with 166, Calhoun and Squier third with 164 each, and Atkinson fourth with 160. For the two days Kelsey was high gun, Calhoun second, Atkinson and Squier third, and Irwin and Davis fourth. During the two days over 12,000 targets were trapped and the tournament was the best of the season.

In the team race for the league trophy cup there was a tie between the teams from the Herron Hill and Scottdale clubs. The scores in the team shoot follow:

FOUR STILL IN IT.

Yale, Harvard, Columbia and Pennsy Have a Chance for the Tennis Title.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—The result of the third day play in the intercollegiate championshi plawn tennis tournement on the courts of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford finds four colleges, Yale, Harvard, Columbia and Pennsylvania still in the running for final honors. Surprises were the features of the day, the chief being furnished by Dewhurst and Taskai of Pennsylvania. Much interest was manifested in the latters play as it was the first appearance of a Japanese player in a tournament in this country. The Pennsylvania pair were drawn against Prentice and Whitman of Harvard, in the first round of the doubles and won in a hard three-set match by a score of 3-6; 6-2; 8-6.

In the afternoon, however, Takai and Dewhurst showed a more remarkable reversal of form and were easily beaten by Behr and Bodman, of Yale. The latter pair by winning twice, put the blue of Yale well to the fore. Summaries:

Doubles, first round—Dewhurst and Takai, University of Pennsylvania, beat Prentice and Whitman, Harvard, 3-6; 6-2; 8-6. Behr and Bodman, Yale, beat Sunstein and Thompson, Princeton, 9-7; 6-2.

Semi-final round—Behr and Bodman, Yale, beat Dewhurst and Takai, Pennsylvania, 6-3; 6-0. Sulloway and Larned, Harvard, beat Rendall and Richardson, Princeton, 6-0; 4-6; 8-6.

LEWIS TO GO ON BIG BARNSTORMING TOUR

Phil Lewis will play shortstop on a professional team that Frank Leonard, manager of the Lynn (Mass.) club will take to Cuba, Havana and Florida this fall. The party will leave New York October 11 and will return November 22, playing in the countries named. "Red" Calhoun of Allegheny, who captained the champion Haverhill New England league club this season, was also invited to make the trip. Calhoun and Lewis are cousins.

Dave Bennett's Curves Are Pounded.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Bennett was batted out of the box in the eighth inning today. The series for the inter-city championship now stands 5 to 3 in favor of Johnstown. McConnell had a hand injured by a swiftly-batted ball, but he finished the game. Score:

LAYING UP IN HEATS PROVES VERY COSTLY

Owner, Driver and Horses Suspended for a Year—Bon Voyage Won the Main Event.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 5.—The 2-year-old division of the Kentucky futurity was won today by Bon Voyage in two straight heats in 2:15 and 2:15¼. With the exception of the record of 2:14, made by Katherine A. two years ago, it was the best record for the event.

In the 2:11 class pacing, the favorite, The Broncho, and her driver and owner were suspended a year for laying up. The Broncho paced second to Don N. in the first two heats. The judges were suspicious and when Charles Dean drove out for the third heat they unseated him and put A. P. McDonald behind his mare. McDonald won the next three heats. Both horse and driver were then suspended and McDonald was awarded $250. High wind prevented Major Delmar from starting against time. Summaries:

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 5.—Yale's power of attack and the defensive ability of the eleven, was given a trying out today for nearly the whole of the first half, in a fashion that pleased the coaches. Holy Cross, which was beaten 23 to 0 sent in a heavy and powerful rush line that fought hard and forced every man on the Yale team to exert himself.

Yale lost the ball twice on downs and Holy Cross made first down twice. Not until more than half an hour of time had elapsed nearly 15 minutes of actual play did Yale score. The blue eleven fought desperately and well together. After that the snap and dash seemed at low ebb in the Holy Cross team and Yale added three more touchdowns. The lineup:

Yale—23.		Holy Cross—0
Cates-Stevens	L.E.	Conner
Bloomer-Kinneon	L.T.	Murphy
Kinney-Turner	L.G.	O'Neill
Roraback-Cartwright	C	Callahan
Tripp-Hockenberger	R.G.	Donnelly
Hogan	R.T.	Naughton-McCarthy
Hare-Hyatt	R.E.	Campbell
Owsley-Hutchinson	Q.B.	Dowd-Larkin
Hoyt-Roome	L.B.	Carrigan
Stevenson-Morse	R.H.	Reed
Shevlin-White	F.B.	Doherty-McManus

Referee—Dr. W. C. Wurtemberg, New Haven. Umpire—Mr. Heller, Worcester. Timer—T. B. Hull, New Haven. Touchdowns—Hoyt, 2; Shevlin, Morse. Goals from touchdowns—Hoyt, 3. Time of halves—20 and 15 minutes.

NORTHERN OHIO SWAMPED.

Goes Up Against Michigan and Is Hammered, 48 to 0.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Michigan defeated the Northern Ohio university at Ferry field this afternoon 48 to 0. It was a one-sided game throughout. Never did the Ohioans gain first down and Michigan was held for downs but once. Michigan's back field worked with much ginger and snap. Heston and Tom Hammond, who were run with the ball, were stars of the game. Line up:

Michigan—48.		Northern Ohio U.—0.
Tom Hammond	R.E.	Boyd
Small	R.T.	West
Schultz	R.G.	Mitzgar
Ted Hammond	C.	Newcom
Schulte	L.G.	Evans
Curtis	L.T.	Wilson
Garretts	L.E.	Rittman
Norcross	Q.B.	Longwill (capt.)
McGoffin	R.H.	Goodman
Heston	L.H.	Geiger
Harry Hammond	F.B.	Mackowan

Touchdown—Henton, 3; Harry Hammond, 2; Clark, Weeks. Goals—Five. Goals from field—Ted Hammond, 2. Referee—Fishleigh, Michigan. Umpire—D. Hollister, Albion. Lineman—Cole, Michigan. Time of halves—20 minutes. Attendance—200. Substitutes—Michigan: Beechler for Ted Hammond, Graham for Small, Becker for Norcross, Stuart for McGoffin, Weeks for Stuart, Clark for Harry Hammond, Reinchild for Clark; for Ohio—Walker for Boyd.

HARVARD'S BACKS STUPID.

Do Not Take Advantage of Chances and Bowdoin Gets Off Easy.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Harvard defeated Bowdoin, 17 to 0, at football today in a crude, listless and discouraging game. The Harvard line played a fair game, but the backs were stupid, never taking advantage of the holes opened for them, and several times missing chances of long runs by their stupidity. In the secondary defensive work the backs were also useless. To be sure, Harvard had a number of substitutes in the game, but the Bowdoin team was little stronger than a prep. school aggregation. The line-up:

Harvard—17.		Bowdoin—0.
Blagden	L.E.	J. Drummond
Meier	L.T.	Flan
McFadon	L.G.	Sanborn
Cunniff-White	C.	Philoon
Squires	R.G.	Hatch
Carr	R.T.	Garcelon
Montgomery-Lockwood	R.E.	W. Drummond
Noyes-Kernan	Q.B.	McGraw
Hanley-Guild	L.H.	Chapman
Sherry-Nesmith	R.H.	Kinsman-Kibbey
Mills	F.B.	Blanchard

Touchdowns—Mills 2, Hanley. Goals from touchdowns—Noyes 2. Umpire—Percy Haughton, Harvard. Referee—R. Brown, Harvard. Timer—John Graham, Harvard. Linesmen—Wilder, Harvard; Thomas, Bowdoin. Time of halves—15 and 10-minute periods.

WESLEYAN PLAYER INJURED.

Onthrup Gets Blow on Head and Becomes Delirious—Princeton Wins.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—During the first half of the afternoon's game with Wesleyan, Onthrup, the Wesleyan left end received a blow on the back of the head which it is feared will result seriously. After the accident he managed to walk as far as the sidelines, where he fell unconscious. Dr. Carnochan worked over him for 15 minutes before he came to, after which, contrary to the doctor's advice, he remained where he was during the rest of the game instead of being taken to the field house. When the Wesleyan men had reached the station to take the train home serious symtoms began to show themselves and Onthrup became delirious. He was immediately taken to the university infirmary, where he now is in a state of coma which varies with an occasional delirium.

Wesleyan was weakend by two recent games with Columbia and Yale and the loss of Forbes, their captain, who had been debarred. A change was made in Princeton's lineup today which is calculated to strengthen the team. Rafferty took center and Dutcher moved to left guard with good effect. Princeton moved about at will and was never held for downs. It was a question of how many points could be scored in the time allowed. The lineup:

Princeton—39.		Wesleyan—0.
Crawford-Tooker	L.E.	Eyster
Cooney-Brown	L.T.	North
Dutcher	L.G.	Woodhead-Bragg
Rafferty	C.	Long-Woodhead
Short-Waller	R.G.	Cole
Stannard-Carothers	R.T.	Dearborn
Miller-Brasher-Ward	R.E.	Onthrup-Packard
Burke-Ritter-Helm	Q.B.	Wolf-Gildersleeve
King-Pfeiffer-Willock	L.H.	Van Surdan
McCormick-Bard-Daub	F.B.	Farley
Foulke-Hamill	R.H.	Day-Vail

Touchdowns—Short, 2; Stannard, Foulke, Bard, 2; Daub. Goals from touchdowns—Foulke, McCormick, Bard, Tooker. Umpire—Bergen. Referee—Underhill. Linesmen—Packard, Wesleyan; Hoen, Princeton. Time of halves—20 and 10 minutes.

COLUMBIA IN FINE FORM DEFEATS TUFTS BY 31 TO 0

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Columbia defeated Tufts college today 31 to 0. The Columbia team played better football than it has so far this season, but the substitutes almost allowed Tufts to score. Columbia's interference and team work were excellent, as was the attack which throughout the first half carried the ball down the field without a setback. Four touchdowns were tallied in the first half and two in the second. Only one goal was kicked. Metzenthin was the star, making several long runs, one of 60 yards which was responsible for a touchdown. Touchdowns: Metzenthin, 3; Duell, Stangland, 2. Goals from touchdowns, Fisher, 1.

HOBART DOESN'S GIVE CORNELL GOOD PRACTICE

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Cornell's game with Hobart today did not take on even the importance of a scrimmage. Coach Warner played all the substitutes available, putting third class men on the eleven in the second half. Three touchdowns were made in the first half, one in the second, making the final score 24 to 0. Lineup:

Cornell—24.		Hobart—0.
Oderkirk-Walker	L.E.	Wilson-Rose
Martin-Skinner	L.T.	Gutches
Dann-Schoelkopf	L.G.	Royce
Wilder-Chapman	C.	Dwinwell-Weeks
Furman	R.G.	Summers
Smith	R.T.	Denton
Van Orman-Curry-Degarmo	R.E.	Callan
Bird	Q.B.	Rippey-Wilson
Gibson-Morning-Martinez	L.H.	Rippl
Birmingham-Dewey	R.H.	Silsby
Wolheim-Cox	F.B.	Rose-Dwinwell

Touchdowns—Bird, Wolheim, Smith, Dewey. Goals—Birmingham, 3; Bird. Time of halves—15 minutes. Referee—Cook of Hobart. Umpire—Wright of Columbia. Timekeepers—Warner of Hobart; Vonnegut of Cornell. Linesmen—Vesceher of Hobart; McDonald of Cornell.

QUAKERS' EASY VICTORY.

F. and M. Never Threatens U. of P. Goal Line and Loses, 34 to 0.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—The University of Pennsylvania football eleven today defeated Franklin and Marshall 34 to 0. At no time during the game was the Pennsylvania goal in danger. Pennsyvania went through the visitors line almost at will. The feature of the game was Corson's run the entire length of the field for a touchdown.

U. of P.—34.		F. and M.—0.
Drake-Dwyer	L.E.	Gochnaur
Butkiewicz-Zilligan	L.T.	Monn
Piekarski-Junk	L.G.	Freeman-Sipple
Torrey-Taylor	C.	Brown
Ziegler	R.G.	Kreider
Rooke	R.T.	Heiman
J. Hollenback-Weede	R.E.	Danaher-Lentz
Corson-Reynolds	Q.B.	Herr-Shufford
Bennis-W. Hollenback	R.H.	Gingrich
Sheble-Bradley	L.H.	Burton
Smith-Gimbel	F.B.	Heinitsch

Touchdowns—Ziegler, Piekarski, Bennis, Corson, Drake. Goals from touchdown—Corson, 4; Reynolds. Goal from placement—Smith. Referee—J. Minds, U. of P. Umpire—Morice, U. of P. Linesmen—Simpson and Greene. Timekeeper—Richardson.

"Sunny" Price Has Bad Leg.

Kerr Price, formerly of Shadyside Academy, is playing quarterback on the Northern Ohio university eleven, but is kept out of the game by a bad leg. He was slated to play the position yesterday against Michigan. Price got into the game Saturday, playing against the Fort Wayne Medicals. At the start of the second half the Meds kicked off. Price got the ball and ran through the field for a touchdown. MacKown of Indiana, is captain of the team.

Amherst in a Canter.

AMHERST, MASS., Oct. 5.—Amherst defeated New York university today 23 to 0. Amherst had little difficulty in gaining ground, while the visitors, despite their heavy team, could not keep the ball. New York had the ball only three times druing the game and lost it each time on downs. The line bucking of Pierce, Hubbard and S. Crook was a feature, and the running of Shattuck was noteworthy.

Former Players Help to Coach.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Park J. Alexander, a former W. and J. fullback of Pittsburgh, today assisted Coach Seaman in coaching the back field candidates for the W. and J. team. Carl Core, former captain was also helping, four coaches being on the field.

Canonsburg to Play All Stars.

CANONSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—The Canonsburg baseball team will play an all-professional team here Saturday. "Lefty" Smith will do the pitching for the locals.

OAKMONT CLUB BEATEN.

Allegheny Country Club Golfers Scored the Victory—Pittsburgh Field Club Won.

Allegheny Country club won its match yesterday with the Oakmont Country club, 17 to 11. The match was one of the W. P. G. A. championship series and was played on the Oakmont links. The two clubs are now tied in the race, each having won every match played except with each other. It looks as if the two clubs will be brought together in a third match this year for the championship. Individual results were:

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

St. Louis at Exposition park.
New York at Brooklyn.
Boston at Philadelphia.

The Pirates rung down the curtain on baseball for this season at Homestead by taking yesterday's contest from Risher's independent champions 1 to 0 in a highly interesting game in which the pitching of Robertaille and Lew Moren stood out most prominently.

The National league champions scored their one run in the seventh inning, with two men out and at a time when Moren was not at his best. With Leach on second and Bransfield at the bat and two strikes on him and no balls, rain fell heavily, driving all to shelter. When playing was resumed Moren was "cold" and he was unable to get the next three balls over the plate. He, however, got the fourth over and Bransfield pasted it between Campbell and Crum for two bases, scoring Leach. Bransfield attempted to take third, but Crum shot the ball to Lewis, who fired it to Edmundson in time to catch the runner.

Homestead had men on bases, but they got on at times when two men had been retired. Robertaille pitched fine ball all the way, sending nine men to the bench on strikes and allowing but two hits, a two-bagger to the right field fence by Lewis, in the fifth, and a single in the ninth by Crum. Moren fanned five big leaguers, and, like Robertaille, did not issue a free transportation ticket to first.

The five hits secured off Moren were scattered save in the fourth inning, when Beaumont doubled, with one out, and Ritchey singled into middle. Beaumont tried to reach home on Ritchey's hit, but Crum got the ball to Fohl as though it was shot out of a rifle, and Beaumont was nailed by two yards. McCormick flied to Crum, closing the inning.

Lewis put Ritchey on first in the seventh by a low throw and McCormick sacrificed. On Leach's tap Moren threw out Ritchey at third; then it rained and then Bransfield "broke up" the game.

A low throw by Kruger and a fumble by Leach put Crum and Lindsay respectively on the circuit in the fourth, but Smith's fly to Leach spoiled the chances for runs for Homestead. Ritchey fumbled Smith's grounder in the seventh, but Campbell hit into a double play. The score:

GIANTS WILL NOT PLAY.

Manager McGraw Emphatic There Will Be No Post-Season Series.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Manager John J. McGraw of the Giants declared today that he had received no challenge from the New York Americans for a post-season baseball series save through the newspapers, and that if he received such a challenge he would not answer it.

This is the "finally, lastly and in conclusion" position of McGraw and the completing quietus to a post-season series. Manager McGraw also said the Giants would not take a Cuban tour and that the recent renewal of the talk of a world's tour was unauthorized. There will be no such tour for the Giants this year.

LOW CHURCHMEN "BOO" THE CROSS

Exciting Demonstration During Procession of Church of England Congress.

POLICE GUARD THE BUILDING

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Extraordinary scenes are being witnessed at Liverpool in connection with the annual Church of England congress, now proceeding there. The lord mayor held a reception at the town hall, which was attended by all the leading bishops and clergy of the United Kingdom. Then the procession formed and marched to the cathedral.

Large crowds gathered in the streets to whom several leading low churchmen, including followers of the late John Kensit and the Wycliffe preachers, an organization founded by the late Mr. Kensit, had previously distributed anti-ritualistic pamphlets. As the procession, headed by the civic regalia and the corporation, followed by the bishops and clergy in their robes, on foot, neared the cathedral, the demonstrators commenced to shout: "Down with popery!" "Oh, for another Luther!"

When the venerable archbishop of York appeared, his silver cross of office held up before him, the crowd booed and shrieked "Traitors!" "It is popery in the streets!" "Send them all to Rome!"

Amidst a storm of hissing and shouting the archbishop passed into the cathedral, unmoved by the uproar. A strong force of police was stationed about the building, the authorities fearing more serious trouble.

BANDA ROSSA POPULAR.

Large Audience Is Present for the Second Rendition of Father Perosi's "Resurrection of Christ."

Large crowds attended the concerts at the exposition last night, when the Banda Rossa rendered for the second time Father Perosi's "Resurrection of Christ," among the other numbers of a carefully chosen program. The engagement of the Banda Rossa is nearing an end, and after the concerts today patrons of the exposition will have the chance to attend but four more concerts.

The second rendition of Perosi's religious oratorio, "The Resurrection of Christ," last night, was greeted with enthusiasm. Its rendition occupied fully 25 minutes. In addition to this work, Wagner, Verdi, Mascagni and Waldteufel occupied places on the evening program. The programs for the afternoon's concerts are as follows:

2 P. M.

March—"The Jolly General"	Moret

PILOTS OBJECT TO SERVICE.

Claim Treatment Given River Men Is Not Up to Requirements.

Dr. F. W. Wood, surgeon in the marine branch of the Mercy hospital, and the river pilots are disputing over the reception of patients at that institution. The doctor refuses to recognize a pilot's certificate as sufficient evidence that a man is entitled to free treatment in the marine branch of the hospital service. The pilots also allege that marine patients are taken care of in company with others who are undesirable and do not think the service given at the Mercy is up to what is expected and required by the government. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting of Harbor 25 of this city.

The I. C. Woodward was the Morgantown boat yesterday. The boat was delayed until afternoon by fog, the second time this has happened this week.

TREMENDOUS BARGAINS.

There is not one person in a hundred who appreciates how much a little advertising can be made to do for him. The man who wants to sell a house, hire a servant, find a lost dog, or do any of a hundred other similar things, usually finds before he is through that a "want ad." in a reliable paper is the simplest, easiest and cheapest way of accomplishing his purpose. Those men who have been fortunate enough to place their "want ad." in THE GAZETTE have always found its prices real bargains when judged by the results obtained. It has over 72,000 families on its lists to whom it can appeal for you—that is, you speak to over a quarter million people when you use its columns. No wonder you are certain of results. Look below at some of the bargains offered you.

PERSONALS.

TREMENDOUS BARGAINS.

There is not one person in a hundred who appreciates how much a little advertising can be made to do for him. The man who wants to sell a house, hire a servant, find a lost dog, or do any of a hundred other similar things, usually finds before he is through that a "want ad." in a reliable paper is the simplest, easiest and cheapest way of accomplishing his purpose. Those men who have been fortunate enough to place their "want ad." in THE GAZETTE have always found its prices real bargains when judged by the results obtained. It has over 72,000 families on its lists to whom it can appeal for you—that is, you speak to over a quarter million people when you use its columns. No wonder you are certain of results. Look below at some of the bargains offered you.

STEEL PREFERRED SOLD OFF, WHILE RAILROADS ADVANCED

Later Steel Recovered Its Loss, While Some of the Railroads Reacted—Crucible Preferred Led the Local Market.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was an active, feverish market in New York yesterday, with the total sales approximating Tuesday's large figures. In fact, during the first two hours the volume of business was on a scale not before equaled this year. There was great irregularity to prices, however, and throughout the day one group of stocks would be advancing while another group was declining. The inference was that manipulation was being resorted to for the purpose of enabling cliques to take profits without scaring the public off. Sentiment before the opening was strongly in favor of a reaction. This feeling was strengthened by the fact that none of the rumors current during Tuesday's excitement regarding important railroad deals was confirmed. On the contrary, they met with official denial. Still, the belief that some important move was taking place was founded upon experience in such matters. A market moving under the stimulus of normal conditions does not act like that of the past few days. The public does not all at once concentrate its buying power upon some paticular stock and buy it regardless of price. It is only when big men are negotiating a deal, or when the market is wholly within the control of a powerful clique, that such movements occur as were witnessed in St. Paul and a few other prominent stocks on Tuesday.

Sentiment favoring a reaction was considerably modified by the strength of the quotations received from London, which recorded advances ranging from ¼ to 1¼ per cent. As a result of the foreign quotations the market opened higher all around. Initial sales, however, were followed almost immediately by a decline, in which Steel preferred was the leader. One prominent house sold 20,000 shares of the stock, causing a decline from 75½ to 74. The house in question was last Friday credited with buying a similar block of the stock for a former prominent Steel official, and the selling yesterday had considerable effect. While this was going on the railroad list recovered and then under the leadership of St. Paul, which rose to 169⅝, the whole list advanced. Erie was also very active and advanced to 33¾. Then Pennsylvania was taken up and advanced to 134½, the highest of the year. Following this Illinois Central became active and was advanced to 13½. A little later in the day New York Central was taken in hand and the price run up to 130⅛, the highest of the year. Quite a number of other standard stocks advanced to new high prices on this movement and the market again became buoyant.

The recovery in Steel preferred, which sold up to 75⅝ and closed at 75½ bid, did much to encourage the bulls in their position. The strong rally in Amalgamated Copper, which reached 61⅛, the highest of the year, also had considerable effect. A break to 24¼ in National Lead common followed the announcement that competing interests would continue to work in harmony. In the latter part of the session there were numerous quick reactions, followed by fair rallies, but the tone of the market became feverish. There was also a falling off in the volume of dealings. Final prices showed much irregularity. The largest gains in the railroad list were 2¾ per cent in New York Central, 1⅛ per cent in St. Paul, and fractional amounts in Illinois Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific Atchison and Erie. Union Pacific, the Gould issues and the cotton carriers closed fractionally lower.

The tone of the money market was a little firmer, and call loan rates were a shade higher. It was reported that $7,000,000 Australian gold would arrive at San Francisco on Monday for transfer to New York. Commodity markets were irregular. Wheat declined on the heavy primary receipts, amounting to 1,652,000 bushels, against 938,000 bushels for the corresponding day last year. There were no export clearances of wheat, but 29,400 barrels of flour and 195,000 bushels of corn were exported. Cotton recovered somewhat and closed firmer and slightly higher.

Crucible Steel preferred led the local stock market yesterday and on sales of nearly 1,500 shares advanced to 42, closing at 41½ bid. The common stock was steady and unchanged at 6¾ to 6⅞. It was reported that a small bull pool had been formed in Crucible preferred and that the price would be advanced before the holding of the annual meeting on the 19th inst. U. S. Steel common and preferred were inactive but closed slightly higher for the day. National Fire Proofing common and preferred were more active than for some days past, but the net result of the day's trading was to leave prices unchanged. Pittsburgh Coal preferred opened at 67½, sold off to 66½ and closed at 66¾ bid. Offerings of the stock are extremely light. There were no transactions in the common, which closed at 15¾ bid, 16 asked. Natural gas stocks were firmer, but closed nominally unchanged. Westinghouse stocks were dull and Electric closed ¼ lower. Air Brake was nominally quoted at 130 bid, 134½ asked.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

Bank exchanges were $7,155,073, an increase of $606,000.

Crucible preferred advanced to 42 and closed firm.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred declined from 67½ to 66½ and closed at 66¾ bid.

Philadelphia Company common advanced to 43⅜ bid. The preferred sold at 45.

Westinghouse Electric declined to 82½ and recovered to 82¾.

Harbison-Walker declared a dividend of 1 per cent on the preferred stock.

IN WALL STREET.

Market again active and feverish, prices closing irregular.

Sales foot up $1,354,000 shares stock and $4,760,000 bonds.

Steel preferred broke to 74, but rallied to 75⅝.

Amalgamated Copper advanced to 61⅛, the highest of the year.

St. Paul jumped 2 points to 169⅝ and closed at 167½.

Pennsylvania rose to 134½, the highest for more than a year.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

In explanation of the ease with which Crucible Steel preferred was advanced to 42 late in the day, it was reported that a little bull pool had been formed in the stock after it was found that there was not much of it pressing for sale. When Crucible preferred was on the dividend list, it sold well above a number of other minor iron and steel stocks, and when it suspended dividends it sold relatively lower than any other of its class. The developments in connection with Clairton affairs furnished the explanation for this weakness, but it is now argued that Crucible has rid itself of the Clairton burden, and that if other iron and steel stocks are advancing on prospects of better trade, Crucible should also advance, and that it is worth at least as much as Republic Iron and Steel preferred, which recently crossed 50. No details have been given out relative to the proposed bond issue for Crucible, and among at least some of the large stockholders there is a disposition to withhold support for the bond issues unless additional information is forthcoming as to its necessity.

There were no transactions in Pittsburgh Coal common yesterday and quotations were unchanged. The preferred stock after selling at 67½ declined to 66½, but closed at 66¾ bid. A broker stated yesterday that he had tried to borrow 100 shares of the preferred stock and was unsuccessful. Some houses which are carrying the stock say that under present conditions of the market they do not feel disposed to lend it.

There has been some buying of Manufacturers Light and Heat on the theory that this is the beginning of the season when there is a large increase in earnings; that early in the year when the stock was selling below 30 insiders probably bought a considerable amount for support, and will now be desirous of making a strong market on which to unload some of their surplus holdings.

The Harbison-Walker directors yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the preferred stock, payable October 20 to stock of record October 10. This is the same rate declared for the preceding quarter. The preferred stock closed yesterday at 51 bid.

The Goettman Company yesterday declared the usual quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent, payable October 10.

The rumor was revived yesterday of the probability of an increase in the Baltimore & Ohio dividend. A Philadelphia financier, who is a personal friend of President Murray, was quoted as saying: "From the assurances I have received there is not the slightest doubt that the next dividend on Baltimore & Ohio will be at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, or an advance of 1 per cent over the present rate."

The regular dividend declaration on Atchison was followed by the advance in that stock.

Philadelphia was a heavy buyer of Pennsylvania railroad on the advance. One Wall street commission house stated that there were rumors current of the probability of another issue of stock by Pennsylvania which would carry with it valuable rights. The Philadelphia News Bureau quoted a holder of the stock as saying: "You will see the difference very shortly between bull and bear times, between stockholders invited to take stock on a rising market and stockholders forced to take it on a falling market. The raising of the $100,000,000 of money from the Pennsylvania Railroad stockholders put the stock down to 110, not because of anything in relation to its intrinsic value, but because people did not like to buy stocks on receding valuations. Now the times have changed and the privilege of taking the next $100,000,000 of Pennsylvania shares will be regarded as very valuable. It should be remembered also that there are more shares and more shareholders to take it. The average share holdings of the Pennsylvania railroad today are 68 shares a shareholder. The recent and the forthcoming steady appreciation in Baltimore & Ohio, Norfolk & Western, Chesapeake & Ohio, Reading, etc., add enormously to Pennsylvania's value and with the corner turned you will see the difference between stock taking on rising values and stock taking on falling values. Pennsylvania now represents a settled trunk line situation, a settled anthracite coal situation, a settled railroad rate situation and a settled money investment situation."

The unexpected resignation of L. F. Loree as president of the Rock Island system had no serious effect upon the stock. The common closed ¼ per cent lower at 29 and the preferred 1 per cent lower at 72. Private dispatches from New York expressed the opinion that the incident would not have a seriously depressing effect upon the Rock Island issues. A London cable contained the official announcement that application had been made to list $68,885,000 of the common stock on the London stock exchange.

A New York dispatch says: In well-informed quarters it is stated that an advance in General Electric dividend to 10 per cent is more than a possibility. The company it is claimed, has now an unseen surplus of fully $20,000,000 in its property account, and by the end of its fiscal year it will have accumulated a cash surplus of $10,000,000 more. From orders already booked and work in prospect it is evident that 1905 will be a year of great activity. Inquiriers from railways for conversion work are more numerous than ever and orders already booked for this class of business are understood now to exceed 50 per cent of last year's entire output. Probably more than $15,000,000 of business will be done in turbine engines. This is also new work.

As throwing some light on the source of the increase in the demand for iron and steel products it may be stated that the building permits issued in Greater New York for the nine months of 1904 numbered 6,265, valued at $99,509,795, an increase of more than 2,000 in number and $17,000,000 in value compared with the same time last year.

The unprecedented export of copper has been remarked for many weeks, but it was the assigned cause for the strength of Amalgamated Copper.

The gross earnings of Missouri Pacific for the fourth week in September decreased $42,000. For the month increased $121,000.

The gross earnings of Texas & Pacific for the fourth week in September increased $21,663, and for the month increased $68,004.

The gross earnings of Southern Railway for the fourth week in September increased $99,970, and for the month increased $351,999.

Gross earnings of Hocking Valley increased $4,582 for the last week in September, but for the month decreased $26,100.

The gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the fourth week in September increased $23,000, and for the month increased $33,000.

Thearson & Hammill were sellers of 20,000 shares Steel preferred and Bogy & Hubbard were sellers of 10,000 shares St. Paul.

London was credited with purchases of 20,000 shares Southern Pacific at the opening.

United States 3s declined ¼ per cent on call in New York yesterday.

STOCKS WERE CHURNED IN LIVELY FASHION

Manipulative Work Was Open in Market, and Speculators Were Mixed.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says:

Any doubt expressed Tuesday night whether the present curious market had culminated in the wild outburst in St. Paul on that day, was speedily set at rest yesterday. The market broke in the early trading and moved irregularly during the day, but it was shown very early in the session that the manipulative party, among which some financial institutions must apparently be included, who are keeping the peculiar game in motion, had not as yet lost control of the situation.

Manipulation was open, but it was certainly effective. Stocks were churned about in lively fashion, and business was poorly distributed. So far as results were concerned, little headway was made, for prices were highly irregular. Speculative sentiment was very much mixed.

Of news developments there was little of importance bearing on the general situation. Railway traffic returns for the fourth week of September and for that month were somewhat mixed, but the distinctive southern roads showed up very well, showing for the most part the favorable influence of the cotton movement.

St. Paul, Union Pacific and Steel preferred were sold and declined, while Pennsylvania, New York Central and Southern Pacific were moved up, as though to sustain the market. For a time, however reaction gained the ascendency. The market steadied and the late recovery was effected under the buying of St. Paul, which, according to all accounts, was well taken on the decline. The closing was unsettled and irregular below the best prices, but generally above the lowest.

BOYS MADE CONFESSION.

Admitted Robbing Stores in Homestead, Munhall and Duquesne—Woman's Clever Detective Work.

Seven boys, none over 15, were arrested by the Homestead police yesterday morning and later held for the juvenile court, for robbery, by Justice J. Clyde Miller. The boys confessed to having robbed stores and dwellings in Homestead, Munhall and Duquesne, and it is thought that goods and money to the value of $1,000 was secured by them during the past three months. The boys are John Bollinger, aged 14; William Neil, aged 11; Norman Charlton, aged 11; John and Jesse Lillie, aged 12 and 9 respectively; Frank Rowser, aged 12, and Richard Stevens, aged 14.

The boys are sons of prominent Homestead families and their arrest is due to the detective work of Mrs. C. R. Posey, whose home was robbed some time ago. Mrs. Posey began an investigation soon after the robbery and her suspicions were soon directed to the boys arrested yesterday. She notified the police and when arrested several of the boys admitted committing the Posey robbery and told of having robbed the stores of Nebo Bros., Murphy's, Vallowe Bros. and other places in Homestead; Darsey and Boyd's in Munhall and stores in Duquesne.

MONEY MAY HAVE BELONGED TO MISSING ATTACHE

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—The French embassy here has received information that two Chinamen have been arrested at Chefoo while trying to exchange $2,000 in French and German notes, believed to have been stolen from Lieut. De [illegible]overville and Capt. Von Gilgenheim, [illegible]tively the French and German [illegible] attaches at Port Arthur, who have [illegible]usly disappeared.

Foreign Exchange.

[illegible] Trust quotes checks as follows: [illegible] Paris, 25.17.80; marks, [illegible] Austria, 20.31; Italian lire, [illegible] Dutch guilders, 40.20; roubles, [illegible].30; kronors (Scandinavia), [illegible] (dollars local currency), [illegible] (dollars local currency), [illegible]sos (U. S. currency), par.

THE MONEY MARKET.

The local money market is a little more active, but rates are unchanged at 5@6 per cent on call and time loans. Clearing house comparisons:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
Yesterday	$7,155,073 59	$1,310,540 47
Last week	6,244,013 70	1,045,102 51
Last year	6,549,222 80	1,115,637 30

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—There were considerable cash movements in the market today owing to the maturing and payment of $15,000,000 in treasury bills and the repayment of over $5,000,000 to the Bank of England, besides being consols settling day. Pressure was obviated, however, by the release of $35,000,000, mainly in government dividends. The abundance of money and the absence of bids tended to lower discounts, though the position of the continental exchanges and the keen bidding for gold in the open market more than counteracted this disposition. On the stock exchange business was quieter and trading scattered on profit-taking. Consols were firm. Home rails were rather easier on disappointing traffic returns. Americans opened irregular, moved generally to above parity, became active in sections, eased later and closed irregular. Japanese were flat on the prolonged defense of Port Arthur. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 95¾. Kaffirs were dull. Consols for money, 88 11-16; consols for account, 88⅞; money, 1@1¼ per cent; the rate of discount for short bills is 2 1-16@2⅛ per cent; the rate of discount for three months' bills is 2⅛@2¼ per cent.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Prices on the bourse today were firm throughout. Russian Imperial 4s were quoted at 93.80 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 505. The private rate of discount was 1⅞ per cent. Three per cent rentes, 97 francs 92½ centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 15 centimes for checks.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—On the boerse today quotations were maintained. Business was dull. Discount rates, short bills, 4¼ per cent; three months' bills, 3⅛ per cent.

Banks and the Treasury.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Total payment by government to New York banks for the day, $1,684,000. Payment by banks to government, $4,123,000. Balance on the day's transactions, $732,000 paid by banks to government. Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points. The world's visible supply statement showed an increase for the month of 774,094 bags. The present world's visible supply is 14,266,592 bags, or the heaviest on record. This showing has been pretty well discounted, but there seemed to be very little demand during the day's session and with Havre turning easier toward the close, prices here sagged off and were finally steady at a decline of 5@10 points. Sales were reported of 50,500 bags, including October at 6.65@6.70c; November at 6.80c; December at 6.85@6.95c; January at 6.95c; March at 7.15@7.20c; May at 7.25@7.40c; August at 7.65c, and September at 7.60@7.70c. LARGER ORDERS GOING ON BOOKS

Iron and Steel Buying Shows a Promising improvement in Character.

GENERAL STEEL TRADE NEWS

Evidences of the improvement, not only in sentiment and tone, but in actual business booked in the iron and steel trade have grown continuously stronger in the past two weeks. The improvement is now becoming visible in the increased output of furnaces and mills. Orders to resume are being sent to a considerable proportion of the plants which have been idle and more such orders are to be given in the next week or two. The buying shows a change in character which is full of promise. Instead of the hand-to-mouth transactions which have been common for a year or more the purchases of today are generally for a considerable period and contracts are being talked of by many consumers who apparently believe that there will be more difficulty in a few months in securing material than has been found for a year past.

In the pig iron market, prices are firmer. There has been one deal of importance closed early this week for Bessemer at $12 35, valley furnaces. A month ago it could have been obtained at from 60 cents to 75 cents cheaper. The regular quotations range between $12 00 and $12 25 now, with a prospect for an increased rate. No. 2 northern foundry is bringing $12 65 to $12 85, Pittsburgh, and No. 2 Southern $13 10 to $13 35, Pittsburgh, the freight rate being $4 35 as compared with $4 85 for northern foundry. Northern grey forge is worth from $12 00 to $12 25, Pittsburgh.

The sheet business is decidedly improved. The Monongahela plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company on the South Side, Pittsburgh, has been ordered into operation starting next Monday.

The Carnegie Steel Company has come in for orders for about 3,600 tons of steel as the result of the Pressed Steel Car Company receiving orders for 300 twin hopper coal cars from the Pennsylvania railroad. A similar order went to the Cambria Steel Company and more orders for locomotives and for coke cars are to be given. The Pennsylvania needs coal and coke cars, as the past month has shown. The trade in both lines has been hurt decidedly by a lack of sufficient cars.

The bar business continues very fair, with orders for larger amounts being received than had been the case heretofore. The structural demand is not heavy on account mainly of the season. The orders for spring delivery will not be expected much before January 1. At the same time there is some business going and within a day or two the Wabash is expected to contract for 4,000 tons for its new freight station at Fouth avenue and Ferry street.

The rumors of billet cuts which have been prevalent for over a week are believed to be entirely baseless. They have been denied flatly by B. F. Jones, president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, and others also have expressed their belief that the rumors were started for the purpose of securing concessions. The agreed price, $19 50, is being maintained faithfully, according to the best information obtainable.

The Hardware Market.

The hardware business shows a very great improvement in the last few days, the coming of cooler weather and the bringing of a demand for season goods doubtless having much to do with this improvement. Large orders insistent for immediate shipment are coming in for cold weather goods, showing that the trade is very much in need of supplies of this kind. These orders are bringing with them orders for builders' hardware, house furnishing goods, tools, paints and varnishes, guns and sporting goods and in general lines, so that orders being sent in by salesmen and the trade direct show a very good condition of affairs. A continued large business is being done in nails and wire, the demand for which is very heavy for this time of the year, the low prices doubtless being responsible for this condition. A rather noticeable increase is seen in the demand for cutlery and fancy goods, dealers doubtless looking toward getting their stocks in shape for the holidays. Prices generally are very firm, no recent changes being reported. The Bindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 40 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 a dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base, No. 26, $2 35 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights, a ton, $27 00; window glass, L. C. L., 90 and 15 per cent from list of October 1, 1903, on first three brackets; all brackets above, 90 and 5 per cent; Albion sewing machines, discount 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 60 and 10 per cent; Albion gas stoves, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 40 per cent; fire shovels and pokers, 40 and 10 per cent.

GROWING CONFIDENCE IS BEGINNING TO SHOW

General Business Situation in Iron Circles Indicates Increased Volume of Buying.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Iron Age will tomorrow say:

The growing confidence in the general business situation and in iron circles in particular is beginning to show itself in an increased volume of buying. It is not very much to brag of yet, but it looks clearly as though we were at last heading in the right direction.

The railroads are buying somewhat more freely. Some pretty good orders for rolling stock have been placed, among them one lot of 3,000 steel cars for the Erie road. In the aggregate the orders for steel rails in small lots figure up rather surprisingly well.

The lake shipbuilders have taken five additional vessels, making a total of nine for which the material, aggregating about 30,000 tons, has been placed. It is understood that the United States Steel Corporation contemplates placing an order for four or five large carriers at an early date.

The disposition both of sellers and of buyers is still to proceed very conservatively until the future has shaped itself. Thus, in staple lines, like in wire products, the leading interest will not sell beyond 60 days, and in other branches a similar attitude is maintained.

No individual large transactions are reported in any of the finished lines, but there is quite a good inquiry and a fairly large tonnage is being figured on.

Pig iron has gained somewhat in strength in nearly all the leading markets. It is reported that the stock carried by two of the southern furnace companies has passed into stronger hands, and, generally speaking, the attitude of makers in that section is firmer, with very little iron available at the minimum prices only recently quoted. In Pittsburgh one interest has taken about 10,000 tons of foundry and forge iron.

Generally speaking, founders are moving cautiously in their purchases and it is noted that while buying is light early in the month it swells in volume as the month proceeds, the business done being generally for prompt and early delivery. Inquiries for extended delivery are met with a demand for a premium over present prices and nearly in all cases lead to the withdrawal of the buyer. It is a waiting market, with the outlook apparently in favor of the seller.

What the effect of a full resumption on the part of hte southern furnaces will be is problematical. The companies are said to be gaining slowly in their struggle for an open shop with their miners.

The export movement is gaining in volume and is assuming a more cheerful aspect. The leading interest is shipping now at the rate of 125,000 tons per month, and is reported to have sold about two weeks since about 50,000 tons of sheet bars at prices which show an advance of $1 a ton over those realized on the old contracts.

HORSE RADISH MAKES APPEARANCE IN MARKET

Pungent Vegetable Brings Fancy Price Per Barrel—All Lines Holding Firm.

Horse rdish arrived in the local market yesterday. There is money in raising horse radish, but the farmers of this section of the country do not seem to recognize that fact. Nearly all the horse radish used in the Pittsburgh market comes from the neighborhood of St. Louis. They have a slight advantage over the Western Pennsylvania market there in being able to dig the roots during the entire winter. Severe freezing here frequently prevents this. The pungent vegetable sells at $6 50 to $7 a barrel now, although as much as $8 is frequently paid in the Pittsburgh markets. An immense quantity can be raised to the acre and there is no crop which gives greater returns, as it practically requires no other care than planting.

Watermelons are out of the market and the big fruit would look like a curio now. The lima bean market is good and the local dealers are depending entirely on shipped stuff from Maryland and other distant points.

The egg market is unsettled in the east, due to heavy supplies of held fresh stock being dumped on the market. Here it continues firm and the new crop of eggs is not expected in for a week or two yet. Top extras butter holds firm. More than half the receipts are defective in flavor. This is due to frosted pastures. The advance in cheese last week is well maintained and there is a most apparent shortage on the market.

Receipts of fruit and produce yesterday were extremely light. The following was reported from the several railroad yards: Apples, 1 car, making 40; canteloupes, 1 car, making 19; peaches, 4 cars, making 29; potatoes, 5 cars, making 40.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts of hay, grain and feed yesterday at the various railroad yards were: Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car oats, 2 cars hay; Baltimore & Ohio, 6 cars hay, 2 cars oats; Pennsylvania lines, 9 cars feed, 7 cars corn, 27 cars oats, 34 cars hay, 2 cars straw, 2 cars rye, 1 car barley meal, 3 cars oats and corn.

Shelled corn has gained and there is considerable strengthening owing to good demand and in sympathy with western markets. Ear corn is a little slow and the supply has no difficulty in meeting the demands. Oats show some improvement as receipts are moderate and the demand about equal to the supply. Mill feed is coming in freely, but the market holds firm on good demand. Hay and straw are both holding firm, although receipts are heavy. The best grades, however, are in demand and poor grades are not much called for.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

By the opening of a large body of smelting grade ore on the Silver Wave claim, belonging to the Marquette company, and on the extreme western slope of Beacon hill, not only has another shipper been added to the already large list of mines, but the producing area of the Cripple Creek gold camp has been extended another half-mile in that particular direction.

Development work is being pushed on the Mariposa property on Gold hill, and during the course of the work shipments of ore are being made that help materially to pay the expenses.

The September output of the Cripple Creek mines amounted to $2,041,000. To obtain that amount of gold it was necessary to crush 60,350 tons of ore. The amount would have been larger but for the fact that the Telluride mill was closed down for half of the month, and the Sioux Falls cyanide plant was not in operation at all.

The great Jumbo vein continues to be the marvel of Goldfield, according to Reno advices and the Bowes-Kernick lease is still the star producer, 116 tons being shipped last week of which 26 tons were valued at $86,000 and 20 tons at $50,000, the remainder low-grade stuff, running from $250 to $1,600 a ton. There are still about 330 tons sacked on the dump, as with two hoists going teams cannot be obtained to cope with the output.

Pabst brewery people of Milwaukee, under the incorporated name of the Modern Investment Securities Company, have outlined an extensive line of exploitations upon the Blackbird, Forest Queen and Surprise mines at Sunshine, Colorado. Richard Skews is in charge of their operation as general manager, as well as of their interests at Tonopah, Nev.

The Copper Queen properties at Bisbee, Ariz., are now working the largest force of men in their history.

The September copper output of the Tri-Mountain Company in Michigan was 1,394,000 pounds, an increase of 219,905 pounds, compared with the same month last year.

Dividends from Utah mines in September aggregated $282,500. None of the big copper mines is in the list.

J. B. Cunningham has filed suit at Cripple Creek against the Par Value Gold Mining Company, claiming $413 14, alleged to be due for supplies.

The Congress mine in Arizona will show a much lessened production this year. Largely owing to the drought only a part of the mill capacity has been in use.

The fourth dividend this year of $10,000 to the holders of stock in the Creede United Mines Company of Creede, Col., has been declared.

The Massachusetts Company of which W. C. Carpenter, mayor of Torrington, Mass., is president, is unwatering the Santa Rita mine, near Nieves, Zacatecas, Mex.

The manager of the Climax Gold Company's mill near Prescott, Ariz., lately stopped the mill to reduce the drop of the stamps, which somehow, had not been actly properly. The millman found that the stamps had shod themselves with gold, which was adhering to the dies in flattened sheets of considerable weight.

The Sandstorm lease at Goldfield, Nev., brings forth another sensational strike. In an open cut 30 feet west of the older workings a juncture of two cross veins was found. At this point an ore shoot 12 to 14 inches wide has been exposed that carries phenomenal values. Repeated pannings have been made that indicate values ranging from $20,000 to $50,000 a ton.

What gives promise of proving one of the best strikes ever made on Godiva mountain, Tintic, Utah, is now being developed in the May Day Company's property. A drift from the bottom of a 100-foot winze below the 300-foot level under the tunnel has been sent for 60 feet through a body of ore, the thickness of which has not been determined. A few days ago the first car of ore from this drift was marketed and it netted the company close to $1,000.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The London tin market was again higher, with spot quoted at £129 5s and futures at £129. Locally, the advancing tendency of the market appears to be attracting a little better demand and the tone is firm, with spot quoted at $28 25@28 50. Copper was also higher abroad, closing at £58 17s 6d for spot and £58 18s 9d for futures, but showed no material change in the local market, where Lake Superior is quoted at $12 87½@13 00; electrolytic at $12 75@12 87½, and casting at $12 62½@12 75. Lead was unchanged in both markets, closing at $4 20@4 30 in New York and at £11 18s 9d in the London market. Spelter was advanced to £22 15s in London, but was unchanged in the local market at $5 10@5 20. Iron closed at 50s 6d in Glasgow and at 43s 6d in Middlesboro. Locally, iron was steady but without quotable change. No. 1 foundry northern is held at $13 75@14 25; No. 2 foundry northern at $13 25@13 50; No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern, soft, at $13 50@13 75.

PRICE OF WHEAT GOES STILL LOWER

Main Cause Is the Constantly Increasing Movement of Cereal From Farms.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Constantly increasing movement of wheat from farms was the main cause of 1⅛c decline in speculative prices here today. Corn and oats are both off a shade. Provisions are down 2½ to 15c.

Continuance of a liberal movement in the northwest and lower prices in foreign grain markets gave wheat here an easier tone at the start. December was unchanged to ⅛c lower at $1 12⅜@1 12½, while May was unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower at $1 12⅜@1 12½ to $1 12⅝. A prominent commission house was a heavy seller of the December option and started active selling by the pit crowd. A lot of December and May wheat was offered for sale by small holders. Demand not being sufficient to absorb offerings, prices declined uninterruptedly. Numerous stop loss orders came out, adding to the weakness. Announcement of a big increase in primary receipts was an influential bear factor late in the day. The low point on December for the session was reached at $1 10⅝. May, meantime, sold off to $1 10¾. During the last few minutes of trading, some recovery was made on buying by shorts, but the market closed weak with December at $1 11⅜. May closed at $1 11⅛@1 11¼. Clearances of wheat and flour were aqual to 132,400 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,652,300 bushels compared with 936,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 1,108 cars against 1,062 cars last week and 547 cars a year ago.

Small receipts and an official forecast of a cold wave tonight, held corn prices firm early in the day, notwithstanding the weakness of wheat. Later in the session sentiment became somewhat easier as a result of moderate selling due to the break in wheat. The Iowa crop bulletin also exerted a bearish influence, the claim being made that fully 90 per cent of the crop of that state is now safe from damage by frost. December opened ⅛@¼c higher at 51¼@51⅜c, sold between 50⅞c and 51⅜@51½c and closed at 51@51⅛c. Local receipts were 126 cars with 4 of contract grade.

The oats market showed a tendency to follow the course of corn. Trading was extremely light, the prospect of a still further increase in stocks being a check to outside business. December opened a shade higher at 31⅜c, ranged between 31¼c and 31½c, and closed at 31¼c. Local receipts were 147 cars.

Provisions were weak as a result of the selling out of a large line of January lard by a local trader. The weakness of wheat was an additional bear factor. Buying by shorts was the only support of the market. At the close January pork was down 12½@16c at $13 12½. Lard was off 2½c at $7 52½. Ribs were 7½c lower at $6 90. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 92 cars; corns, 119 cars; oats, 192 cars; hogs, 16,000 head.

News from Oil Fields Is Uniformly Discouraging

In the Richwood Run district, Wetzel county, the Philadelphia company has drilled its second test on the J. O. Kearns farm through the Gordon and fourth sands and has a duster. On Churchs Run, near Belton, the Philadelphia company has drilled its No. 3 on the Sarah Anderson farm through the fourth sand and will not have better than a 12 or 15-barrel pumper. In the same district, the Delmar Oil Company has drilled its test on the Henry Himilrick farm through all sands and has a duster.

On the east side of the Folsom district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its No. 6 on the P. Starkey farm and after shooting will have a 10-barrel pumper in the Gordon. The same company has drilled its No. 5 on the Jesse Ashcraft farm into the Gordon and has no show of oil. The No. 3 on the John Stout farm has been drilled 15 feet into the Gordon and is not showing any oil or gas. The No. 7 on the Omer E. Hall farm is 10 feet in the stray sand and has developed no oil or gas. In the Fish Creek district, Marshall county, the South Penn has given its No. 6 on the W. H. Dobbs farm a shot and the well made a good flow. It shows for a 15 or 20-barrel pumper in the Gordon.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 1 on the T. and J. Williams farm through the Gordon and the hole has filled up 100 feet with fluid. It will be given a shot. In the same district the No. 3 on the Davisson-Smith farm has been drilled into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 1,500 feet with fluid. It will make a small producer.

In the Yellow Creek district, Calhoun county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 4 on the H. I. Jackson farm through the Keener and Big Injun and found both barren. It is now drilling to the Berea grit.

In the Hebron district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its No. 50 on the A. Broadwater farm through the Cow Run sand and will not have better than a 2 or 3-barrel pumper.

On the Ohio side in the Lewisville district, Monroe county, the Pure Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the J. M. Smith farm and has a 5-barrel pumper in the Keener sand. In the Wolf Creek district, Washington county, the Muskingum Oil Company has completed its No. 19 on the Alex Martin farm and has a show for a 20-barrel producer. In the same district, A. J. Lockard & Co.'s No. 27 on the John Sheets farm has been drilled through the sand and is good for 50 barrels a day. A. Girard & Co. have completed their No. 18 on the Otis Cody farm and have a duster. The Pure Oil Producing Company has completed its No. 22 on the Frank Ford farm and has a small pumper not good for more than 5 barrels a day. Near Scottown, in the same county, the McArthur Oil Company has completed No. 4 on the Frank Patton farm and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper in the Big Injun. South of Burgettstown, Washington county, Pa., R. G. Gillespie has completed his No. 11 on the John Scott farm and has a show for a very light pumper.

A Beautiful Chiffonier

This is a perfectly constructed chiffonier. The greatest care was exercised in both the design and workmanship. The drawers work in and out as smoothly and noiselessly as it it is possible for them to do—a consideration in the purchase of a chiffonier that is of utmost importance.

You get but a faint conception of its artistic outline from the above illustration. As you will observe, however, it is a very handsome chiffonier—daintily carved where such ornamentation is allowable—and the exquisite finish compels the belief in its superiority.

Comes in mahogany, golden oak, birch and maple; dimensions of the top, 40x23 inches; fine plate mirror 30x22 inches.

The variety of bedroom furniture in this stock is almost unlimited. Special pains were taken in selecting the furniture for this department, because people are generally becoming more particular about their bedroom furniture.

As this is the largest furniture house in the world you will have no difficulty in finding here exactly what you wish.

And prices are always moderate at

GOOD SALE ON MARKET STREET

North American Savings Company Purchases Property at No. 404 for $60,000.

WILL BUILD FINE HOUSES

The North American Savings Company has purchased from P. D. Nicols the property at 404 Market street for $60,000. The property is generally known as the Shinn holdings and was bought by Mr. Nicols from the Shinn heirs some three months ago. The sale to the bank has just been closed and puts the North American in possession of a very choice corner large enough for a high block. The Shinn lot measures 16x72 feet, making the rate of sale $3,750 a front foot, or $52 09 a square foot. The bank now owns a lot 52.6x72.1 feet at the east corner of Market street and Fourth avenue. As the W. M. Laird Company has a lease until next April on the Shinn lot no changes will be made this year. No plans for a new building have been contemplated by the bank officials as the banking rooms in the old building at the corner were remodeled last year at considerable expense, making them commodious and convenient. The bank's purchase, however, assures a fine block for the corner within a few years and will add much to the prospective value of nearby holdings.

Samuel D. Wilson has sold to Mary M. Ewing a property 50x141 feet on the south side of Dalzell avenue, near Dallas avenue, Twenty-second ward, for $14,750. The lot is improved with a modern brick house.

More Houses for Squirrel Hill.

Five more good residences are assured for the Squirrel Hill district. The contract for four of them was awarded yesterday to William B. Bennett through the Realty corporation. Two of the houses will be built by Robert P. Lougeay, Jr., and two by William A. Lougeay. The houses will be built on lots 50x175 feet facing in Beacon street, between Murray and Shady avenues. They will be of the reception hall type containing 11 rooms each, and will cost about $14,000 each. Work will be started at once. Dr. Clement R. Jones recently finished two fine houses at Beacon street and Murray avenue, and Mrs. Sarah J. Lingo is now building two houses in Darlington road to cost $12,000 each.

A cluster of fine residences are going up in Forbes street and back on the hill there is more building in progress than for three years, all proving that the beautiful sites there are coming into favor with well-to-do buyers. The latest prospect announced for the district is an $18,000 residence to be built by William McCutcheon, the real estate broker, in Forbes street, near Shady avenue.

May Build Storage Plant.

A big storage plant is likely to be built on the First ward school site in Short street according to the statement of F. W. Mueller, president of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, who bought the property for $100,000, as published exclusively in The Gazette yesterday. "The purchase was not made for either the Pennsylvania or the Wabash railroad," said Mr. Mueller, "and the brewing company has nothing to do with it. I took the property for an investment and when possession is given next July it may be used for a storage plant."

The Union Storage Company, whose plant adjoins the school yard, has tried to buy the property several times for an addition to its plant. At the price which Mr. Mueller paid for the lot it brought $6 66 a square foot. A cash payment of $25,000 will be made at once and the balance will be paid in three years, the debt to draw four per cent interest.

RAILROAD "GHOST" PLEADED GUILTY

Bennett's Mania for Starting Engines, Then Leaving Them, Makes Trouble.

SISTERS WANT NEW EXECUTOR

Frank Bennett, who is known as the "ghost" of the Pennsylvania railroad roundhouses at Twenty-eighth street, pleaded guilty in criminal court yesterday to tampering with the company's property and was sent to the workhouse for 60 days. The case shows Bennett had developed a mania for running engines, and his ultimate capture probably prevented a big wreck and loss of life. Bennett was arrested at the roundhouse on September 12, while walking around in the guise of an engineer, by Railroad Detective Fred Goebert, Jr. For a long time previous to the arrest, engines standing on pits and side tracks would suddenly begin to move and would go until they were boarded by an employe and stopped. The engines moving so often with apparently no one near them, caused the hostlers around the yards to attribute the trouble to a "ghost." Finally, when several wrecks were narrowly averted and much property saved by the watchfulness of the roundhouse men, the officials began to suspect someone and placed Goebert to capture the "spook." After a few days' watch, during which time several engines started out on their regular "ghost trips," the detective captured Bennett.

The prisoner admitted he had a waekness for the iron horse and said the only way he could satisfy his desire to run them, was to dress as an engineer and walk up to the engines. He would walk around the wheels and valves for a short time and then climb into the cab and open the throttle. When the engine began to gain some headway, he would jump off.

Thomas McCabe pleaded guilty to assaulting Earl Freutch, 10 years old. He was sent to the penitentiary for five years.

Mrs. Emma I. Rose and Mrs. Annie L. Moore, daughters of the late Mrs. Margaret C. Loughrey, filed a petition in orphans court asking that their brothers, Thomas R. and James D. Loughrey be removed as executors of the estates of Mrs. Loughrey and Joseph Loughrey. The petition states Thomas Loughrey has been in almost absolute control of the estates, valued at about $1,000,000, and has mismanaged them.

It is alleged he lost large amounts in stock speculation and has refused to consult with the petitioners. It is alleged no account has been filed. A number of transactions are cited, in which it is alleged the estate has suffered. The court granted the citation, returnable October 15.

Judge Frazer filed an opinion in the equity court of Agnes McLaughlin and others against William Crookston, an action to prevent waste on the part of a life tenant, and to secure the appointment of a receiver. Agnes Crookston died June 4, 1903, leaving by her will her property to her children, the plaintiffs. The defendant, the husband and father, was not mentioned, but took possession alleging title by courtesy and has since collected the rents which amount to about $4,000 annually. It was alleged he was entitled to nothing, as he had abandoned his wife. The court gives the defendant 60 days in which to make the necessary repairs, and if he fails, a receiver will be appointed. Ejectment proceedings have been begun against the father.

Ella Walsh has sued the city of Allegheny for $50,000 damages, alleging she sustained injuries to her spine and limbs by falling in a washout, owing to a poorly-constructed walk in Oswego street. She was compelled to drag herself home on her hands and knees.

In the United States circuit court answers were filed by the Canegie Steel Company to nine suits brought against the company by Henry Aiken. The plaintiff alleged the Carnegie Steel Company was using nine different patents on the rolls in the mills of which he was the patentee, and had patents on the inventions. He asked for an injunction and an accounting. The defendant, in the answers, claims to have been using the patents complained against for the past 12 years, and claims they are not the patents Aiken claims them to be.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by Arthur J. Daniels, a merchant, of Butler. He gives his liabilities as $1,595 50, with assets of $1,667 35.

The following executions were issued: The Duquesne Trust Company vs. Jacob P. Nill, $511; Alva B. Chapman vs. Herman Hagerman, 403 30; William C. Humphreys vs. same, $1963 25.

A libel in divorce was filed yesterday by Mary Gynn against Timothy F. Gynn, alleging desertion and cruelty.

CECIL ALLEY WIDENING.

Property Owners Promise to Bear Good Portion of Expense—Bigelow to Get Signatures.

Director Bigelow said yesterday he would soon undertake to widen Cecil alley, between Liberty and Penn avenues, to a width of 50 feet. It is now 20 feet wide. The director said owners of property abutting Cecil alley and adjacent to it have promised to bear a portion of the expense. These include the Joseph Horne Company, the Methodist Episcopal Book Concern, T. C. Jenkins and Henry Phipps.

The director also said he hoped to induce the Pittsburgh Railways Company to give a part of its property on the north side of the alley free for the widening. He said the improvement would cost the city less than $50,000. The first thing he will do will be to get the city solicitor to draw up an agreement for the property owners to sign, and when their signatures are secured an ordinance for the widening will be presented to councils.

Starkey Released on $6,000 Bail.

Nelson C. Starkey, the Sunday observance detective under arrest charged with firing the shot that killed Harry D. Knox in Allegheny on the night of August 30, was yesterday morning released on $6,000 bail. His bondsmen were: Thomas P. Hershberger, C. A. Edsell, L. T. Yoder and S. J. Fisher, all well-known business men, and P. T. Gamble, agent for the Allegheny County Sabbath association.

P. R. R. EXECUTIVE OFFICIALS ON TOUR OF INSPECTION

A handsomely appointed special train of seven cars will arrive in Pittsburgh this afternoon, the party consisting of a large number of officials of the Pennsylvania railroad. The train arrived at Altoona last evening, where the large shops were inspected. This morning they will inspect the Gallitzin tunnel which is being fitted up with an electric fan apparatus for the purpose of ventilating the tunnel. During the summer months, the tunnel being so long, the trainmen almost become exhausted from the heat and smoke which failed to find its exit. Holes have been drilled from the surface into the tunnel and the fans will compel the smoke to rise through the holes.

Local officials left yesterday afternoon to meet the special train. In the party were Superintendent S. C. Long of the Pittsburgh division, Superintendent R. T. Morrow of the West Penn, Superintendent A. G. Mitchell of the Monongahela division, Superintendent C. T. Dabney of the B. & A. V. division; Assistant Engineer G. W. Snyder and Passenger Trainmaster D. E. Stuart.

The party will first inspect the Brilliant cutoff and the big works at Scully. The Brilliant cutoff is almost ready for service and if it receives the approval of President Cassatt it will be put into service immediately.

The party from the east consists of President A. J. Cassatt, Directors A. M. Fox, N. P. Shortridge, C. A. Griscom, Amos R. Little, William H. Barnes, George Wood, C. S. Patterson, E. B. Morris, Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, Lincoln Godfrey and Rudulph Ellis; Vice Presidents John P. Green, Charles E. Pugh, S. M. Provost, Samuel Rea and Henry Tatnall; Vice Presidents of Lines West of Pittsburgh James McCrea, Joseph Wood and J. J. Turner; Assistant to the President W. A. Patton, General Counsel G. V. Massey, Chief of Motive Power Theodore N. Ely, Chief Engineer W. R. Brown, Real Estate Agent B. W. Carskadden, General Manager W. W. Atterbury, Assistant to the Second Vice President J. B. Hutchinson and Assistant Secretary K. S. Green.

The party is in charge of Secretary Lewis Neilson.

Changes on the W. & L. E.

Through the resignation of J. H. Dowland, auditor of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, with headquarters in Cleveland, a complete line of promotions has been made on that road. W. M. Bonar, formerly freight and ticket agent, has been promoted to acting auditor. F. B. Brown, formerly traveling auditor, has been appointed freight and ticket agent accountant. A. W. Mayne, formerly agent at Kent, O., has been appointed traveling auditor. P. H. Lawrence, formerly cashier in the office at Wheeling, succeeds Mr. Mayne. Reymen Miles, formerly ticket clerk at Wheeling, has been appointed successor to Mr. Lawrence. The place of Mr. Miles has not been filled.

Passengers Selecting Terminal Station.

The conductors on the West Penn railroad have been given slips on which is printed the words "Union station" and "Federal street station." As the conductor collects the fares the passengers will be asked which station they prefer for the terminal of the road. Should the majority favor the Union station the trains will be run over the Brilliant cutoff. The change, if made, will take place November 27, when the new schedule goes into effect.

Signal System Completed.

The block signal system is now in operation on the Pennsylvania between Ft. Wayne and Chicago and 35 new operators have been employed. The double tracking of the line has been completed between Larwill and Chicago, a distance of 122 miles. The entire division from Chicago to Crestline will be double-tracked by November 15.

Receiving Rolling Stock.

The Lake Shore will soon receive from the Brooks locomotive works the new engines to be used to pull the fast passenger trains. These engines are designed along the line of the prairie type engines, which have been giving satisfaction on the road. The weight on the drivers is exceptionally great, and yet they are geared for speed. The new engines will be larger than any now in use. The engines now in service have been making splendid records with the Twentieth Century limited, but more is expected of the new locomotives.

Railroad Notes.

The P. & L. E. is increasing its forces, both clerical and laborers.

There promises to be several miles of railroad built in western Canada within the next few years.

During the month of September the Bessemer & Lake Erie hauled 24,833 tons each week, which is the highest record in the history of the road.

Work is being rushed on the B. & O. cutoff between Akron and Youngstown in order to have it turned over to the operating department before the winter weather arrives.

OFFICIAL—ALLEGHENY.

(No. 296.)

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing and directing the mayor and the director of the department of public works to make a contract with C. F. Knapp for the repair and remodeling of the electric light plant situate on Braddock street, Second ward, for the price of $33,472 00, and providing for the payment of the cost thereof.

Whereas, By an ordinance of the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny entitled "An ordinance authorizing and ordering the repair and remodeling of the electric light plant situate on Braddock street, Second ward, which was damaged by fire Saturday, June 18, 1904; instructing the mayor and the director of the department of public works to advertise for proposals and award the contract therefor, and providing for the payment of the cost thereof," passed finally in councils July 21, 1904, and approved by the mayor July 25, 1904, the repair and remodeling of the electric light plant situate on Braddock street, Second ward, was authorized and ordered, and the mayor and the director of the department of public works were instructed to advertise for proposals and award the contract therefor; and,

Whereas, Pursuant to said ordinance the mayor and said director duly advertised for proposals, and opened same publicly in accordance with said advertisement on the 8th day of August, 1904; and,

Whereas, The lowest bid received amounts to the sum of $33,472 00, which was the bid of C. F. Knapp, and which is $2,222 00 in excess of the amount of the estimate furnished to councils prior to the passage of said ordinance; and,

Whereas, It has been found that there was a mistake in the estimate furnished to councils and that the said estimate was too low, and the director of the department of public works has furnished councils with a proper estimate, which amounts to the sum of $33,472 00; and,

Whereas, The bid of C. F. Knapp for doing said work for the price of $33,472 00 is not in excess of the estimate now furnished by the director of the department of public works, and is the lowest bid received, and is a fair and reasonable price for said work; therefore

Section 1. Be it ordained and enactd by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the mayor and the director of the department of public works are hereby authorized and directed to accept the said bid of C. F. Knapp and award the contract for the repair and remodeling of the electric light plant situate in Braddock street, Second ward, in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor on file in the office of the director of the department of public works, to C. F. Knapp for the price or sum of $33,472 00.

The cost and expense thereof to be paid out of Item No. 6, Appropriation No. 14, bureau of public lighting, department of public works.

Section 2. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Ordained and enacted into a law in councils this 30th day of September, A. D. 1904.

AN ORDINANCE—Amending section 6 of an ordinance entitled "An ordinance authorizing and directing the proper officers in the name and on behalf of the city of Allegheny, to make, execute and deliver leases of the wharf and fixing the terms and conditions thereof," approved the 21st day of March, A. D. 1904; by fixing the rate of wharfage on unimproved portion of the wharf.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That section 6 of an ordinance entitled, "An ordinance authorizing and directing the proper officers in the name and on behalf of the city of Allegheny, to make, execute and deliver leases of the wharf and fixing the terms and conditions thereof," approved the 21st day of March, A. D. 1904, which reads as follows:

Sec. 6. The annual rental of said wharf shall be at the rate of $2.50 per foot front, for the improved portion of the wharf, between Chestnut street and Darragh street, on the Allegheny river, between Greenwood street and Locust street on the Ohio river, payable quarterly in advance on the first days of January, April, July and October. The director of the department of public works shall collect said rents and give receipts therefor, and shall have general supervision over the wharf. He shall be held responsible for all rents remaining unpaid for fifteen days after they become due; unless the director shall have in the meantime placed the same in the hands of the controller for collection. All lessees who shall fail to pay their rent within thirty days from the time the same becomes due, shall at the option of the city be deemed to have forfeited their leases; be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:
